Two of Three Planes End Journey Without Stop

Port Darwin, Australia — (7) — Nine young British airmen captured the world's non-stop distance record for the royal air force today after a flight across Indian jungles and southern seas from Ismailia, Egypt.

Two of the three Vickers Wellesley bombers in which they flew roared into Port Darwin shortly after noon, having covered approximately 7,160 miles in a few minutes over 48 hours at an average speed of 149 miles an hour.

The third landed at Kupang, Timor island, Dutch East Indies, about 6,600 miles from Ismailia, due to a fuel shortage. It refueled and took off immediately for Port Darwin.

All three eclipsed the previous record set by soviet fliers who flew 6,306 miles from Moscow to San Jacinto, Calif., by way of the North pole in July, 1937.

And the soviet flight took longer—62 hours and 17 minutes.

The nine-ton bombers equalled the record when they flashed across the southern tip of the Celebes islands at 6 a. m. Port Darwin time (2:30 p. m. Sunday, C. S. T.).

Other Planes Arrive
Seven hours and 32 minutes later, Squadron Leader R. Kellett, pilot of the No. 1 plane and commander of the flight, and his two companions, Flight Lieutenant R. T. Gething and Pilot Officer M. L. Gaine, landed at Port Darwin.

The second plane, manned by Flight Lieutenants A. N. Combe and E. K. Burnett and Sergeant H. B. Gray, landed three minutes later.

The third arrived at 5:10 p. m. (1:40 a. m., C. S. T.).

A large crowd, which had awaited their arrival at the airport, cheered when the grinning fliers climbed from their planes.

The airmen were sunburned and their eyes bloodshot, but they were little affected otherwise by their two days and two nights in the air over deserts, mountains and seas.

"It was a good trip," Kellett said. "We never felt better."

It was estimated the flight cost more than $1,000,000.

Begin Picking Jury

Sculptor Accused of Murdering Frank Byrnes In Gedeon Flat

New York — (7) — Robert Irwin, 30-year-old sculptor looking more like a college freshman charged with mischievously breaking windows then a man accused of triple murder, went on trial today before General Sessions Judge James G. Wallace.

Selection of a jury from a special panel of 150 was expected to take several days.

Pale and sunken-cheeked after 16 months in Tombs prison, Irwin nonetheless was a picture of nonchalance as he strode, unmanacled, into the court.

Forty policemen were on duty at the county courthouse in Foley square, to which the trial was moved because of the noise in riveting hammers outside the old criminal courts building.

Irwin is being tried on a charge of murder in the slaying of Frank Byrnes, whom the state accuses Irwin of stabbing to death in the early hours of Easter, 1937, after strangling Veronica Gedeon, beautiful photographer's model, and her mother.

The young sculptor, former asylum inmate and evangelist, is accused of killing Byrnes, a lodger in the Gedeon's east side flat on Beekman hill, to cover up the other crimes.

Wisconsin Jaces File Incorporation Papers

Oshkosh — (7) — Articles of incorporation of the Wisconsin Junior Chamber of Commerce were signed yesterday as delegates from 16 of the 23 state chapters attended the first midseason convention. A meeting in early February was called for election of corporation officers.

The convention also decided that all state chapters, now called either "association" or "chamber," hereafter conform in use of "chamber."

Ramon E. Millard of LaCrosse, state president, was chairman of the two-day session.

Dates of the state convention, the Wausau hosts announced, would be May 19-20-21.

Marcus (Mike) Steinhauer, First ward alderman and active in civic affairs, died yesterday morning in Appleton. Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning in the Masonic temple.

CIO Wins Right To Hold Meetings In Jersey City

Authorized to Convene on Streets as Long as Others May Do So

Newark, N. J. — (7) — Federal Judge William Clark—putting into effect his decision upholding the right of the CIO and allied organizations to function in Jersey City—signed an injunction today granting them the privilege of holding meetings in the streets as long as others are allowed to do so.

The injunction—final of a 10-month-old suit against Mayor Frank Hague and fellow officials arising out of Hague's self-styled "war on reds and radicals" and the jailing of 13 CIO organizers in what he called an "invasion"—did not, however, establish the absolute right of any one to use the public streets for meetings.

It forbade the state Democratic leader and his co-defendants from refusing to grant the plaintiffs permits for meetings in the streets and other public places "unless and until the defendants... adopt and enforce the deliberate policy of forbidding meetings of any kind on any of the public streets."

"No 'Deportation'"
The CIO, American Civil Liberties union and co-plaintiffs were granted the right to use the public parks for meetings in Judge Clark's 15,000-word decision of Oct. 27, which also gave them freedom from "deportation" by the police and allowed them the right to distribute leaflets on the streets and carry placards. These rulings were given legal effect in the injunction.

The injunctive clause allowing the plaintiffs to hold street meetings as long as the city's policy was to allow others to do so was suggested to Judge Clark on Nov. 2 when he heard lawyers for both sides argue on what should be put into the formal injunction binding the findings in his decision.

Can't Stop Meetings
The injunction restrained Mayor Hague, Public Safety Director Daniel Casey, Police Chief Harry Walsh and the city commission "from placing any previous restraint upon or in any other manner whatsoever... interfering with the plaintiffs... in respect to the holding of meetings or assemblies in the open air and in parks dedicated for the purposes of the general recreation of the public."

Resume Operations At Connor Company

Laona, Wis. — (7) — Operations were resumed at the Connor Lumber and Lumber company today following settlement of a strike begun Oct. 14 by approximately 300 members of the A. F. of L. Carpenters and Joiners union.

The national labor relations board and the company management announced a stipulation had been signed, restoring 80 CIO workers to their jobs, voiding a contract with the A. F. of L., and withdrawing recognition of the A. F. of L. as sole bargaining representative of the workers.

The stipulation also promised peaceful relations between the A. F. of L. and CIO unions and the company in the future.

M. Steinhauer Is Dead After Brief Illness

First Ward Alderman
Since 1924 Succumbs Sunday

FUNERAL TUESDAY

Was District Commander Of Spanish War
Veterans

Marcus (Mike) Steinhauer, 62, First ward alderman since 1924 and one of the city's best known men, died at 10:15 yesterday morning in Appleton of acute appendicitis and complications. He had been ill since Thursday.

Mr. Steinhauer, who lived at 714 N. Bateman street, was active in both city and civic affairs. Born in Germany May 13, 1876, he lived in Appleton the last 38 years.

Besides holding the alderman's post from his ward for 14 years, he was district commander of the United Spanish American War veterans, a trustee of the Appleton Trades and Labor council, and sergeant drum master of the 120th Field Artillery band from 1920 to 1935.

He held memberships in the Masonic Lodge, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Elks club, Y. M. C. A., and an honorary standing in the American Federation of Musicians. He attended and was a member of Zion Temple, Mr. Steinhauer's transfer company.

Worked for Safety
Mr. Steinhauer was chairman of the traffic committee of the city council and was developing a new safety program for Appleton at the time of his death. He was the chief advocate of a safety bicycle program and it was through his work that the safety bicycle film to be pre-viewed before the board of education and city council tomorrow night was made possible.

Survivors are the widow; four daughters, Adele, Florence, Lucille, and Carol; Appleton; one son, Irvin, Appleton; two brothers, David, New Orleans, and Max, Seattle.

The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Masonic Temple, with Rabbi Samuel Hirschberg of Milwaukee in charge. Burial will be in Zion cemetery. The United Spanish American War Veterans will hold military rites.

The body will be at the Brett-Schneider Funeral home from 7 o'clock to 9 o'clock this evening. It will be taken to the Masonic Temple at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Secretary Perkins Says
Decided Advances
Made in U. S.

Toronto — (Canadian Press) — Secretary Perkins said today that business had taken a decided turn for the better in the United States and indications pointed to a continued upswing.

The United States secretary of labor, addressing the Women's Canadian club of Toronto, cited employment gains of more than 640,000 in private industry from June to September of this year and the awarding of $150,000,000 in PWA contracts.

The real benefits of legislation enacted under the New Deal, she said, "are not confined to one group of our economic order but are and will be shared in by management, farmers and investors through an increased stability of our social and economic life."

Ask Federal Probe in Death of Odanah Man

Odanah, Wis. — (7) — Federal authorities were asked to investigate the death of Frank Montreuil, Jr., 51-year-old Chippewa Indian, who was found lying on his bed in blood-stained clothing early today.

Sheriff Lyle Freeman and Coroner George Wartman said an investigation showed Montreuil received a $70 check from the government three days ago but that only $25 was found in his clothing.

The authorities said Montreuil had left an Odanah tavern shortly after midnight Sunday.

The federal bureau of investigation at Milwaukee was called into the case because the death occurred on a federal reservation.

He "wanted to avenge his Polish brethren" (Germany last week sent back to Poland several thousand resident Polish Jews, fearing new Polish passport regulations might deprive them of citizenship and leave them in Germany as German charges.)

The youth entered the embassy at 9:35. He was taken to the office of Vom Rath, who is attached to German legation service as well as to the embassy.

MAY VISIT BROTHER

London — (7) — The possibility of a reconciliation between the duke and duchess of Windsor and the British royal family was seen today in the assertion in well-informed circles that the duke and duchess of Gloucester probably would see the Windsors at Paris Friday.

The former King Edward VIII and his American-born wife are staying at a Paris hotel while a new Paris home is being prepared for them. The Duke of Gloucester (above), the former king's second younger brother, and his wife are returning from an east African hunting trip.

Flood Stage at Du-

A few days ago the sun was shining and the mercury stood at close to 70 degrees.

Today skies were gloomy, a chill wind whipped over the city, and the season's first snow swirled down.

The weatherman, however, reported that it will be fair tonight and tomorrow in this region. Besides introducing snow to these parts, today's weather brought the coldest reading of the fall season. It was 31 degrees at 1:30 this afternoon, according to the thermometer atop the Post-Crescent building.

People started looking anxiously into coal bins, plunging into dark closets for heavier coats, and adding anti-freeze solutions to their car radiators as winter sent unmistakable advance notices. Streets in the city were slippery from the wet, heavy snow that fell most of the day, starting about 8 o'clock this morning.

For the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning, the highest mark in the city was 46 and the lowest 34, according to charts at the Wisconsin Michigan Power company plant. During that period precipitation measured .64 of an inch. Snow flurries were forecast for the extreme southeast portion of the state tonight.

Durand, Wis. — (7) — The Chippewa river topped its 11-foot flood stage by a foot and a half this morning and was still rising slowly. The river gauge read 12.6 feet.

Defends Dismissal of 11 in Oil Conspiracy

Chicago — (7) — Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone of Wisconsin filed a brief in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals Saturday defending his dismissal of 11 defendants convicted of conspiracy in the oil monopoly trial at Madison, Wis., earlier this year.

During the trial Judge Stone had deferred ruling on defense motions for directed verdicts of not guilty in the cases of the 11 defendants. For the purposes of the record, however, he entered an order denying the motions without hearing arguments.

W. P. Crawford, special assistant to the attorney general in the prosecution of the cases, charged Judge Stone had no right to enter a dismissal order later and nullify his first action.

Part of Missing Court Records are Returned

Monroe — (7) — Thirteen of the 16 packages of probate case records recently reported missing from the county court files have been returned.

County Judge Marshall Peterson announced that three packages were brought in Saturday, in addition to 10 received previously.

A John Doe inquiry into removal of the records is scheduled by District Attorney John Germann, Jr., following the next county board session, which convenes Nov. 13 and may continue into Thanksgiving week.

INQUEST SATURDAY

Twelve Other Traffic Fatalities in State Over

Two persons were killed in Wau-paca county in an auto-train crash while twelve others lost their lives in traffic accidents in the state over the weekend. Four persons were injured as five accidents were reported in Outagamie county.

Irene Hollinger, 19, and Sylvia Wohlrahe, 14, Manawa girls who hitchhiked a ride with G. A. Braemer, Manawa grocer, were killed instantly when Braemer's car and the locomotive of a Soo line freight train collided at a crossing on Highway 45 at the Weyauwega village limits at 2:30 Saturday afternoon.

Braemer's machine struck the side of the engine and was whirled around and smashed against one of the cars, Wau-paca county authorities were told. The driver escaped with cuts and bruises. The Hollinger girl was thrown or carried about 70 feet and the Wohlrahe girl about 40 feet by the train, and bodies of both were badly mangled. Sheriff Duncan Campbell, who investigated, said.

Braemer was going to Weyauwega and the train also was pulling into the village when the accident occurred.

Dr. John C. Johnson, Wau-paca county coroner, has called an inquest for 9:30 Saturday morning at the Weyauwega village hall. Members of the jury are Oscar Wiesmann, Gilbert Minton, Gust Zielow, Ed Raotke, Theodore Peterson and Edward Bruka, all of Weyauwega.

Manawa Residents
Miss Hollinger was born Jan. 4, 1919 at Manawa and lived there her entire life. She was a former student of Manawa High school.

Survivors are her mother, Mrs. Ada Hollinger; twin sister, Miss Marian Hollinger, Appleton; and brother, Clayton, Manawa.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 Wednesday morning at the Sacred Heart church with the Rev. A. C. Dionne in charge. Burial will be in the Catholic cemetery at New London.

The Wohlrahe girl was born June 8, 1924 at Manawa and was a sophomore student at Manawa High school.

Survivors are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Wohlrahe, Manawa; sister, Nelva; brother, Carol.

Official Throws New Light on Expanded Armament Program

Washington — (7) — An emphatic declaration by Sumner Welles, under secretary of state, that the United States intends to help defend the entire western hemisphere threw new light today on the administration's expanded armament program.

Welles said last night in an address broadcast throughout the nation and to South America: "As a nation, we will assure ourselves that we are in a position to defend ourselves from all aggression from whatever source it may arise, and to be prepared to join with our fellow democracies of the New World in preserving the western hemisphere safe from any threat of attack."

The government already is resurveying its defenses. Informed officials made it plain this is being done with all implications of the century-old Monroe doctrine, barring further European colonization in the Americas, clearly in mind.

Asserting territorial integrity and individual liberties may depend on it, Welles called for inter-American solidarity at a time when he said "the doctrine of hatred is threatening civilization."

His words furnished a possible keynote for the eighth Pan-American conference which will meet at Lima, Peru, Dec. 9. Secretary of State Hull will head this country's delegation.

Appleton merchants Thursday will offer thousands of shoppers of the city and vicinity the opportunity to buy high quality merchandise at reduced prices.

The Appleton day bargain event will be another of the fall buying events that have proved so popular in this vicinity. Appleton day will differ from some bargain days in that goods offered will not be out of season, but will all have highly useful value. Merchants have ordered special shipments of new fall stock to please shoppers.

CLOSE STRUGGLE
Republicans Put Up Best Battle in More Than

BY JOHN W. WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison, Wis. — The wildest Wisconsin election campaign in recent years was ending today as Wisconsin voters prepared to go to the polls tomorrow to declare their choice for state, federal and county offices on three tickets.

Observers, noting a sharply increasing popular interest in the outcome in the closing days of the office seekers' campaigns, predicted a vote turnout considerably above normal for a non-presidential year. It is expected that about 1,000,000 Wisconsin citizens will mark ballots tomorrow for their selections for governor, United States senator, ten congressmen, 100 assemblymen, half of the membership of the state senate, and hundreds of sheriffs, district attorneys, and other county officers.

Standing out above everything else in the campaign, however, is the interest which has been shown in the contest between Progressives and Republicans over the governorship, a contest which will probably go a long way toward deciding

Justice Department Would Settle Suits in Ford, Chrysler Cases

South Bend, Ind. — (7) — Hearing in United States District court here on consent decrees which would end the government's anti-trust action against the Ford Motor company and the Chrysler corporation and affiliated finance companies was in danger of delay today as attorneys for independent finance companies said they would file an intervening petition.

Washington — (7) — The justice department asked the United States district court at South Bend, Ind., today to approve consent decrees settling anti-trust suits in the Ford and Chrysler automobile finance cases.

Because General Motors, indicted with the other two firms, did not propose an "acceptable" plan for a consent decree, the department said, the case against it "must be vigorously prosecuted."

Although it said presentation of the decrees for court approval in the Ford and Chrysler cases "involves no admission of guilt," the department said that on the basis of the evidence it had collected and viewed, it believed the two concerns "guilty of the anti-trust law violations charged in the indictments."

Voters Ready to Cast Ballots
Tuesday as County Candidates
Bring Brisk Campaign to Close

A general election campaign that got off to a slow start and then gathered momentum in the last two weeks was being brought to a close today by county office candidates. The vote-getting seeds have been sown and candidates now are hoping for a harvest of votes Tuesday that will send them into office.

While interest in the county races lagged at first, it picked up as candidates swung into a brisk campaign. Most attention seems to be centered on the races for sheriff, county treasurer, district attorney and register of deeds.

Both the Republican and Democratic parties held meetings almost nightly last week and candidates today were sending out last minute campaign literature. While the Progressives have no county candidates, they sponsored a number of meetings in the county in support of the state ticket.

There has been much speculation as the outcome of the race for register of deeds which is a 3-cornered affair with the entry of Armin B. Scheurle as an independent candidate. Arthur L. Collar, incumbent, is seeking reelection on the Democratic ticket, and Stephen M. Peeters is running on the Republican ticket.

Sheriff's Race
In the race for sheriff are John Lappen, Republican incumbent; Joseph W. Versteegen, Democrat; and Robert O. Smith, Unionite.

Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer, is the Republican candidate for reelection with Ray L. Feuerstein as her opponent on the Democratic ticket.

Raymond P. Dohr, Democratic incumbent, and William L. Crow, Republican, are opposing each other for the office of district attorney.

Dr. Herbert E. Ellsworth, Republican county coroner, is being opposed for reelection by Russell Johnson, Democrat.

Four candidates are in the race for the assembly from the Second district. They are: William M. Rohan, incumbent, on the Democratic ticket; Anton M. Miller on the Progressive ticket, William J. Gantter on the Republican ticket and Arthur Hoelihan on the Union party ticket. In the First district Assemblyman Mark Catlin, Jr., Republican, is being opposed by Gerald John, Democrat.

Three candidates for offices are unopposed. They are John E. Hantschel, Republican, county clerk; Sydney M. Shannon, Republican, clerk of courts; and Robert M. Connelly, Democrat, surveyor.

The eighth congressional district race also will be watched with interest here as one of the candidates, George J. Schneider, Progressive incumbent, is a resident of Appleton, and a second, Peter J. Gloudemans, Unionite, is a Little Chute resident. Other candidates for the office are John E. Cashman, Democrat, and Joshua L. Johns, Republican.

New Bond Given Woman Accused of Shooting

Marquette — (7) — Mrs. Louise Page, 34, of Beecher township, was at liberty under bond again today for trial in circuit court Nov. 15 on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm which has been pending two years.

A new bond of $2,500 was furnished Saturday after she had been taken into custody following cancellation of the original bond.

Her husband, Marvin, whom she is accused of shooting during a quarrel in their farm home Oct. 5, 1936, is in custody as a material witness.

Washington — (7) — The supreme court delivered 13 opinions today, but left for later determination cases involving powers of the national labor relations board and the status of the proposed child labor amendment to the constitution. Cases decided by the court today after a two-week recess were of minor importance.

Votes will be cast tomorrow for: 35 United States senators; 432 members of the house of representatives; 32 state governors; many lesser state officials. (Maine elected a governor and three representatives in September).

Present senate: Democrats 76; Republicans 15; Farber-Laborite, 2; Progressive 1; independent Republican, 1; one seat now vacant was filled by Democrat.

Present house: Democrats, 328; Republicans, 88; Progressives, 71; Farmer-Laborites 5; seven seats now vacant were filled by 6 Democrats and 1 Republican.

Registration: Estimated number of eligible voters is 54,324,930, compared with 47,959,928 in 1934 and 55,427,754 in 1936.

Expected vote: 40,000,000, compared with an actual vote of 32,804,098, in 1934 and 45,646,817 in 1936.

Washington — (7) — The oratory and blaring bands of an exciting election campaign faded into the background today, while party workers took over the vital but unspectacular task of getting out the vote.

They wanted to obtain a record "off-year" turnout tomorrow of 40,000,000 American men and women. Good weather was expected to aid them for although a cold snap was moving east, a clear day was forecast for much of the nation.

Amid the valedictories which ended months of political turbulence, belief prevailed in both major parties that Republicans would make congressional gains for the first time since 1928.

Not even the most optimistic Republicans, however, hoped to overturn the huge Democratic majorities in senate and house. Their avowed goal was to cut them down as much as possible. They forecast Democratic losses of a half-dozen or more senate seats and of 75 or 80 in the house.

Farley Expects Losses
Democratic Chairman James A. Farley called such a prediction absurd, although he said it "would be idle to deny" some Democratic house members would lose. Most prominent Democrats figure the house turnover at 25 to 50, and concede two or three senators and as many governors to the opposition.

Altogether voters in 47 states will choose 35 senators, 432 representatives, 32 governors and a host of state and county officials. Maine voted in September, reelecting its Republican governor and three Republican representatives.

In the noisy and colorful national campaign, both sides have acknowledged the New Deal to be the principal issue.

John L. Lewis, declaring that "labor stands firm in support of the New Deal social legislation," expressed the argument of Roosevelt supporters when he said last night: "Tomorrow's election decides whether the substantial social gains written on the law books in the past six years are to remain and be extended."

Lewis Statement
"Underlying the campaign fanfare is the fate of such New Deal measures as the social security act, the national labor relations act, the works progress administration and the similar legislation aimed to make life bearable for the two-thirds of the population in the lower and median income brackets."

Closing Republicans addresses contained pleas for election of an "independent congress." Former President Hoover used those words Saturday night at Spokane, Wash., declaring the Roosevelt administration was hampering its own efforts to improve business by using "coercive methods."

"The major problem America confronts today," Mr. Hoover said, "is whether we shall shape our economic system on free men or whether we shall introduce into it a mixture of personal power with coerced or regimented men."

Jobs First Aim
Republican Chairman John Hamilton told a radio audience Saturday night that "jobs for the 11,000,000 unemployed" would be the first consideration of Republican congressmen.

"They will fight to bring about a sound and lasting revival of American industry and business," he said.

Democratic Chairman Farley, on the other hand, declared at Providence, R. I., that the Republicans had produced no program. He accused them of "using every instrument of prejudice, deceit and misrepresentation to break down the confidence of the people in the president and the New Deal."

Aeronautic Group Is Seeking Better Laws for Aviation

Wausau Man Elected President of Wisconsin Department of N.A.A.

Clintonville—At the 1938 convention of the National Aeronautic association Saturday in Clintonville, it was voted to compete with the civil aeronautics board in developing a more uniform and beneficial aeronautics law to place aviation on a better basis than in the past.

Officers elected for the ensuing year are Archie Towle, Wausau, president; Lloyd Bauer, Clintonville, vice president; Carl Gotsche, Racine, treasurer; and Arthur Rice, Clintonville, executive secretary.

Mr. Towle will succeed Howard B. Morey of Madison as head of the state branch. Other retiring officers are: Dr. F. S. Morgan, Lake Mills, secretary; Eddie Hartel, Lake Delton, executive secretary; and Kenneth J. Olson, Racine, treasurer. It was voted during the convention to combine the offices of the secretary and the executive secretary into one, which is now being filled by Arthur Rice of this city.

Sixty-three members of the N. A. A. were registered at the convention, coming from Milwaukee, Racine, Janesville, Lake Mills, Madison, Oshkosh, Green Bay, Manitowish, Wausau, Three Lakes, Rice Lake, Clintonville, Minneapolis and Troy, Ohio.

About 100 at Banquet

About 100 N. A. A. members, city officials and other guests were seated at the banquet held Saturday evening at Hotel Marston, where the afternoon convention also took place. The program speakers were Mayor A. A. Washburn, who gave the address of welcome; M. B. Freeburg, Minneapolis, president of the national association; and Howard B. Morey, Madison, governor of the Wisconsin N. A. A. S. J. Wittman, Oshkosh, M. P. Hanscom, director of Air Commerce Inspection at Milwaukee and others.

Lloyd Bauer, president of Gateway chapter, this city, was toastmaster.

Mr. Freeburg pointed out the Clintonville municipal airport is far superior to many airports on the regular route of Northwest Airlines from Minneapolis to the Pacific coast. He lauded Mayor Washburn, the city officials, the Four Wheel Drive Auto company, and Stanley Warner, airport engineer, for working together in developing the project at a comparatively small cost to the city. The 140 tract located just east of the city was developed through the aid of WFA funds.

Gateway chapter of this city received five new members, bringing its total membership to 62. The new members are M. O. Stockland, Charles Thomson, Floyd Hurley, Arthur Danley and Ralph Caldwell.

Airport Dedication
Following the banquet, the aviation ball was held at the Clintonville armory. A large crowd was in attendance for the affair. The hall was beautifully decorated, the color scheme being blue and white.

Thousands of persons and a large number of planes visited the new Clintonville Municipal Airport Sunday when dedication ceremonies took place there. Due to the inclement weather during the early part of the afternoon, the program was held earlier than scheduled and was cut short. Mayor A. A. Washburn gave the dedication address, after which Max Stieg, president of the association of commerce, introduced a number of prominent visitors, who responded with a few remarks about the airport.

After the weather cleared to some extent, passenger flights were made by the large 8-passenger Ford Tri-motor plane and by a number of smaller planes. Only licensed pilots were permitted to transport passengers during the two-day celebration. Several large Stinson planes were among the various kinds of airplanes on exhibit. Visitors at the new airport came from all parts of Wisconsin.

School Board to See Bicycle Safety Film
A bicycle safety movie, filmed by R. L. Swanson, an instructor at Wilson Junior High school, will be shown at a meeting of the board of education at 7:30 Tuesday evening at Morgan school, according to Ben J. Rohan, superintendent of schools. The film was sponsored by the school board and the city council.

Attitude of Yugoslavia Vital To Reich's Gains in Balkans

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Belgrade, Yugoslavia — (AP)—The trend of Nazi Leader Hitler's economic and political conquest of the Balkans bids fair to be influenced to no small degree by the attitude of Yugoslavia.

The good will of this nation of doughy fighters is of great importance to the fuhrer. This is so partly because of Yugoslavia's strong influence among her neighbors and partly because her geographical position makes her a most likely participant of what may prove to be a new world war.

Various situations already exist which might lead to controversy of one sort or another between Mussolini and Hitler. Mussolini finds that some of Hitler's moves are pretty strong mustard. For instance there is Germany's perhaps natural desire for an Adriatic port which could come only from Italy, and the fact that Hitler is seeking control of the Balkans is trespassing in what has been regarded as Italy's sphere of influence.

At the moment the Belgrade government has elected to accept Germany's economic overlordship because forsooth Yugoslavia couldn't help herself if she wished. She is dependent on the German market to absorb the great bulk of her products, which are mainly agricultural.

It remains to be seen what Belgrade's attitude will be if and when Hitler attempts to employ economic pressure for political ends.

I understand that Yugoslavia would much prefer to team up with Italy if that were possible. As a matter of fact, while the Belgrade government is friendly with Berlin, the general public is hostile to the fatherland because of its treatment of Czechoslovakia.

The Nazi aspirations in connection with the Adriatic and with the vast granary of the Danubian basin have drawn Italy and Yugoslavia closer, at least in sentiment.

Ekern Urges Liberal Old Age Pension Plan

Milwaukee—(AP)—Herman L. Ekern, Progressive nominee for United States senator, in a radio address last night advocated keeping out of war, providing an adequate old age pension system and broadening the use of money and credit as the best means of improving the condition of American youth.

A liberal pension system, Ekern said, would make it possible for elderly persons to retire from work and give their jobs to younger workers.

"There is one job which youth does not want," he said, "and that is a job in the trenches of Europe. If we use our money to create opportunities in local communities, and not use it for the benefit of a privileged few in this country or use it in foreign countries, jobs of the kind which youth wants will be created."

Sanitation Chief Pushing Clean-Up Of River Wastes

Reports on Three Major Sewage Projects in Fox Valley

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—L. F. Warrick, chief of the state bureau of sanitary engineering, today reported developments in three major sewage and sanitation projects in the Fox river valley region.

Warrick announced that two special representatives of his department, a biologist and an engineer, began work this week in studying Green Bay's long standing East river pollution problem, and will continue their studies through next spring when they report their findings and recommendations to the state board of health and the local sewage commission for action.

The two men, Ben L. Williamson and John T. Greenback, are exceptionally well qualified for the difficult Green Bay job, Warrick said. He added that he had "scoured" the country for them.

Must Work Rapidly
They will be forced to work rapidly in order to study the physical condition of the river water before the advent of winter and ice, he pointed out. During the next three or four weeks they will study bottom deposits, water quality and the dissolved gases in the water.

Laboratory work will be carried on during the winter months. At the same time Warrick reported that he has approved preliminary plans for the sewage project planned by the village of Combined Locks, one of the last remaining communities in the valley which have not provided for sewage treatment. The village has called for bids on two alternative methods of disposing of its sewage, he pointed out, through interceptors connecting with either Little Chute or Kaukauna.

The village of Kimberly, which had originally intended to join with Combined Locks in a plant, but later decided to build its own unit, is waiting word from Chicago PWA headquarters on its application for a federal grant to help finance construction.

Warrick visited the Chicago office of the PWA this week, he reported, to urge speedy approval of the application. He characterized it as one of the "outstanding" projects yet to be approved in Wisconsin.

Fontaine Asks Defeat Of Governor LaFollette
Green Bay — (AP)—Defeat of Governor Philip LaFollette in Tuesday's election was urged by A. B. Fontaine, Green Bay attorney and former Wisconsin Republican national committeeman, in a radio address last night.

In his first political speech in two years, Fontaine asserted: "Senator LaFollette has shown his communist sympathies so flagrantly, so often, that he deserves never again to hold public office. Phil LaFollette has slept with communists and come away with their fleas. Wisconsin will be better off if the LaFollettes are denied public office."

Taxi Driver Is Fined On Charge of Speeding
Floyd T. Halverson, 712 E. Calumet street, a taxi driver, was fined $10 and costs with an alternative of 20 days in the county detention camp by Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court this morning after pleading guilty of speeding. City police made the arrest on E. Wisconsin avenue this morning.

Heil-Lafollette Contest for Governor Overshadows Rest of Badger Political Campaigns

ing the contests for other state and legislative offices.

Although observers and politicians have little except the unrepresentative primary vote to base their conclusions on, it is generally accepted that the Progressive-Republican drive has been the most nearly equal struggle between those parties for more than a decade.

The contest means much more to both sides than the mere possession of the chair. To Governor LaFollette and his associates it means the survival or decay of the new National Progressive party. A defeat in his home state would be interpreted by the nation as a repudiation. The NPA would die aborning.

A victory, particularly since it will give the governor his fourth term in the statehouse, would make the national political arena stand up and take notice.

To Republicans, anxious to build up the state machines which are the life-blood of every national party, the governorship of Wisconsin would be a proud plum. Apparently national G. O. P. headquarters thinks that plum will be picked tomorrow.

In the senate race, most experienced observers reckon that the winner will be either Progressive Herman L. Ekern or Republican Alexander Wiley, although popular interest has clearly been subordinated here to the more interesting gubernatorial battle.

Third, according to pre-election forecasts of most observers, will be F. Ryan Duffy, who has been campaigning on a straight New Deal platform but hasn't gotten a whole lot of encouragement from the New Deal.

Fourth, it is almost certain, will be John B. Chapple, who made a lot of excitement during the campaign but who will probably return to Ashland tomorrow with little to show except a bale of newspaper clippings recounting his exploits during the last month.

Democrats Confused
Harder to interpret is the Democratic state campaign. The Democrats are running Senator Harry Bolens for governor, a respected and admired old-timer in the party, but who was nominated after the primary and who had little chance to organize a campaign.

Original choice of the state Democracy was Jerome Fox of Chilton. Those plans went awry, however, when Coalitionist Robert K. Henry of Jefferson stole the primary election from the Chilton New Dealer. Failing to win the Republican nomination, however, he withdrew, and the state Democratic committee agreed on Bolens.

Whether the Democratic vote can be held together, in view of the condition of the ticket, is considered doubtful. Republicans are making a strong bid for the conservative wing. Progressives welcome, and expect to get, the support of the liberals in the party. If both expectations are realized, it will leave the Heil-LaFollette vote still pretty well balanced.

Among professional students of state politics it is pretty generally agreed today that the key to the Wisconsin election tomorrow will be the rural vote. Progressives are worried about what they see to be a trend away from the state administration, probably due to consistently low milk prices. Republicans are making capital of whatever strength there is to that resentment, just as they are capitalizing on low prices throughout the Midwest against New Deal candidates.

Asserts Roosevelt Has Nation's Confidence
Milwaukee—(AP)—Maine and Vermont would vote for President Roosevelt, Senator F. Ryan Duffy claimed in a radio address last night, if the president were up for election Tuesday.

Asserting that "the mass of our people still have great confidence in President Roosevelt," Duffy maintained that "great benefits" have been bestowed upon Wisconsin and the nation by the present federal administration.

Duffy listed "the right of labor to organize and bargain collectively . . . affirmed by law," the wage-hour act and old-age assistance as some administration accomplishments in six years. "Surely," he said, "the farmers and the workers will not be swayed by any of the misleading propaganda which is being spread by the Roosevelt haters."

The president's popularity, Duffy said, "results from the earnest and intelligent effort . . . in behalf of the common people."

Asks Hunters to Return Bird Bands

Warden Reminds Sportsmen to Send Band Numbers to Department

Emil Kramer, county conservation warden, appealed to hunters today to return the bands which were attached to thousands of game birds this year.

Bird band information should be sent to the experimental game and fur farm of the Wisconsin Conservation department at Poyette, Kramer said. Cards issued with hunting licenses should be used to send the information.

Some 50,000 pheasants, 1,000 grouse and many thousands of other birds were banded this year to obtain records and other hunting statistics.

"The numbers of these bands and the approximate place the birds were taken or found is very important for the records, for without a return all this work has no value," Kramer said.

The upland bird season closed more than a week ago and the duck and goose season will close on Nov. 14. Information that should be included on the cards sent to the department follows: kind of bird, whether found or shot, the band number, the date when taken or found and the distance and direction from the nearest town where it was taken.

Million Persons March in Review Past Red Dictator
Moscow — (AP)—One million persons marched past Joseph Stalin today in a huge parade through Moscow's Red square celebrating the twenty-first anniversary of the bolshevik revolution, soviet Russia's "coming of age."

Stalin, Russia's undisputed leader as secretary-general of the communist party, stood on top of the tomb of Nikolai Lenin, leader and saint of the revolution, for the review.

The Soviet Union's armed might was displayed. Tens of thousands of picked troops and hundreds of light and heavy tanks—some of which raced across the square at 40 miles an hour—and hundreds of warplanes took part.

The only speech was that of Klement Voroshilov, war commissar, who emphasized that Russia was prepared to meet force with force.

Before the parade another high communist party official forecast conflict with Germany late in 1941.

State Officials Expect Sharp Increase in Costs of Program

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—The total of old age pension recipients in the state was just under 42,000 at the beginning of October, the state pension office reported today.

Again revealing a slight increase over the previous month, the state department said there were 41,997 persons on the old age assistance rolls who received a total of $853,717 in state, federal and county funds during September.

Significantly, however, the state pension board noted that due to the new budget policy set forth by the state pension department recently, it is expected that there will be a considerable increase in all three social security programs, including, besides aged pensions, blind and dependent children's aids, during subsequent months.

The reasons, the board said, are an accelerated increase in the number of recipients; increased allowances for those now receiving assistance.

Old age assistance figures for the counties in the Appleton area were reported for September as follows:

County	Number	Average
Brown	570	$18.26
Outagamie	718	18.78
Calumet	152	17.40
Manitowoc	515	20.27
Shawano	503	18.33
Waupaca	686	19.57
Winnebago	1,065	19.82

The range of county averages during the month was from $14.38 to $26.05, while the average payment in the state was $20.33.

Governor Justifies Letter to Pensioners
Milwaukee — (AP)—Governor Philip LaFollette in a radio address yesterday reiterated his stand that writing of the controversial letter to old age pensioners was justified as a means of giving direct information.

"Whatever efforts we expended in writing letters and holding meetings," LaFollette said, "have justified themselves many times over. Citizens of Wisconsin have a right to be proud that not once during the bitter months of violence and martial law in other states was a single militiaman called out to quell a disturbance."

Referring to workings of the state labor law, LaFollette said letters had been written to laborers and business men explaining the law and urging cooperation. Letters also had been written, he said, to farmers and others explaining the purposes of the Wisconsin Agricultural authority.

Political Tabloids Blanket State as Hectic Campaign Ends

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—State politicians are becoming journalists as the 1938 election campaign comes to a frantic end.

Thousands of voters of Wisconsin found in their mail boxes or on their front steps political newspapers issued by opposing parties and candidates in their final efforts to win office tomorrow.

Perhaps the most prolific publicity efforts have been made by the Progressives, through their state committee and the various congressional and county groups.

Bales of tabloid papers have been issued in recent weeks by Progressive state headquarters. The Farmer-Labor-Federation has issued its own editions for the elections. Certain heavily populated counties, such as Dane, have also been covered by Progressive dodgers in the closing hours of the canvass.

Hell Is Praised
The Uncensored State News, supposed to be a revival of the late and well-known "Uncensored News" of several years ago when it first appeared this summer, limped along feebly until a few days ago. Then suddenly box-holders all over the state found the neat little four-page publication tucked in with their mail, containing lengthy attacks on Governor LaFollette and the Progressives, and generous praise of Julius P. Heil and his Republican antecedents.

Publisher is L. B. Nagler, once an associate of Fred R. Zimmerman when he occupied the governor's chair.

Democrats have been slow in getting into the spirit of the thing. At least no Democratic sheet has been noticed hereabouts. Senator Duffy, however, has caught on. He is being publicized in a tabloid publication too. It contains numerous pictures, showing Duffy eating cheese, Duffy catching fish, Duffy in almost every pose imaginable.

Bolens in Attack on LaFollette's Record
Milwaukee — (AP)—State Senator Harry W. Bolens, Democratic candidate for governor, in a radio address yesterday attacked the records of Governor Philip LaFollette and Lieutenant Governor Herman L. Ekern, and asked:

"Does anyone doubt that the suit against Heil (Julius P. Heil, Republican nominee for governor) for corrupt practices is started for any other purpose than to lay the foundation for a refusal to surrender the office of governor if LaFollette is defeated?"

Bolens said LaFollette had been "untruthful" in saying Democrats of the legislature voted against six bills sent by President Roosevelt for Wisconsin passage. "Roosevelt sent none," Bolens declared.

The senator termed Ekern, Progressive nominee for the senate "A Chicago corporation lawyer who has been imported . . . and made lieutenant governor for the purpose of making a candidate for United States senator."

Farley and Barton Engage in By-Play On Eve of Election
New York — (AP)—Postmaster General Farley and Republican Representative Bruce Barton indulged in a bit of good-natured election by-play today.

The Democratic major domo wrote the Republican congressman as follows:

"Dear Bruce: "I received your letter this morning soliciting my support. Ordinarily, I would suggest that you correct your mailing list so that you would not be writing to hard-boiled Democrats. But I decided not to do this, because the more letters we receive from you and others the greater will be our postal receipts so speaking as postmaster general I am grateful to you for assisting us in our letter writing campaign, and I shall be more than grateful for a continuance of your efforts in this direction."

"Hoping to see you soon, Bruce, I am,

"Sincerely yours, "Jim."

Barton rushed a telegram back to Farley. He said: "Dear Jim: "You are my most famous constituent and I feel I am making steady progress toward converting you in to a good sound Republican. If I am mistaken please send back the stamp."

Schneider Spent $350 in Campaign For Congress Seat

Gives $100 to State Committee — Johns Gets Committee Help

Madison — Campaign expenditures as reported by the candidates for the Eighth district seat in congress reveal curious contrasts in the attitudes of state and national political parties toward the situation in that area.

While Joshua L. Johns, the Republican congressional nominee in tomorrow's election received substantial financial aid from both the state and national Republican committees, State Senator John E. Cashman, his Democratic rival, was aided only by the district Democratic organization, and reported no contributions to his campaign from either state or national party chests.

In contrast is Congressman George J. Schneider, Progressive candidate for reelection, who received no help from the state office, but contributed instead to various state committees and to various county committees in the district.

Johns reported personal expenditures of $655.90 in his pre-election expense statement. He received $250 from the State Republican committee, and $500 from the national group headed by John D. M. Hamilton. The "Johns for Congress club," of which Frank A. Hanson is secretary, received a total of $674.50, it reported. Its disbursements included $50 to Charles C. Nelson and $250 to Charles Jackson. Its contributions listed gifts of $49.50 from W. A. Holt, and $125 from the Brown county voluntary committee.

Of Cashman's total personal expenditures of $549.30, he said he got a total of $329.50 in gifts including $20 from Robert Ryan, De Pere, $250 from Bert Everson, Green Bay, Eighth district Democratic chairman, and $49.50 from C. E. Broughton, Sheboygan party chief.

Schneider spent $350, including contributions of $25 to the Forest county Progressive committee, $100 to the Manitowish county committee, $30 to the Door county group, $100 to the Progressive state central committee, and $25 to the Marinette county committee.

He told the secretary of state that he received several contributions, including $49.50 each from Ida Leinwender, Lucille Schroeder, and Darold Schade, and $100 from Alfred Bingham, the New York farmer-labor party crusader and editor.

Peter A. Gloudehands of Little Chute, the Union Party's standard-bearer in the district, said he spent a total of $502 in the campaign and received nothing.

United States Facing Serious Problems as World Changes

Washington—Strange things are happening in this country, things that will cause us to think quite seriously about our democracy and how best to keep it in good condition.

For instance, Gov. Lehman is running for governor in New York for the fourth time. Twice before he became governor, he ran for lieutenant governor. He has gone before the voters of his state five times and has been elected each time and now he is before them for the sixth time. But this time it is different—the Jewish question is up.

There never has been any secret about Lehman being a Jew. Everybody in the whole state knew it, and took it for granted without comment. It figured in his political campaigns no more than what he ate for breakfast.

Now, after 10 years before the voting public of New York state, his race is an issue. Undercover campaigning about it has become so extensive as to call for public comment both from President Roosevelt and from Lehman's Republican opponent, Thomas E. Dewey, who denounced the introduction of race prejudice in the campaign in as fine and stirring a defense of tolerance as has come from the lips of any American in recent years.

Anti-semitism is seeping into this country as a backwash from the brutalitarian policies of Germany and Italy. I have seen words written by kids on Jewish shop windows here in Washington. Recently a newspaper dispatch related how several small boys scratched a swastika on the arm of a Jewish playmate.

This is one of the uglier symptoms of a neurotic age. Another was the panic a week ago over the radio broadcast of the H. G. Wells' fantasy. Americans at last have become infected with the overhanging sense of insecurity which has been so acute in Europe.

Most Unerving Is Chaining Of British We have not such a severe case of it, but the symptoms are here. There are the fantastic schemes for old age security such as the California $30-a-week-Thursdays. Republicans who always have prided themselves on their sound money policy are now embracing the Townsend plan. We have seen the New Deal, with the best of intentions and aggressive courage, tackle the unemployment relief problem, and the agricultural problem in reported experiments, only to leave the situation as bad as before. We find no answers and the sense of insecurity consequently increases.

Most unerving of all is the sudden realization that the power of Great Britain has been chained. New Forces—represented in the unrestrained aggressive brutality of Germany, Italy and Japan—are now masters in Europe and eastern Asia. We stand with the whole western hemisphere pretty much exposed now, with no one but ourselves to protect it from rapacious powers. Restraints of civilization have been thrown off. Plain, physical force alone counts.

Values are all changed. Money has lost a good deal of its power. Rich nations like England and France are brushed aside by poor nations like Germany, Italy and Japan. Power no longer rests with accumulated capital but with dictators who know how to regiment and thoroughly control a nation. We see starved, have-not nations doing much with little, and rich nations like ourselves having much but doing little with it.

Uncertain Mood Is Reflected In Election

These changes are not clearly understood by anybody. They are too deep and large in their implications. But most of us feel them vaguely, even if only subconsciously as did the Sunday night victims of the attack from Mars.

Some reflection of this uncertain mood is found in the trouble which political writers are having this year. It seems unusually difficult to get hold of the public pulse. Political writers may often be wrong but they are seldom in doubt. I have been through five presidential campaigns and as many mid-term elections and never have I felt so uncertain as to how sentiment was drifting in this election. Some of my colleagues are having the same experience.

Business Places Are Asked to Close At Noon on Friday

Mayor of Kaukauna Urges Observance of Armistice Day

Kaukauna—All places of business have been asked to close at noon on Armistice day, Nov. 11, in a proclamation issued by Mayor Lewis F. Nelson. The American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars requested such action through the high school athletic council. The veterans' organizations are arranging a program for Friday.

The service men's request to the council said "it is our desire to have this entire day celebrated as the rest of the legal holidays, but owing to the fact that the law is rather new and the majority of the people not being familiar with the fact that Armistice day is a legal holiday, closing all business places at noon for this year would probably be easier to accomplish."

Proclamation

Mayor Nelson's proclamation ran as follows:

"Armistice day is now a national legal holiday, and for your information the act of congress which created the 11th day of November of each year a legal holiday is quoted hereafter:

"Be it enacted, . . . that the 11th day of November in each year, a day to be dedicated to the cause of world peace and to be hereafter celebrated and known as Armistice day, is hereby made a legal public holiday to all intents and purposes and in the same manner as other lawful public holidays.

"Kaukauna's veteran organizations have arranged a suitable Armistice day program. Business and professional men, factories and industrial plants are asked to cooperate in order to make Armistice day a real holiday. This year World War veterans will celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the armistice. As veterans, they will celebrate the nation's newest national holiday—Armistice day.

"Now therefore, I, L. F. Nelson, mayor of the City of Kaukauna, Wisconsin, do respectfully urge all such places of business to cooperate with the veteran organizations in the observance of Armistice day, Nov. 11."

Athletic Groups Plan Membership Campaign

Kaukauna—The membership drive for the boys and girls athletic associations of Kaukauna High will open this week under the direction of Clifford H. Kemp. Election of officers will be held after Thanksgiving. Activities of the groups this year will include paddle tennis, basketball, volleyball, baseball, archery, ping-pong, free throwing, horseshoe, wrestling, tennis and badminton.

Valley Boxing Club of Kaukauna Incorporated

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—The promotion of athletic contests, and particularly wrestling and boxing exhibitions, is given as the purpose of the Valley Boxing club of Kaukauna in articles of incorporation filed with the secretary of state by its organizers.

Signing the articles of incorporation were George Zwick, John Coppel and Jacob Miller.

The new organization is capitalized at 100 shares at $5 a share.

Chief Warns Against Use of Guns in City

Kaukauna—A warning that the ordinance against the use of guns within the city limits will be strictly enforced was issued this morning by Chief of Police James E. McFadden. Several complaints on this violation have been received, McFadden said, and any persons caught so shooting will be hailed into court and prosecuted.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertes barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. William Dowling is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6.30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

Kaukauna Knights Will Hold Party in Clubrooms Tonight

Kaukauna—Knights of Columbus will meet at 8 o'clock tonight in the Wisconsin avenue clubrooms and hold "Feathers Night." Pupils of the Van Zeeland school of music will entertain, as will the Jansen "Half-Ton Quartet" and Harold Holman. Games will be played and fowl given for prizes. There will be no admission charge.

American Legion Auxiliary will meet at 7.45 tonight at the Legion hall. Mrs. Albert Weiss is social chairman, assisted by Mrs. Margaret Berens, Mrs. Matt Yingling and Mrs. Alfred Wagnitz.

The Lady Elks social club met Friday afternoon at Elks hall with Mrs. Henry Minkebeig winning the prize at cards. Mrs. H. F. Weckwerth was hostess.

Junior Dance Classes Will Begin Tomorrow

Kaukauna—The Women's Benefit association junior dancing classes will begin fall sessions at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Outagamie Rural Normal school gymnasium. If enough interest is shown adult classes may be organized.

Your Birthday

"SCORPIO"

If November 8 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:45 to 11:45 a. m.; from 1:45 to 3:45 p. m.; and from 7:45 to 9:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:45 to 9:45 a. m.; from 5:45 to 7:45 p. m.; and from 9:45 to 11:45 p. m.

Whether it is an invitation or a business transaction that you might wish to offer this day, its acceptance or rejection will depend largely on the manner in which it is presented. Be concise and clear in your statements, leaving nothing to the imagination, if you would escape embarrassing complications. You are apt to find the average person inclined to be fastidious, particularly regarding the quality of anything that he or she might consider buying. Housewives should be careful not to leave themselves open to criticism as the result of carelessness, especially in the preparation of meals. There ought to be plenty of money available for the average person's legitimate requirements, but a scarcity of it for speculative ventures. Be careful that a sense of false economy does not lead you astray, for this is a day when you will get just about what you pay for. Married and engaged couples, and those dreaming of a future honeymoon together, must be considerate of each other's feelings and pocketbooks. If mental disturbances are to be avoided.

If a woman and November 8 is your birthday, should you have any financial problems be consoled by the prospects that soon you may have them solved in a very satisfactory manner. You

Major League Teams Clash Again Tonight

Kaukauna—The Major bowling league will swing into action again tonight with the Ritz Tavern meeting the Miller High Lites and the D and I Sales opposing the Schell Alleys on the 7 o'clock shift. At 9 o'clock Gerz Taverns bowl Harkbarth's Tavern.

It Is Said--

That glancing back over the conference football season which ended Saturday with a Kaukauna championship it appears the Kaukauna squad was inspired when it chose Bob Niesen and Leroy Frank co-captains. For they came through with the winning plays in the two crucial games. Niesen defeated Shawano, defending champs, by blocking a punt and then carrying it across for a touchdown, and Frank snatched a rebounding pass Saturday to beat Menasha.

One Case of Scarlet Fever Reported in City

One case of scarlet fever, making a total of two active cases in the city, was reported to the Appleton health department last week, according to Claude N. Greisch, deputy health officer. Other active cases of contagion in the city include two of whooping cough and two of chicken pox.

Doesn't Need Cats

Evansville, Ind. — (AP)—Mrs. Victoria E. Wheeler used to worry about the rats getting her chickens but now the birds are taking care of matters.

She looked out in the chicken yard when she heard a commotion the other day and saw a plucky young Rhode Island red rooster dragging a rat around by the tail, while the other chickens pecked the rodent to death.

What's New at the Library

The strange mixture of the artistic and practical which is found in the person of Ignace Jan Paderewski, greatest contemporary pianist who was at one time premier of Poland, is presented in a new book, "The Paderewski Memoirs," for which the artist collaborated with Mary Lawton. It begins with his boyhood and student days in Warsaw, takes him on to Berlin and the world of music, Vienna, Paris, England and America, Russian tour and home in Switzerland are discussed in the later chapters which also tell of some of his tragic experiences.

The story of American integrity, of how a league of states invented itself into a nation, is told in "March of the Iron Men" by Roger Burlingame. It is the story of humanity, not of machines, showing how the printing press began our history and the social inventions of the stock company and bonded servant continued it; how the Pennsylvania rifle, invented to sustain life in the forest, not to take it, was vital in winning the Revolution; how expansion came with the steam boat and railroad and was maintained by the reaper and factory; how all these things were originally the instruments of our separation, yet ended by combining with the telegraph and the new press to make union and democracy inevitable. In its history families are split, communities broken, Americans are scattered by the lure of the land and aliens are drawn by the lure of the machine, yet there emerges an integral nation, a social order that is whole and complete, the product of necessity, invention and new necessity.

The new generation in the American theater which has for its writers such men as Clifford Odets and Irwin Shaw, and for its directors and actors, Orson Welles and Burgess Meredith, is discussed by Eleanor Flexner in a volume entitled "American Playwrights, 1918-1938." She singles out certain representative writers, among them O'Neill, Anderson, Howard, Kaufman and Sherwood, and analyzes representative plays such as "Winter's End" and her criticism is part of the same movement she describes, ending with a discussion of the problems that confront the American dramatist today.

The delicate processes involved in making colored pictures are outlined in "Color Photography for the Amateur" by Keith Henney which should be helpful not only to amateurs but also to professionals and those interested in motion pictures and advertising work. It tells how to make transparencies in color with various types of color materials, how to make prints on paper by various processes, how to make separation negatives, and describes apparatus necessary. Estimates are made of the cost, hints and details of operation are picked up from other color workers and manufacturers.

Insisting that one need not be vulgar to be amusing, Lewin B. Williams has collected over 1,600 stories and anecdotes designed to help out in many situations such as focusing attention, stimulating thought, arousing the sleepy or chasing the blues. It is entitled "The Master Book of Humorous Illustrations," and has an alphabetical arrangement and index to make it easier for the reader to find what he wants.

County Has Collected $30,000 in Old Pauper Accounts; $7,000 Due

Waupaca—Waupaca county has collected approximately $30,000 in pauper accounts from other counties since Jan. 1, 1937, according to District Attorney Paul E. Roman. In addition, terms of settlement have been reached on accounts totalling nearly $7,000 but for which payment has not been made.

The county had a total of 80 claims which were heard before the state industrial commission, at Waupaca, New London, Waupun and Milwaukee. Nearly all of the

Albert Hoffman Rites Held at Clintonville

Clintonville—Funeral services were conducted at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Heuer funeral home in this city for Albert Hoffman, 71, of Arbor Vitae, by the Rev. E. C. Westhouse, pastor of Bethany church. Interment took place in the family lot at Maple Creek.

Born Sept. 10, 1867, in the town of Maple Creek, near New London, the deceased spent his early life in that vicinity. About thirty-five years ago he moved to northern Wisconsin, locating on a farm near Arbor Vitae which had been his home since that time. In failing health, Mr. Hoffman came about two weeks ago to spend the winter at the home of his niece, Mrs. Arthur J. Krueger, near Clintonville. His death occurred unexpectedly Friday morning at the home of his cousin, George Buboltz, near Sugar Bush, where he had gone for a few days' visit. Mr. Hoffman had never married.

Survivors are three brothers, John Hoffman, Clintonville; Henry, Antigo, and Charles of Milwaukee; and one sister, Mrs. William Blake of Oshkosh. A number of nieces and nephews also survive.

IN STAR ROLE

Competition for the Southern girl in Clare Boothe's comedy-hit, "Kiss the Boys Goodbye," is amply supplied by Benay Venuta (above). This is her first Broadway starring role.

Accounts were from two to fifteen years old, when the district attorney, working with the cooperation of County Clerk L. J. Steiger, proceeded to liquidate them.

Amounts recovered from the various counties were as follows: Ashland, $96.54; Columbia, $8; Dane, $413.72; Dodge, $334.86; Green Lake, $2.36; Forest, $277.68; Iron, $181.55; Langlade, $185.10; Manitowish, $784.50; Marathon, $757.95; Milwaukee, $441.17; Oneida, $954.14; Outagamie, $409.81; Portage, $28.36; Racine, $358.53; Richland, $23.68; Shawano, $474.95; Taylor, $97.81; Waushara, $864.09; Winnebago, $854.47.

Amounts still to be recovered, under the settlements made, are as follows: Forest, $3,327.55; Portage, $1,125.60; Shawano, $1,527.10; Vilas, $80.98; Waushara, $227.60; Winnebago, $387.95.

SALES OF WISCONSIN PRODUCTS MEAN JOBS FOR WISCONSIN WORKMEN

WE, AS Wisconsin Nash dealers, have more than an ordinary business interest in the sale of Nash cars.

We share with other residents of this state a very personal interest in the progress of any company whose product is manufactured in Wisconsin.

For as sales are made in larger quantities, more jobs will be created for our workmen, more money will be put into circulation and spent in stores for products of our farms and other industries and the general prosperity of the state and every person who lives in it will be increased.

We are therefore glad to tell you some of the things that are happening today throughout America.

On October 10th the new 1939 line of Nash automobiles was first shown to our nation-wide distributor organization. Since that time these cars have been seen and driven by hundreds of men who are the top authorities as judges of automobile design and value. These same men have had an opportunity also to drive the other new automobiles.

And today we can tell you that the 1939 Nash is the sensation of the automobile industry this year. Again Wisconsin leads the nation.

Never before in our experience has there been such an enthusiastic welcome of a new automobile.

In the development of the "Weather Eye" which provides automatic control of conditioned air for winter driving the Nash car has made a great contribution to the comfort, the safety and the joy of driving a car. In many other important new developments Nash stands out ahead of the industry.

The nation-wide acceptance of this car has led our fellow distributors and dealers throughout the United States to predict that "1939 Will Be Our Year," and that means that it will be a "Wisconsin Year," for not only is the Nash car Wisconsin-built from stem to stern but also much of the material and many of the parts used in its construction are purchased within the State.

These cars are now in quantity production and we have received our first shipments from the factory.

We invite and urge the people of Wisconsin to see these automobiles — to get the thrill of driving them and to know from first-hand experience what Wisconsin workmen have contributed to the advancement of motoring.

Whether you are considering buying an automobile this year or not, accept this invitation.

You may want to recommend the purchase of a Nash to a friend or to someone outside the state.

Remember that the Wisconsin-built Nash is today's best buy in the automobile field. And remember, too, that any sale of a Nash car anywhere means hundreds of hours of added employment to Wisconsin workmen and added prosperity to everyone within this state.

It's that New NASH

This great Nash 4-door Sedan is surprisingly priced at only $840 f.o.b. factory, standard equipment and Federal taxes included! "Weather Eye" Conditioned Air System for winter driving, white sidewall tires and rear wheel shields are optional at slight extra cost.

THAT LABOR BOARD AGAIN

The National Labor Relations Board directed the Fan Steel Company of North Chicago to reinstate certain employees who had participated violently in a sitdown strike and resisted for some time the taking over of its property by the company. The company had claimed these men had so far taken themselves without the confines of permissible action that its right to discharge them could not be questioned.

Upon review by the Circuit Court of Appeals the company was upheld and the labor board's order reversed. Now the labor board has appealed to the supreme court of the United States. The briefs it has filed in this and other cases show how contradictory are its own attitudes, how impossible it is to get along with men in a position of power who think along its lines.

The board is attempting to say that an employee may commit any misconduct he pleases and that it is nobody's concern whatever except the board's. Everyone knows of course that the Wagner Act is full of shark teeth to punish the employer if he, however faintly or unintentionally, brushes against or violates its provisions.

For an institution of government created for the purpose of participating in one of the functions of government to actually assert to the highest court in the land that employees may go on a rampage and actually destroy thousands of dollars worth of company property, as these Fan Steel employees did, and that the company would not only have to take them back but pay them for their time while they were committing sabotage will give the reader some idea of why there can be no compromise with the ideas that Mr. Lewis, with the aid of the President, has written into our statute books.

The labor board probably sees no inconsistency between its stand in the Fan Steel and the Republic Steel cases although in the latter it excepted from its order of reinstatement 11 men who had pleaded guilty in court to tossing dynamite during the disorders. To date it hasn't taken any specific stand on whether employees who use ordinary cartridges are entitled to its favor or not.

That the board has exceeded even the mistaken ideas upon which the Wagner Act was based we cannot doubt but when the country comes to consider the array of charges against this board it should reflect upon the fact that it has surrendered by its attitude even a faint claim to the impartiality with which it was supposed to have been endowed originally.

In addition, its construction of the act makes it impossible for an employer, however correct his position, to win any strike. The workers are right whatever they do; and the employer can do nothing, or if he tries to do anything the law whacks him down for even trying. Perhaps the board thinks this is a great feather in labor's cap but the board is composed of labor politicians who are sometimes greater burdens to labor than even crabby employers.

Not a single element of our population, labor included, will support such a law or such a construction. Everyone must realize that no industry could long stand on its feet under such bludgeoning.

ALL EYES ON BELOIT

The declaration of faith and purpose recently issued by Beloit College is an ornamental filigree of literary expression and sets apart those who composed it as most incisive thinkers.

Although it was published in the news it merits more than one publication. It declares:

- "In an attempt to purify the meaning and motives of Beloit college, and to make articulate the faith and purposes of her founders to which we of today subscribe, we do hereby authorize the following as a declaration of principles:
- "Tenet 1—A Christianity uncontrolled by nationalism or sectarianism.
- "Tenet 2—An integrity of purpose and performance steadfast against expediency or exploitation.
- "Tenet 3—A tolerance of spirit that will perpetuate freedom, whether of work, worship, speech, press, or academic research.
- "Tenet 4—A government by consent of the governed, constitutionally expressed."

Wisconsin is proud of Beloit as it is of its other so-called small colleges. We would be the last to detract from the honor due an institution that understands its purposes so thoroughly and lives them so constantly, but the truth is that all our small colleges think quickly and act clearly while the great universities generally think lazily and act turgidly.

The writer of the Beloit declaration did not waste a word in expressing the institution's purpose and beat around no mulberry bushes. The sentiment has characteristics of many expressions in the Declaration of Independence and other documents given birth when men thought profoundly.

"HIS SOUL GOES MARCHING ON"

The man who writes in the Forum tonight will be laughed at and scorned but there is something in his heart, however mistaken, that is colored with magnificence.

Sometimes there is a crack in Time itself. Great, massive pillars seem to tip or move.

Sometimes a man is moved to rebellion, whatever the odds and whatever the consequences.

He may be but a small town man, have been a good son and become a good father, tireless at plowing a field or painting a barn, adept at swapping stories and regular at attending church, just the sort of man who is not expected to protest but accept the law for the authority that it is, obey court orders without demur or hesitation.

But when the fire smoulders in that man's eyes, when his patience has gone and his toes have been walked upon until they are blue, a question arises, and questions are sometimes hard to answer.

A little wrong grows to a mountain. It becomes a throbbing pulse, a surf pounding ceaselessly upon the long strand. And under its influence the mild, kind, obedient man whose greatest flare may have been throwing horseshoes, may become fierce and terribly determined until he throws his body to block a machine that a million bodies could not withstand.

He may be but a tiny pebble washed back and forth by resistless tides. That was the opinion, too, of John Brown who attacked slavery with only 20 men and was executed two years before the Civil war broke for treason against Virginia and left this last written message:

"I, John Brown, am now quite certain that the crimes of this guilty land will never be purged away but with blood. I had vainly flattered myself that without very much bloodshed it might be done."

This was the man who told those who wished to save him from execution, "No, I am worth now infinitely more to die than to live."

The situations, we know, are vastly different but the spirit and principles are the same. Brown put Wrong before him and refused to call it Right because men made a law to that effect. He said to the court that sentenced him to die:

"I believe that to interfere as I have done in behalf of God's despised poor I did no wrong, but right. If it is deemed necessary that I should forfeit my life for the furtherance of the ends of justice and mingle my blood with the blood of millions in this slave country whose rights are disregarded by wicked, cruel and unjust enactments, I say, let it be done."

And night came and the land was bathed in blood!

There are some rights that seem basic and natural to men. It may be necessary to alter them. The public interest generally is the criterion. But the man who resists with implacable stubbornness must be reckoned with as something more than a mere case or a lawsuit, for he is a force.

Fairly and justly handled he is a force that may be put to good purpose. Otherwise he is like a bullet that ricochets and no one can tell what or where it will strike.

"There is a song in my bones.
Bind my white bones together—
Hollow them
To skeleton pipes of music.
When the wind
Blows from the budding sprouts.
The song will blow.
That is my song.
It is made of water and wind.

POTATOES FROM THE FARM

Because they drew their nourishment from the old spring of my content.
And grew in the warm friendly earth
Of the old farm that gave me birth.
I bear the sack with willing arm
That holds potatoes from the farm

Again I see the poplars lift
Their stately boughs to Heaven's gift
Of rain and sun. . . . The willows bend
Above the creek. . . . The maples blend
Their brown and crimson leaves above
The sunny meadows that I love.

In these potatoes I will taste
The mealy truths that ever spaced
The conversations at the board
Of simple folks who loved the Lord.
And thanked Him for our roof and food—
The humble ways we found so good!

HOW TO STOP HANDBOOKS

The Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission has undertaken an investigation of the dissemination of racing news and the activities of telephone companies therein. The commission intimates that the telephone companies may face cancellation of their certificates of public convenience and necessity unless they cease issuing their wires for the transmission of racing information used to facilitate illegal gambling. Communication systems are the backbone of the handbook racket that thrives throughout the nation and annually gyp the suckers to the tune of millions of dollars. So far the Federal Communications Commission has not seen fit to investigate the matter, but the action of the Pennsylvania Utility Commission points the way to effective action by individual states desirous of stamping out the organized larceny that masquerades as sport.

DALE HARRISON'S
In Old New York

New York—Murderers are Awful People:
The theft of police records from a Brooklyn police station—you read the front pages, too, I take it—was astonishing, but it might have been lots more fun if it had taken place at the Police Museum down on Broome Street. Instead of merely tearing arrest records out of a book, as he did in Brooklyn, the thief could have revived some choice horror by stealing some of murder's shivery-est objets d'art.

Collected together on the sixth floor of the Police Museum are Exhibits A from the most famous cases in police history. There is the torn scrap of a Pullman ticket. It doesn't look like much but it unfolds a bloody murder. It was taken from Judd Gray, the lover of Ruth Snyder and the sash-weight killer of her husband.

There are murder weapons taken from Gyp the Blood and Lefty Louie; brass knuckles that have bashed human faces in Bowery assaults and Hell's Kitchen riots; bombs that exploded and bombs that didn't; innocent lengths of wire that once were drawn tight about human necks when the stranger instead of the gunman was New York's major murder menace; and knives with the blood of murdered men dried upon their rusted blades.

But Knock On Wood:
Times have changed a lot since Repeal. Seven years ago it was no trick at all to get murdered. Racketeers ruled the liquor business. They even had their fingers in the tills of respectable small merchants.

For instance: I knew a man who did a big business in a speakeasy which specialized, oddly enough, in good food. One day a racket man walked in and said: "Beginning right now, you and I are partners—fifty-fifty. You continue as you have been, but once a week I'll be around for my cut. And by the way, I like your taste in automobiles. Give me the keys to your car. It's mine from now on."

He got away with it. The speakeasy owner had no recourse. He couldn't apply to police for protection because his business was illegal, and it would have been closed. If he had defied the racketeer, he would have been murdered.

Today the picture is prettier. That sort of racketeering has been destroyed. The killer gangs have been wiped out. There is no place on Manhattan that a citizen cannot walk with reasonable assurance he won't be tunked on the head. There is one exception; in certain sections of Harlem "reefer" smokers—users of marijuana—sometimes get "high" and go beserk.

Blood On 52nd Street:
There was an argument over a hat check. Men fought. Someone whipped out a knife, buried it in the body of another man. The sound of fleeing feet echoed on 52nd Street. The victim staggered, fell. Blood poured from his wound. Violence and murder had returned to the Midway of Midnight Mirth.

The following night a detective from the Broadway squad stops to chat. I inquire what effect the knife episode will have on 52nd Street.

"The order has been passed to screw down the lid," he said. "There is no excuse for knife fighting or gunplay anywhere in the White Light district. Those days are gone. If the owner can't keep order, we'll close 'em."

The block between Fifth and Sixth Avenues, where the knifing took place, has more night clubs, cafes and eating places—some with national reputations—than any similar area in the world. As a result of the knifing, proprietors of 52nd Street places have intensified their self-discipline. Most of 52nd Street between Fifth and Sixth Avenues used to be nested with speakeasies. Today the glorified cellars are ultra lawabiding. Law is a wonderful thing—when it is on your side.

Looking Backward
10 YEARS AGO
Monday, Nov. 5, 1928

By an overwhelming majority, John Catlin, son of Attorney and Mrs. Mark Catlin, Appleton, was elected 1930 junior pro chairman at the University of Wisconsin in the annual fall election.

Following a tryout period of more than a month, Ross Cannon, Appleton, had selected the staff for the 1930 Aerial at Lawrence college. Those chosen were Dorothy Dana, Genevieve Calnan, Ruth Parkinson, Elaine Ackerman, Helen Tadin, Mildred Hess, Irene Kennebrook, Aida Kennicot, Donald McMahon, Lois Kloehn, James Platt, Virginia Schumacher, Dorothy Walters, Robert Middleton, Paul Kozelka, Stanley Norton, Tad Meyer, Florence McGee, Walter Winslow, Alicia Kumpula, Carleton Roth, Mary Van Meter, Jack Willem, Vinton Jarrett, Charles Wolf, Lloyd Towle, Arnold Sieg, Helen Ziegler, Gwendolyn Vandawarka, Donald Christiansen, Mary Dunbar, Frank Granberg, Robert Eads, Ethel Radtke, Marie Dohr and James Stroebel.

A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, was to preside at the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Association of County Superintendents at Milwaukee that week. Mr. Meating was president of the association.

25 YEARS AGO
Monday, Nov. 10, 1913

At 20 minutes before midnight Saturday, the big hand on the clock over the Commercial bank entrance was pushed over the $100,000 mark and 2 Young Men's Christian association building for Appleton was made certain.

A most unusual feat in the construction line was accomplished the previous week by Martin Boldt, contractor, when part of the steeple was moved from the old Fifth ward chapel to the recently built new chapel without taking it to the ground. The distance between the two structures was 26 feet and all the work was done 40 feet in the air.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Whiting of Neenah were the guests of Dean Carter at Ormsby hall at Sunday dinner. A musical program was given in honor of the couple following the dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schultz and daughter of Bad Lands, S. D., arrived in the city Saturday to visit relatives.

A Bystander
In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER
Washington—Japan has bitten off a section of China containing half its population and most of its wealth.

The end result of that is as certain to realistic observers as the rising sun. Japan's share of the historic China trade will increase by leaps and bounds and the share of other nations will decrease in proportion.

The methods by which it will be brought about already are being demonstrated with such marked success that the state department, through Ambassador Grew, has protested. By one trade device or another American and other foreign merchants and business men have been frozen out of Manchoukio. Protests about that brought no result.

Business By Bayonets
The latest protest mentions what has happened in Manchoukio and cautions Japan against letting it happen in the rest of China. But the odds are, we get from more than one authentic source, that the results will be no better as far as American trade is concerned.

Japan is next door to China and is determined to dominate it as a trade zone. It has spent some two billion dollars or more in the 15 months' conquest. So far, reports from the "front" indicate, the net returns have been comparatively small because business does not thrive under the bayonet. But the methods Japan has adopted in the conquered territory cannot fail to destroy competition and leave virtually all export and import business in the hands of Japanese.

In his message to the Japan foreign minister, Ambassador Grew mentioned several devices. Foreign merchant ships are barred from operation on the lower Yangtze because of the "emergency." Japanese ships continue hauling goods up and down the river. But they refuse to haul American or other foreign goods.

In The Matter Of Shipping
Ambassador Grew does not mention it, but reports had reached here earlier that American and other foreign goods were left standing on the railroad platform while Japanese goods were routed ahead. That has worked so well that interior merchants, unable to be sure they will get American goods, now save themselves disappointment and delay by ordering Japanese goods. It does not take much of that to ruin foreign shippers.

The same processes will operate as effectively in the rest of China more recently brought under Japanese sway. If Japan had no other explanation ready, it could insist for several years that "emergency" conditions continue to exist. By that time other foreign business men in China would be ruined and the competition gone.

Reaches To Banking, Too
Japan has set up its own export banks in the conquered territory. American and other exporters have to allow these banks such wide discounts that they cannot make their trade profitable.

The Japanese operators are allowed to pay smaller discounts and get the business. That sort of thing Mr. Grew reports, already is going on.

Speaking for the United States government, Ambassador Grew has demanded that the "Open Door" of equal opportunity in China be preserved. If Japan refuses, will the United States go to war about it? Will we retaliate by putting up barriers against shipment of Japanese goods to this country?

The immediate answer to those questions are already written. What may happen in two years, five, or ten years, is yet to be written.

"OFF TO JAIL"

Editor, Post-Crescent—A. J. Follingstad, aged 58, was convicted for advertising as a "Master and Confidant" without a painter's license—but did not use the words "Master" or "Confidant" in his ad.

Mr. Follingstad is a law-abiding citizen; but opposed to the slave-driving tactics of labor leaders, codes and license racketeers. But he is a sympathetic friend to all union or non-union laborers. Labor needs Capital, and Capital needs Labor. Brotherly love and co-operation should govern both.

The license racket is the regimentary lasso used to round up and bring into line all persons who are opposed to joining a Union, and a whip-lash to keep Union workers from leaving the Union.

The racket fighting Follingstad must be convicted at any cost, and silenced for fear the License structure may break down. So the court-stage was set and the trial was called for October 14, 1938. To make the mock-trial more ridiculous, Follingstad called for a jury which the law allows, as he felt quite certain the cards were stacked against him, JURY OR NO JURY.

A jury of six business men were duly chosen. These men were all strangers to the defendant. They did their duty as well as most any six business men would have done in Eau Claire as there had been a hard pressed Union picket line working on a prominent food shop

TAKING STOCK AFTER THE COLLISION

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

FOLKS AND MEDICAL ETHICS

Last July a query from a reader prompted me to offer to pay for an answer, if one good enough to print were received, to the query: "How can I know a competent physician from a quack?"

The other day I printed here the winning answer, and presented the award ($25) to the reader who submitted the answer.

In many of the letters sent in by readers' misapprehensions were manifest. For instance, one reader thought that an honest doctor ought to guarantee his diagnosis and treatment to the extent of paying for consultation with another physician in order that the patient might have a suitable check etc.

What has become of that legend about the Chinese custom whereby the doctor receives a stipend as long as the patient remains well but pays thru the nose if the patient happens to fall ill? The postmark on this reader's letter was Boston, not Utopia.

Another contributor to the symposium thought that the quack in ethical clothing, the quack who still retains membership in the medical society, could be assayed by the layman by the fact that sooner or later he is called before the medical society to explain why he lost a in the Ninth Ward for several days previous to Follingstad's trial. So if the elusive and elastic license law could be stretched to Moscow and back, why free a penniless house-painter who seldom if ever spends a cent with the chosen jurors. But instead the jurors depend on the Union members, WPA workers, Pensioners, CCC families, Federal and State employees, and sympathizers of the government and license racketeers for most of their trade. Could they afford to decide against this army of customers for the sake of one rebellious painter, and take chances of having the Union-heat turned on them?

With the handwriting on the wall, the defendant only produced a small portion of the evidence he had at hand, and most of that was used in his plea to the audience, as he felt the jury was not interested in the case, as much as they were in the business.

The defendant called only the License sleuth who had him arrested to the stand. When the questions became too hot, the district attorney objected on the ground the defendant was impeaching his own witness. The prosecution objected most strenuously to a hard-boiled form letter written to the defendant by the Industrial Commission.

The introduction of the 1937 Wisconsin Blue Book was also objected to by the prosecutor for the statement on page 601, third paragraph, which reads in part: "This law (referring to the painters' license law) is non-compulsory."

The prosecutor also objected to the farce Follingstad was making out of the case. Follingstad thought the whole affair was a farce.

The defendant's open letters addressed to the Industrial Commission, dated June 30th and October 3rd, 1938, attacking the putrid License Law and the snooping inspectors were read into the record, and furnished a lot of amusement.

The defendant felt he had a lot of sport and experience with the ludicrous performance, so consented to close his case by addressing the jury about 15 minutes, and retired to his corner to wait for the verdict of GUILTY.

The cheap focus-pocus shell-game played by the Wisconsin Industrial Commission with its army of license sleuths, couched with a legislative background of the political yes-gang who passed this destructive legislation, and our present Governor who signed this loose-certain case . . . but, alas, no such inquiry ever occurs. A medical society may summon a physician before it only to defend himself against a formal charge of unethical or unprofessional conduct.

Still another contributor suggested that one should select only a physician who has shown himself competent in the past and acceptable by the standards of reliable, critical, intelligent patients. That is not a bad criterion, but it rather leaves the young physician out in the cold.

Another participant would rely mainly on the knowledge that the doctor in question never advertises. That is one good sign, of course, although a doctor may be an egregious quack yet never advertises in the ordinary sense of the word.

Several contestants pointed out the fact that a doctor of good standing does not insist on the patient patronizing a particular drug-gist nor have the name of a drug-gist on his prescription blank. Several others said that an honest doctor, if he wishes the patient to use some proprietary or "patent" medicine tells the patient the name of the medicine and lets him obtain it where he finds it. Instead of writing it in prescription form and making the patient pay an additional fee for the formality. That is the simple truth.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Embedded Wisdom Teeth
Your advice concerning embedded wisdom teeth. M. Told jaw too small to allow two lower wisdom teeth to come thru, hence will have to have teeth removed by operation to cost $50. Miss V. M.

Answer—Nearly half of all adults over 25 years of age fail to cut from one to all four third molars (wisdom teeth). Only occasionally does any trouble arise from the impacted, embedded unerupted root of such a tooth. Time to consider exhumation of the tooth when one suffers some trouble one's physician ascribes to the presence of the impacted tooth (which X-ray film reveals buried in jaw or under gum). As sensible for everybody to have his appendix removed at age 25 or 30, to prevent possible serious trouble, as to have anything done about unerupted molars for fear they may cause trouble later.

Soft-Hearted
What is meant by "soft heart" as indicated by excessive beating of leaf license law, should be beaten at the polls.

This Communistic and Fascist goose-step has destroyed the defendant's only source of income which he has enjoyed nearly 40 years—all because he would not bow the knee to the racketeering dictators; and he never will as long as blood trickles through his veins and as long as he is able to utter a sound; but he will fight for peace and liberty and Free America.

Instead of appealing the case to the Circuit Court, this lone painter decided to abide by the Bible ruling in I Corinthians 6-7, which reads, "Now there is utterly a fault among you, because ye go to law one with another. Why do ye not rather suffer yourself to be defrauded?"

This house painter is making a lone campaign without money, organization, or assistance from anyone except voluntary contributions and the income from the sale of his letters and pamphlets written by himself in order to help others to enjoy peace and happiness, and because he is being persecuted by an unjust law and a set of political gangsters under the Stars and Stripes in Free America.

A. J. FOLLINGSTAD, Eau Claire, Wis.

the heart on going up stairs etc? Mrs. L. G. C.

Answer—It means the heart muscle lacks "tone," resiliency, reserve power. One common cause of soft heart is nutritional deficiency—especially insufficient daily intake of vitamin B complex. Try supplementing your regular diet with optimal ration of vitamin B complex for a few months—not less than 1,200 international units vitamin B and the other factors of the complex every day.

NEW FUR SCENE SHIFTS

A South American cousin of the camel tribe is mixed in the shifting of fur markets in Europe. With London claiming to have taken the world fur market a w a y from Leipzig, Germany, and Paris declaring that it is now the favorite, both have had to admit that the guanaco is the popular new fur of the season. The guanaco lives mostly in Patagonia, where many ostriches are raised. It is a beautiful creature with a gracefully curved neck and long, slender legs. The fur is soft and fawn-colored. Paris is dying it to make it look like beaver, and London is leaving it natural, but both are watching New York, which is reported to be coloring it to resemble blue fox.

"Care should be taken to present programs which reflect as far as possible the life of Europeans of an exemplary type," he maintained.

Today and Tomorrow

BY WALTER LEPPMAN

Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Hull

Within the past week a situation has been developing in the Far East which may easily cause the American government acute embarrassment in the near future, and in the long run a serious danger. Three things have happened. In the face of the Japanese conquest of all the doors to China, we have reaffirmed our treaty right to the open door. The Japanese have replied by proclaiming the establishment of what is in effect a greater Japanese Empire. And in the house of Commons Mr. Chamberlain has in effect recognized this empire, and has expressed his desire to have British capital give "some help" in the reconstruction of China.

Thus we find ourselves at the moment opposed to Japan on a question of fundamental principle and diverging from Great Britain in theory and in practice. It will be prudent to take stock, and to make sure that we know what we are doing and that we have weighed the consequences.

Treaty Curbed U. S. Power to Intervene

In the year 1922 we convened an international conference in Washington at which two far-reaching agreements were arrived at. One was a pledge by nine powers, including Japan and China, Great Britain and America, to respect the territorial integrity of China and the open door. The other was an agreement limiting the size of the American Navy and the development of naval bases in the far Pacific to a point avowedly designed to make it impossible for the United States to wage war in Asiatic waters.

It was obvious at the time to many observers that the naval disarmament meant that China would have to defend herself if she were attacked by Japan, since neither Great Britain nor the United States could effectively intervene. Whatever rights we possessed under the nine-power treaty were in fact made unenforceable under the naval treaty.

Japan Broke Accord By Taking Manchuria

Nine years later, in September 1931, the radically new situation created in 1922, was put to the test. Japan invaded Manchuria; by this act she violated the territorial in-

Republicans Hold Rally at Waupaca

Murray and Roman are Principal Speakers At Meeting

Waupaca—Republicans held a rally Saturday evening at the Waupaca armory.

Dr. A. M. Christofferson was chairman of the meeting. District Attorney Paul E. Roman spoke on "What a Republican Really Means" and Reid Murray, candidate for congress, discussed "The Vital Issues of This Campaign." Also featured was "Reciprocity," famed Canadian steer which was imported recently. Mr. Murray has announced himself as "the cow man for congress," and, tying up his political campaign with Reciprocity, has traveled all over the district with the steer in his large cattle truck.

Declaring that "one out of every hundred cows in the United States is in this district and 90 per cent of farm income is from livestock and livestock products," Mr. Murray said that "while Rome is burning and Nero is fiddling, the farmers are losing their farms and professional politicians are fiddling around trying to perpetuate themselves into power."

Mr. Murray never before has been a candidate for office but he told the voters he had decided to run "to make sure there'd be a Republican on the ticket."

Hugo Murray, brother of Reid, and superintendent of traffic of the Milwaukee stockyards, former county agent in Adams county came to the support of his brother. He said "it's time to send some one to congress who can tell the difference between a bull and a bum steer."

District Attorney Paul Roman, who is a candidate for reelection, declared he represented the people, and not any particular municipality. He replied to criticism that he retained his residence at Manawa, instead of moving to the county seat.

Seated on the platform all the candidates for reelection from the courthouse. Mrs. Alice Larkee, register of deeds; Sheriff D. R. Campbell, L. J. Steiger, county clerk; Paul Ovrum, clerk of court, Dr. J. C. Johnson, coroner; L. J. Stadler, treasurer; Walter Hoyard, surveyor, and Alan Welch, chairman of the county Republican committee.

Dr. Christofferson paid tribute to Mrs. L. S. Peterson, member of the state central committee of the Republican party, for her work in the present campaign.

Election Issue Is Independence or Subservience

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—The bewildered voter stands ready to cast his ballot. Again he has been promised the moon. Again he has been told that virtue and honesty exist only in the political party which seeks his support.

Is there any objective way to look at the national election? This correspondent attempts analysis today, not on the basis of partisanship or conscious bias, but on the theory that when all is said and done, there must be some underlying idea which is so fundamental that the voter can measure his choices by the yardstick offered him.

Listening to the radio address of President Roosevelt the other night I felt a deep sympathy with his well-phrased and restrained statement. It seemed to me he was right when he asked the public to distinguish between liberals and conservatives, and yet the average voter could not so distinguish when being told by local machines that the Democratic party chieftain really wanted a vote for the straight Democratic ticket.

To me, the issue is only partly conservatism and liberalism. These two philosophies each have their merits and, were they the only thing at stake, it would not be hard to choose between them. But something bigger has arisen. Even Mr. Roosevelt is only vaguely aware of it, if indeed he is conscious of it at all. It is that a man of noble purposes like himself does not or cannot pick associates to carry out his program in the fair and square way it ought to be carried out.

Partly Right
When the president chides his opposition for saying they like his objectives but differ with him as to the manner of carrying out those objectives, he is only partly right in his sarcasm. There are, it should be admitted, Republicans who want to sabotage a liberal program, but the president does not know or cannot know that, in his own party, immediately surrounding him in the government, are appointees who are sabotaging liberal objectives under his very eyes.

Out of this misuse of power by subordinates, out of this arbitrary action and coercive tactics such as are being used this very day at South Bend, Indiana, by the so-called Department of Justice, comes the evidence of why it is important to rebuke any senator or representative who admits he is a "100 per center." By that is meant one who will vote for anything or everything the president wants and who will not exercise his independent judgment in protecting the people against abuse of power by a group of subordinates in Washington—the new Tories—whose philosophy of administration is that political might makes right, that honest success must be penalized and business impaired even if it creates more and more unemployment.

Law Enforcement
It would not be so bad if the Department of Justice enforced all the laws on the statute books and put in jail those who deserve to go there. But that department announces boldly its belief that citizens are guilty even though no defense has been presented on their behalf, and demands at the point of a gun, figuratively speaking, that the accused sign on the dotted line an agreement to refrain from doing things which admittedly no congress by law restrains them from doing.

But this episode is typical of why independent voting in congress is necessary. The presidency is too big a job to be administered by one man. Mr. Roosevelt cannot possibly have approved the tactics of virtual blackmail—for that's what they are—being adopted by some of his subordinates who sit in governmental departments exercising official power, not as trustees, but as zealots and coercionists. Nor would zeal to make new laws and rules for business in a governmental department rather than in congress be so difficult to check if the same department of justice enforced the laws already on the statute books.

The administration proclaims loudly against the Richard Whitney practices after he has gone to jail, having been put there by a Republican prosecutor who is running for governor of New York but not a word of condemnation nor an act of prosecution has taken place with respect to the federal corrupt practices act, which has been plainly violated by high Democratic officials here.

Solicited Funds
Even a state committee, this year composed of Democrats, has pointed out to violations of law in the solicitation of funds from government employees, but the Department of Justice has not acted.

These things happen because too many discretionary powers are vested in bureaucrats. Members of congress of the "rubber-stamp" variety allow themselves to be stampeded into giving to the president almost unlimited power of spending and wide discretion in exercising regulatory power. But the president himself doesn't exercise it and can't because the job is too big. Thereupon, subordinates who are not responsible to the electorate are the ones who abuse the power delegated carelessly by congress.

The only cure for this is an honest congress which will not "pass the buck," but will write the laws itself and specify to the citizen what can or cannot be done. It doesn't much matter whether the voter picks Republicans or Democrats tomorrow. The choice is no longer between parties, but between faithful public servants and those who take their $10,000 salaries under false pretenses. When a man agrees to accept any piece of legislation handed him by the White House, he is not representing the people of either his district or his state. So the issue is not Roosevelt or anti-Roosevelt. It is an issue between independence and subservience.

The American form of government depends for its effectiveness on the system of checks and balances. Congress checks the president, and the president, by veto power, checks the congress. But, in the making of laws to govern them, the people must exercise a check against the congress, and that's why it's important to pick and choose the independent candidates at the polls rather than to believe that God implanted virtue and fi-lity to the public interest in only one political party and in only one set of candidates.

Hadassah to Hear Reports On Convention

MRS. ABRAHAM SIGMAN, president of Appleton chapter of Hadassah, and Mrs. John Alpert, both of whom attended the national Hadassah convention in St. Louis, Mo., last week, will report on its sessions at a meeting of Appleton chapter at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon at Appleton Woman's club. Mrs. Stanley Hamilton will read a paper entitled "What the American Jewish Woman Can Do for Adult Jewish Education" by Dr. Mordecai Kaplan.

The meeting of Laetare Study circle scheduled for Wednesday has been postponed to a week from tomorrow. It will take place at the home of Mrs. Charles A. Green, Drew street, and Mrs. George Katoulas will be guest speaker.

The recently organized Appleton Women's chorus will meet at 7 o'clock Tuesday night at the First Methodist church for rehearsal. Although the meetings are being held for the time being at the church, the chorus is a civic, not a church organization. Any Appleton woman who is interested in applying for membership is welcome to come to the meeting tomorrow night, it was announced. Wilfred Harris is director of the group.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pierre, N. Rankin street, entertained their bridge club Saturday night, three tables being in play. Prizes were won by Myrion Seims and Mrs. Harvey Gygis, and guests were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Furminger. The next meeting will be in two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Edge, N. Morrison street.

Beta Phi Alpha alumnae will meet for a 6:30 dinner tonight at the home of Mrs. Roy Babcock, Neenah. Miss Ruth Commentz will be assistant hostess.

Sigma Alpha Iota alumnae will meet at 7:30 tonight at the home of Mrs. Mildred Boettcher, 532 N. Sampson street. Hostesses will be Miss Carolyn Boettcher and Mrs. Chriss Larsen.

When Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Clough, 1521 N. Erb street, entertained their bridge club Saturday night, Joseph Shields, Mrs. William Hornbeck and R. W. Shepherd won the prizes. The club will meet next Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Ole Jorgensen, Neenah, instead of in two weeks, because of the Wisconsin-Minnesota football game at Madison that day.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Miles, N. Appleton street, were host and hostess to their bridge club Sunday night at their home. Prizes were won by W. R. Monteith, Mrs. D. L. Christensen and Mrs. Monteith.

Lucille Newland, Matt Schaefer are Honored at Party

Miss Lucille Newland and Matt Schaefer, whose marriage will take place Nov. 12, were honored at a party given Saturday night at Sherwood by Mrs. Edward Probst, Neenah, and Mrs. Henry Schaefer, Sherwood. About 30 guests were present. Prizes at cards were won by Peter Schaefer and Robert Newland and at dice by Miss Pat Schaefer. The bride-to-be and her fiancé received a gift.

Last Tuesday night Miss Newland was honored at a linen shower and Halloween party given by Mrs. Carl Newland and Miss Julia Beson at Mrs. Newland's home in Menasha. There were 20 guests.

Twenty-five friends and relatives surprised Miss Irene Van Heuklon with a miscellaneous shower Sunday night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Van Heuklon, N. Bennett street. She will be married Nov. 26 to Carroll Lornson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lornson, 313 Broad street, Menasha. Schafkopf and dice were played last night, prizes at cards going to Mrs. Sidney Holcomb and Mrs. Eric Luebke and at dice to Mrs. William Van Heuklon and Miss Dorothy Engel.

Mrs. A. Wayne Turner, who lived in Appleton until recently, entertained at a luncheon and shower Saturday afternoon at her home in Sheboygan for Miss Elizabeth Shannon, whose marriage to Lieutenant H. J. Watkins will take place Nov. 19. Two parties planned for Miss Shannon this week are the dinner party at which Mrs. Harry Burton Kelloz, Neenah, will be hostess on Wednesday night, and that which Miss Lola Mae Zuelke will give the following night.

20 Couples Participate In 'Harvest Moon' Party

About 20 couples attended the "harvest moon" party given Saturday night by pledges of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity for members of the active chapter. Dancing, a balloon blowing contest and other entertainment was on the program. The decorations and refreshments were of the typical harvest variety, colored lamps, cornstalks and pumpkins for decoration and cider and doughnuts. Elwood Krueger, Appleton, assisted the pledges with arrangements for the party.

Hintz Renamed to Fellowship Office

At a state Pilgrim Fellowship conference at Milwaukee Friday, Harry Hintz, Appleton, was reelected secretary of the group. A delegation of young people from First Congregational church attended an interdenominational meeting at Racine over the weekend.

Pilgrim Fellowship met with the Teachers Training class Sunday night at the church and heard Dr. C. D. Flory, assistant professor of education at Lawrence college, speak on problems in child training.

The Rev. James C. Flint, student pastor at the University of Wisconsin, will conduct a game period and give a short talk at 7:30 Tuesday night at the church. Pilgrim Fellowship, D.E.E. club and Tuxis club of Memorial Presbyterian church will join for this meeting.

W.C.O.F. Will Hold Memorial Mass Tuesday

THE annual memorial mass for deceased members of Appleton chapter of Women's Catholic Order of Foresters will be held at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning at Sacred Heart church. All members of the court will attend.

Mrs. Anna Massonette is chairman of the committee in charge of an open card party to be sponsored by the court at 8 o'clock Wednesday night at Catholic home. The activity committee which is assisting her includes Mrs. August Arens, Mrs. Ambrose Weisgerber, Mrs. Henry Otto, Mrs. Ernest Mueller, Mrs. Howard Hodge, Mrs. Henry Tillman and Mrs. Peter Jones.

A chicken pie supper will be served by J. T. Reeve circle, Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, beginning at 5:30 Tuesday evening at Odd Fellow hall. Mrs. Walter Hoppe will be in charge of the dining room and the kitchen committee will include Mrs. Mary Poole, Mrs. George Jackson, and Mrs. Anna Henningsen.

The Rev. C. E. Vanden Borne, Kimberly, will be the speaker at a meeting of Catholic Order of Foresters at 8 o'clock Tuesday night at Catholic home. Election returns will be announced during the evening and a lunch will be served.

William Sullivan, Kaukauna, state deputy of Knights of Columbus, spoke on the aims and accomplishments of the order at breakfast meeting of Father Fitzmaurice council Sunday morning at Columbia hall. The council members received communion at the 8 o'clock mass at St. Mary church and the breakfast followed, wives of members serving. A memorial service for deceased members took place also. About 150 persons attended. Short talks were given by the Rev. William Grace, pastor of St. Mary church, and Robert M. Connelly, district deputy of the order.

The annual fall festival and supper for Father Fitzmaurice council members, their wives and friends will take place at 6:15 Tuesday night at Castle hall. The Rev. R. P. Wagner, O. Praem, West DePere, will be the speaker, and cards and games will be played.

Appleton Fans See Michigan U., Penn Game at Ann Arbor

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Dutcher, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Manier and Gene Dutcher returned Sunday night from Ann Arbor Mich., where they witnessed the Michigan-Pennsylvania football game Saturday in which John Dutcher played with the Pennsylvania team. The Appleton party was in Ann Arbor since Thursday.

Dr. M. N. Duxbury and his daughter, Virginia, Green Bay, and his son, Millard, Madison, spent yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Elias, E. Washington street. Millard, a student at the University of Wisconsin, spent last summer in Europe.

Milwaukee Guests are Entertained at Party

Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Mohrbacher, Milwaukee who were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Krabbe, 412 W. Fifth street, were honored at a party given by the Krabbe's Saturday night which was also in celebration of the latter couple's second wedding anniversary. Bridge prizes were awarded to Mrs. Harry B. Leith and Leslie Krabbe. Twelve guests were present. Mrs. Mohrbacher was formerly Miss Marie Johnson, a graduate of Lawrence college with the class of 1932.

MANAWA PAIR WED 50 YEARS

Married 50 years ago at Weyauwega, Mr. and Mrs. Aiken Haight of Manawa, above, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sunday. Although theirs is a large family, 10 children and 21 grandchildren, there have been no deaths in the group. All their children and grandchildren were present at the celebration yesterday.

Cowells, Married Saturday, Will Make Home in Chicago

AFTER a short honeymoon in Minneapolis, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cowell, who were married at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon at First Methodist church, Frederic, Wis., will be at home at 720 Bromption Place, Chicago. The bride is the former Miss Doris Chandler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Chandler, 735 Appleton road, Menasha, and Mr. Cowell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Cowell, St. Paul, Minn.

Miss Phyllis Chandler was her sister's only attendant, and Lyndon Cowell, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Roger Cowell, another brother, and Dwight Chandler, brother of the bride, were ushers. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Gomer E. Finch.

A reception at the parish hall for about 100 guests followed the marriage service. Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of the University of Minnesota, where Mr. Cowell became a member of Sigma Delta Chi fraternity and Miss Chandler of Theta Sigma Phi sorority. He is now a member of the editorial staff of the Illinois Bell Telephone company. His bride was employed at the Banta Publishing company, Menasha.

Marriage Plans of Jean Kirsling are Revealed at Party

The approaching marriage of Miss Jean Kirsling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Kirsling, Waupaca, and Bernard Meidam, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Meidam, New London, was revealed at a coin shower and party in honor of the bride-to-be at the home of Mrs. Meidam Friday night. Jan. 14 has been set as the date for the wedding.

A mock wedding featured the party Friday night at which 40 guests were entertained. The bride-elect's mother was the only out-of-town guest.

Making up the mock ceremony were Mrs. John Knapstein as the preacher, Mrs. M. H. McDonnell as the bride, Mrs. Walter Smith, the bridegroom; Mrs. L. J. Polaski maid of honor; Mrs. John Eggers, ringbearer. Attendants were Mrs. James Bodoh, Mrs. Peter Schruh, Mrs. Henry Pekel and Mrs. John Yost. Mrs. Harvey Greenlaw acted as usher.

Cards were played and prizes at five hundred were won by Mrs. E. G. Jagoditch and Mrs. Frank Alen. Mrs. J. J. Kircher received the guest prize. Mrs. Kirsling plans another party for her daughter at her home at Waupaca this evening.

Presbyterian Guild Will Hold Bazaar

THE Presbyterian Guild will sponsor its annual bazaar Wednesday afternoon and evening at Memorial Presbyterian church. A chicken pie supper, open to the public, will be served from 5 to 7 o'clock that evening. Mrs. Lloyd Hartwig and Mrs. W. B. Thompson, general chairmen of the event, are being assisted by a corps of sub-committees. Saturday night a group of the workers assembled at Mrs. Wilmer Rehbein's home, 500 E. Grant street, to make taffy which will be sold in the home-made candy booth.

Mrs. S. C. Shannon, Mrs. H. M. Marty, Miss Adeline VanCaster and Mrs. A. W. Miller will be in charge of the dining room; Mrs. Alex Pierre and Mrs. E. A. Kottke, of the booths; Mrs. William Rollinson, Mrs. Ward Swartz and Mrs. H. K. Perry, of the tickets; Mrs. H. K. Pratt and Mrs. W. S. Mason, the fish pond; and Miss Dorothy Schenck, the candy. Mrs. William Farnum is publicity chairman.

Senior Catholic Youth Organization of St. Mary church will hear an address by Dr. Walter S. Giffin, Appleton physician, at 8:15 Tuesday night at Columbia hall. The meeting will be held Tuesday instead of Thursday because of conflicting activities.

A group of Appleton people attended the Reformation service sponsored by Lutheran churches of Milwaukee Sunday afternoon in the Milwaukee Auditorium at which 6,000 persons were present. A chorus of 600 voices under the direction of Carl Markworth sang selections, and the Concordia Teachers college symphony band of River Forest, Ill., played the accompaniment. The speaker was the Rev. J. W. Behnken, D. D., president of the Missouri synod, whose subject was "The Eternal Beacon for This Storm-Tossed Age." The Appleton delegation included Louis W. Waltman, Jr., the Misses Ella and Emma Waltman, Mrs. Walter Melzer, John Melzer and Miss Minnie Radder.

John Yonan will speak on Persia at the supper meeting of C. Y. W. of First Congregational church at 6:15 Tuesday night at the church.

Janette Serrec Will Offer Lessons in Charm at Four Evening Sessions Next Week

JANETTE Serrec, who contends that any woman can build for herself radiant charm by first acquainting herself with the right methods and then applying them conscientiously, will be here next week to tell the women of this community what those methods are.

Under the auspices of the Appleton Post-Crescent, Miss Serrec will conduct her charm school the evenings of Nov. 14, 15, 16 and 17 at Castle hall. Her lectures last year drew capacity crowds, and this year she brings a store of exciting new material on every phase of personality development.

Conducting a school that is both instructive and entertaining, Miss Serrec will cover completely the subject of self-improvement, including such subjects as weight reduction, poise, overcoming timidity and how to be interesting to other people.

She spent two months in Mexico this summer and will wear a lovely shawl she purchased there at one of her charm school sessions.

Miss Serrec, who holds an M. A. degree from Texas Christian college, Ft. Worth, Texas, has spoken to more than half a million women during the last 12 years on the subject of charm. Her column, "Choose to be Charming," is running daily in the society section of this paper.

50 Women at Dinner For Governor's Wife

Mrs. Philip F. LaFollette, wife of the governor of Wisconsin, was honored at a dinner Saturday night at Heartstone tea room which was attended by over 50 women. Other guests of honor were Mrs. Robert M. LaFollette, Mrs. William Walton and Mrs. Grant Hass, all of Madison. The dinner preceded a talk which the governor's wife gave at Eagle hall, under the auspices of Progressive women, and Mrs. R. H. Kubitz was chairman of arrangements for the dinner.

Campion Mothers to Arrange for Lecture

Final arrangements for the dramatic lecture on the history of the mass which the Rev. Gerard Hesse, O. M. Choose to Be Charming

BY JANETTE SERREC
Copyright, 1938, by Janette Serrec

(This is the fourth of a series of articles by Miss Serrec, who will conduct the second annual Post-Crescent Charm School at Castle hall on Nov. 14, 15, 16 and 17.)

Long before the days of double-breasted tweeds and taffeta trains, woman learned that Dame Fashion was her friend.

Eve probably kept an ear cocked for rumors about what was new in fig leaves, and all her sister Eves no doubt vied with each other to have the smartest variety worn at the most becoming angle.

Crinolines and bustles had their day and went their way, as women accepted the code and discarded it when it was no longer smart. So on down to our own generation of acetates and sequins, or what's the last word.

Dame Fashion, flighty and erratic old girl that she is, is one of the staunchest friends a woman has. Eve knew it, and so did Lady Agatha Vere de Vere.

Eve and Lady Agatha and Susie are smart girls. They know it helps them succeed, whether their goal is professional, social, or matrimonial, if they are abreast of the mode.

Style, as any woman knows, is part of charm. But what every woman does not know is that merely buying a smart dress in a smart dress shop does not necessarily insure charm.

It is absolutely necessary to adapt current fashions to individual needs. "Short skirt," for example, will not mean the same thing for the tall thin woman, the short wide woman, the woman of twenty, the woman of sixty. Adaptations will be made to the individual requirements of each.

There is the matter of hats. Whether her neck is short and thick or long and skinny, whether her shoulders are square or sloping, whether her face is narrow or broad, whether her nose turns up or down, whether she is cute or pretty, whether or not she wears spectacles, these will all enter into the smart woman's decision as to just which adaptation of the current mode will be right for her.

There's another thing, too. It's a matter of making clothes expressive of personality. It's pretty subtle, but steel smooth modes are more like some people than ruffy things, and those people simply shouldn't wear ruffy things, nor should ruffy people wear the smooth severe things. Haven't you seen people wearing clothes that didn't seem to belong to them? That's what I mean.

Instruments From 17th Century Will Be Used in Concert

Music of the great masters of the past will be played on instruments of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries by the Cologne Chamber Music trio which will appear at 8:30 Thursday evening at Lawrence Conservatory of Music. The concert is being sponsored in Appleton by the American-German club, and proceeds will be turned over to the scholarship fund of Sigma Alpha Iota, national music sorority of Lawrence college.

The trio has received fine newspaper notices wherever it has played. The Manchester Guardian of England which enjoys a reputation for having discrimination in artistic matters lauded the artists, and the Daily Telegraph and Times of London have recorded their splendid qualities. The instruments which the artists play are harpsichord, viola da gamba and transverse flute.

Chapple Asks Warrant Against Newspaper Man

Milwaukee —(AP)— John B. Chapple, independent Republican candidate for the United States senate, said today he had promised to turn over to Assistant Attorney George Bowman additional evidence to support his request for a warrant against a Milwaukee newspaper man.

Chapple previously had requested such a warrant under the state election bribery statute charging the newspaper man as an "accessory after the fact," but Bowman refused, asserting there was no evidence to justify issuance of such a warrant.

After conferring with Chapple again today, Bowman said there still was no evidence sufficient to justify a warrant.

Bowman said no action would be taken until after election on Chapple's request for warrants against Julius Heil, Republican nominee for governor, and Walter Wilde, Heil's campaign manager, under the bribery statute.

Resume Public School Classes After Recess

Classes for about 4,000 Appleton public school pupils were resumed this morning after a 2-day vacation because of the annual convention of the Wisconsin Education association at Milwaukee Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Teachers returned from the convention Sunday.

'The General's Lady' Is New Version of 'Scarlet Letter'

By Jean Wiley Thickens

"THE GENERAL'S LADY," by Esther Forbes.

A more modern version of Nathaniel Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter" is Esther Forbes' latest novel, "The General's Lady." Miss Forbes won her literary spurs last year with the publication of "Paradise." This second novel has added glamor to her reputation. It is obvious that the author has steeped herself in a knowledge of the political, social and historical aspects of the Revolutionary war period. This familiarity with the real facts of those far-distant days makes her story more convincing and gives an authenticity to the plot which a less thorough grasp of the subject would fail to do. And Miss Forbes' style is the simple, narrative mode of expression which most closely resembles Hawthorne's. Her chief characters too have the same forceful realism.

Hester Prynne, Hawthorne's immortal heroine, lived her sad and martyred existence during the early days of the Massachusetts Bay colony when the settlers were riddled with intolerance, superstition and religious fanaticism; when witch burning was a common practice and the code of morals was so strict that a man kissed his wife on Sundays only under pain of severe punishment by the Puritan elders of the village. A century later Miss Forbes' heroine had to add murder to the sin of Hester Prynne, before the local authorities took cognizance of the affair and stepped in to administer justice. In those 100 years the morals of the wealthy Tory settlers had become so lax that the love affair between General Milroy's lady and a fugitive British officer more than 10 years her junior, was merely the occasion for grins and sniggers behind dirty hands, when the villagers learned of the liaison.

Violent Flirtation

"The General's Lady" tells the story of Morganna Milroy, beautiful, haughty, and intolerant, who as Morganna Bale of Boston, had married the American officer, General Milroy, in order to save her vast Tory fortune from confiscation by the Continental congress. Immediately following the wedding ceremony General Milroy, a hale and hearty gentleman 20 years his bride's senior, had marched away to fight the British, leaving Morganna to administer his vast estates and to conduct undisturbed a violent flirtation with the fugitive British officer who had deserted his regiment to remain in hiding on her estate.

When General Milroy returned victorious from the war and discovered his wife's guilty secret, like her predecessor Hester Prynne, Morganna willingly sacrificed her reputation and eventually her life, in a vain effort to shield her lover.

Though the famous trial which convicted the lovers was conducted 160 years ago it has the vitality of a contemporary newspaper account. Miss Forbes possesses the enviable ability to make history read like the most fascinating fiction. In this novel she has skillfully blended the two elements into a most convincing whole. The Revolutionary war lives again in the amazing love story of Morganna Milroy and Allan Brann.

FACULTY MEETING

The Appleton High school faculty will meet at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the high school. Plans for the formal dedication of the new senior high school will be discussed. H. H. Heible, principal, will preside.

To Relieve BABY'S HEAD COLD

DO THIS: Massage his throat, chest, and back with Vicks VapoRub and tuck him into bed. Next, put a spoonful of VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water; place a newspaper or sheet over the child's head like a tent, covering the bowl too, so the medicated vapors can be inhaled for several minutes. This treatment loosens phlegm—clears air-passages—checks tendency to cough—relieves local congestion. Long after he relaxes into peaceful sleep, VapoRub's poultice-and-vapor action is still bringing relief—and you can get a good night's rest too.

Civic League of Decency Formed

Group Is Organized to Fight Salacious Literature

Eighty delegates representing 50 Appleton organizations met yesterday afternoon at the Appleton Y.M.C.A. to organize the Appleton Civic League of Decency.

The purpose of the organization as stated at yesterday's meeting is to fight against the distribution of salacious literature. The league has a list of 180 objectionable and illegal magazines.

The league elected seven directors who in turn named officers of the new organization. They are Joseph A. Weber, president; George F. Werner, vice president; Herman J. Giesbers, secretary; and Mrs. L. J. Marshall, John Trautmann and G. D. Ziegler.

Werner opened the meeting yesterday, outlining purposes of the group and relating the background of events leading up to its formation. Other speakers were Weber, Captain T. A. Raber, and the Rev. Cyprian Abler, Om. Cap.

Peter Bootz, Jr., 1319 N. Alvin street, this morning was given a permit by the city building inspector to remodel his garage. Cost of the work is estimated at $50.

An estimated $1,500 will be spent by Edward Calmes, 738 E. Summer street, to build a warehouse of steel at 736 E. Summer street.

It Is Said--

That Harry Kotz, 802 E. North street, and Park Bruvette, 517 N. Durkee street, are going to take a compass along the next time they go hunting. This decision was reached yesterday after they were lost for about four hours in the woods near Iola. The pair walked about five miles and finally came out of the woods on the opposite side from which they had entered. Tired, wet and hungry, they asked the help of a farmer who drove them about 75 miles over roads in an attempt to find their car and the rest of the party. In the meantime Holly Whitman, Kaukauna, Jack Zuelzke and Gordon Schuch, Houtzville, and Alfred Klein, Appleton, the other hunters, were on the hunt for the missing pair. About 9 o'clock last night the groups found each other at Iola. grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wohlrabe, town of Union, Waupaca county; and Mrs. William Hillier, Keego Harbor, Mich.

Fatal services will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Methodist Episcopal church with the Rev. Lowell Reykdal in charge. Burial will be in the parish cemetery.

Vincent Rodenkirch, 21, Morton Grove, Ill., received a severe cut over an eye and other cuts and bruises when he lost control of his car and it tipped over on Highway 45 a fourth of a mile south of Leppia's Corners about 10 o'clock Saturday night, according to Jack Frenzl, county traffic officer who investigated. The machine was resting on the driver's back and neck and Fred Arndt, route 1, Dale, with some friends removed the machine when they came upon the scene just after the accident.

Herman Ehke, 71, 227 E. Winnebago street, employee of the city street department, was bruised in an accident involving a car driven by Henry Rusch, route 1, Appleton, on College avenue at 8:35 this morning.

Ehke was pushing his street rubbish cart east and Rusch was going in the same direction and started to make a right turn when the accident occurred, according to police.

Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Derus, 214 E. Eighth street, Kaukauna, were cut and bruised about the face when their car and another driven by Wilfred Vanevenhoven, Harrison street, Kaukauna, collided early Sunday morning at the Draper and Gertrude street intersection. Kaukauna, Derus was going north on Draper and Vanevenhoven east on Gertrude when the accident occurred, according to Kaukauna police. The Derus machine swerved into a telephone post and was almost demolished.

Auto-Train Crash

Philip Pozniak, 27, 924 E. Pacific street, suffered a hip injury and bruises when his car was in an accident involving a Chicago and North Western passenger train at the Superior street crossing about 1:45 Sunday afternoon. Pozniak stopped his car near the tracks and started again south when the accident occurred, according to police. The train was going north. Pozniak was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital.

Cars driven by James W. Garvey, 53, 321 S. Memorial drive, and Miss Georgiana Stoen, route 3, Appleton, were involved in a minor collision shortly before noon Saturday. Garvey was backing from the curbing on College avenue and Miss Stoen was going east when the machines collided, according to police.

Minor Collision

Two cars were damaged in a somewhat similar accident on Morrison street at 11:45 Saturday morning. William Madison, 218 E. Washington street, was going north and a second machine was pulling away from the curbing when the cars collided, according to police. The driver of the second car is unknown but police records show it had a license issued to John P. Heder, Hartford.

A cow, owned by Otis Keyser, route 2, Shiocton, had to be destroyed after it was struck by a car operated by an unidentified driver on Highway 54 two miles west of Shiocton early yesterday morning.

Cars driven by Steve Branch, 38, route 3, Menasha, and Clarence Moritz, 32, Omro, were damaged in a collision about 2:30 this morning on Winnebago County Trunk A in the town of Neenah. Branch was going north and Moritz south when the collision occurred. Moritz was charged with drunken

5,000 Visit Food Show Here Sunday

United Grocers Firm Host At Event in New Warehouse

The United Grocers Cooperative, Inc., played host to about 5,000 people at the opening of its 3-day food show and open house in the new warehouse at 1117 W. Washington street yesterday afternoon. It was one of the largest crowds ever to attend such an event in the city.

The people inspected the food displays in the 30 booths, listened to and watched the demonstrations on preparation of various dishes, and took samples home with them. The show will continue tonight and tomorrow night, the hours being from 7 o'clock to 10:30.

More than 100 different foods are being exhibited and an orchestra is entertaining during the show. It was announced today that 75 baskets of food will be given away during the two remaining evenings. A gift of $15 worth of groceries will be made tonight and one of $25 tomorrow evening.

driving when he appeared in municipal court at Oshkosh this morning. He pleaded not guilty and trial was set for this afternoon by Judge S. J. Luchsinger.

Other Wisconsin Deaths

Twelve other persons met violent death in Wisconsin during the weekend, 10 of them in traffic accidents. Two lives were taken by fires. One upper Michigan traffic death also was reported.

The dead:

Richard Walker, 5, Lancaster.

Mrs. Catherine Welch, 79, Petersburg.

Gedfried Komro, 75, Colburn township, Chippewa county.

John Hagen, 59, Milwaukee.

Louis Messerschmidt, 71, route 3, Madison.

George Dyke, 21, Milwaukee.

Frank M. Dief, 77, Superior.

James McMullen, 45, Gray's Lake, Ill.

Harold Spindler, 26, Kiel.

Jacob Ostrander, 52, Boscobel.

Robert Raether, 84, Milwaukee.

Carl Green, 59, Racine.

Henry McAllen, 32, Sagola, Mich.

McAllen was killed Sunday night near the Racine county line when his car left the road on a curve and struck a tree. He was riding alone.

Fatally Wounded

Spindler, bound for duck hunting grounds in a motorboat Sunday, picked up his shotgun and it accidentally discharged. He died from loss of blood after his companions, Frederick Stoelting and Arno Ruh, took him to a Plymouth hospital.

Ostrander died in a Boscobel hospital five hours after his son, Harold, reported he had been struck by a hit-and-run driver while the two were walking early Sunday.

Dr. Emmett Ackerman, Crawford county coroner, said an investigation would be held Monday or Tuesday.

The body of Raether, apparent hit-and-run victim, was found early Saturday on the outskirts of Milwaukee. Green, a foundry worker, was killed Saturday when struck by a truck driven by a youth of 16.

McAllen, a WPA worker, was killed early Sunday in a head-on collision on U. S. Highway 2, near Iron River, Mich. Nine were taken to hospitals when two other cars collided at the accident scene. McAllen was the father of three small children.

Messerschmidt died Sunday of injuries sustained when his car collided with another machine on the Verona road near Madison as he was making a turn.

Car Hits Culvert

Dyke, a student at the University of Wisconsin, was killed about 1 a. m. today when a car in which he was riding with two other students, Grant Erwin of Wauwatosa and Richard A. Carter, of Madison, missed a turn in the village of Middleton and struck a culvert. The machine tipped over and Dyke was pinned beneath it. Erwin was driving.

The Walker boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walker, suffocated Saturday night when their home at Lancaster burned after a fuel tank of their oil stove exploded.

Mrs. Welch died when her farm home, near Petersburg in Crawford county burned Saturday. The blaze, of undetermined origin, was not discovered until part of the roof caved in.

Heavy rain in Chippewa county led to Komro's death. He drowned Saturday when a motorboat box being used as a boat sunk while he was propelling it across a pool caused by rain.

Hagen was injured fatally Sunday night when he was struck by an automobile at a street corner.

Braff died early today in a local hospital of injuries received when he was struck by a car driven by George Richards, Superior, while crossing a street.

RECEIVE BIDS

Sealed bids on a carload of gasoline will be received by the city up to 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in city hall. The gasoline will be purchased for use by the street department.

Lawrence Students Take Over Campus, Skip Morning Classes To Celebrate Team's Victory

While the season's first snowfall drifted down on the campus, joyous Lawrence students sidestepped the classroom door this morning and rushed into the old Alexander gymnasium to celebrate their football team's first undisputed Midwest conference title, an honor which the Vikings gained with their 13-7 win over Beloit Saturday.

Lawrence college has probably never seen a gayer and more enthusiastic band of students, professors, and football players than the one which stormed the old gym this morning. If there are a few rafterers loose in the building, if the walls have slight swelling, and if the bass drum player in the pep band shoved his war club through the drum head, just remember that it was because a gallant squad of Vikings won a championship.

Just how they won still puzzles Coach Bernie Heselton, for he told the assembly that very thing this morning—pointing to the superior material possessed by almost every club Lawrence faced during the season—and said: "I like to think of our squad as pioneers. I think it's going to be a lot easier to go out for football from now on at Lawrence college."

Sentiment, Too

There was noise and tumult and happy confusion at moments during the big pep session, attended by just about every student who goes to Lawrence, but there were also times when the loud rejoicing paused and the collegians couldn't help but be just a little sentimental about the whole thing.

There was an ending to the rally that touched the hearts of those present. It came when co-captain Joe Maertzel, who played under Coach Heselton in high school, walked to the front of the balcony to speak. He talked of the players' exultation over their almost miraculous conquest of five Midwest teams, of the spirit that kept the squad rolling over bigger and heavier competitors. Now and then he hesitated to turn back a gulp—and when he turned and presented the football used in the Beloit game to Coach Heselton, there was general gulping all over the place and then a deafening ovation shook the old gym and re-echoed across the campus.

President Thomas N. Barrows was the first to speak. He told the students: "I don't know when we'll see a greater team. Not great in manpower and in its collection of stars, but in sheer guts and fight. With the exception of the Northwestern game, I think every opponent had better material—and I don't believe our boys will feel I'm belittling them. The team has done more than win a championship. It has brought out the pep and enthusiasm which has been latent on this campus."

5 Miracles

Describing, in humorous vein, the 93-yard run in the Beloit game in which Novakofski raced 40 yards then laterally to Bussing, who romped the rest of the way, President Barrow remarked: "I think the team pulled five miracles. I don't know how they did it."

A. C. Denney, head of the physical education department, told the students that "you can now go out and refute the saying that 'It can't happen here.'"

After each man finished speaking, the students clapped loud and long and the members of the pep band demonstrated the ability of their various instruments for producing just plain noise. When Heselton got up to speak, the applause was terrific.

"I hope all that noise is for me and not for the vacation," the pep

No Classes

The rousing pep session climaxed a morning of gay celebration over the Vikings' championship season. When students came to their 8 o'clock classes, they found friendly picketing in progress. The pickets centered their attention on the foyer of Main hall, kidding those who were determined to get to class and trying to discourage a few by blocking their passage down the hall or upstairs.

The collegians stood around laughing and joking, singing songs, and looking into empty classrooms while professors waited in vain for a quorum.

By the time the 9 o'clock classes were ready to start, the pickets had little work to do, for the whole school was pretty much in sympathy with the spirit of it all. It was Students' day at Lawrence college.

HEALTH QUERIES ANSWERED

Question: Why do all people have colds in changeable weather? Please explain through your column. Mr. L. J.

Answer: However all people do not have colds. Thousands upon thousands go forth from overheated homes and offices without having colds. There must be a fertile field within every individual who cannot adapt themselves to changeable environmental conditions. This holds true with all disease. Normal resistance within each individual is what we all have to strive for. All schools of doctors agree upon this question. The question, however, arises where does the resistance come from and what is it? Chiropractic, the twentieth century healing science, teaches that structures of the body are not normal when something interferes with the supply of mental impulses or life force from brain to body. Such interference does occur as a result of vertebral misplacement in the cervical region of the spine. Scientific instruments prove that there is a continuity, function, life, between brain, which is constant, and body organs being variable due to this interference in the spine, thereby predisposing the body to disease as a result of this interference. The principle and practice of Chiropractic are simple in the same sense that all great fundamental truths are simple to the informed mind. Think and reason this proposition in your own mind. A periodic examination of your spine is the best kind of health insurance. For Chiropractic adds years to life and life to years. For your health apply. Phone 4318IV.

Governor's Wife Discusses WDA

Says It Means Development of Fox River in Talk at Eagles Hall

"The Fox river is the greatest natural resource in possession of the state, and three attempts of Governor LaFollette to develop and exploit it were thwarted until the supreme court upheld the WDA," Mrs. Philip LaFollette, wife of the governor, who is a candidate for reelection on the Progressive ticket, said in a talk at Eagles hall Saturday night.

"The plan has passed the realm of possibility and is almost a certainty. The purpose of the plan is to develop cheap and abundant power to control the level of Lake Winnebago and the Fox river and to increase electric power."

Mrs. LaFollette warned that failure of people to exercise their right to vote means destruction of the cornerstone of democracy and the foundation of dictatorship such as is now found in Europe.

Mrs. Esther Haas, Madison, chief of the women's division of the Progressive National party, entertained with a puppet show in which the Republican party was criticized.

Clarence, Center; two brothers, Frank, Center, and Louis, Appleton; three sisters, Mrs. William Schmitz, Shawano; Mrs. Louis Reinke and Mrs. Ben Kiefer, both of Appleton; two grandchildren.

The funeral will be held at 1:30 Thursday afternoon at the residence and at 2 o'clock at Ellington Lutheran church with the Rev. E. Redlin in charge. The body will be at the residence from Tuesday evening to the hour of services.

ALBERT F. JAHNKE

Albert F. Jahnke, 81, town of Freedom, died at 9 o'clock Saturday evening after a brief illness.

Born in Milwaukee county Sept. 15, 1857, he came to the town of Freedom when he was eight years old. He was a member and trustee of St. Peter's Lutheran church.

Survivors are one daughter, Mrs. Emil Uhlenbruch, Freedom; four sons, Otto, August, Appleton; William and Edwin, Freedom; one sister, Mrs. Emil Schmidt, Appleton; 17 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon at the residence and at 2 o'clock at St. Peter's Lutheran church, with the Rev. T. Brenner in charge. Burial will be in the parish cemetery. The body will be at Brettschneider's funeral home from this evening until tomorrow afternoon when it will be taken to the residence.

Section No. 3 of Holy Name Union To Meet Thursday

65 Delegates, Officers, Directors Expected at New London

New London—About 65 delegates, officers and spiritual directors of Holy Name societies in Section 3 of the Green Bay Diocesan Holy Name union are expected to attend a sectional meeting at the parish hall of the Most Precious Blood church here Thursday evening, according to H. J. McDaniel, vice president in charge of the district.

The purpose of the meeting is to plan a sectional rally of Holy Name societies for next year as planned at the diocesan convention here last May. The smaller rallies will alternate with diocesan rallies, the larger meeting to be held at Manitowish in 1940.

Also expected at the meeting are Dr. George T. Hegner of Appleton, president of the diocesan union, and the Rev. Martin H. Vosbeck, Green Bay, diocesan spiritual director.

The section comprises the four counties of Shawano, Portage, Waushara and Waupaca. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 Thursday evening.

Johnson Cagers Lose First Game

Drop 14-12 Decision to Tigerton; Will Play Shiocton Sunday

New London—Johnson's Service cagers fouled too often and lost their first basketball tilt to a Tigerton team, 14 to 12, at Labor hall yesterday afternoon. The New London quint led 11 to 12 for the first time with only two minutes to go when the invaders tallied on a free throw and dumped a hurried bucket. Ed Komp led the New London scoring with two baskets.

The Service squad will tangle with Shiocton next Sunday. The girls' preliminary game which was scheduled yesterday was canceled when the Berlin team failed to make an appearance.

Catholics are Given Banquet Dispensation

New London—A special dispensation will allow Catholics to partake of meat at the annual Armistice Day dinner at the American Legion at the clubhouse Friday evening, it was announced yesterday by the Rev. Raymond J. Fox, pastor of the Most Precious Blood church. The dispensation was granted by the Most Rev. Bishop Paul Peter Rhode of Green Bay for the annual occasion.

Man Struck by Cable Is Reported Improving

New London—The condition of Elwood Brewer, 43, route 1, New London, who was seriously injured when struck by a snapping steel cable at Mosquito Hill Friday, was reported improved at Community hospital yesterday by the attending physician. Brewer received grave internal injuries when a cable broke while he was watching men improve the ski slide with a cable operated shovel.

Antique Seekers Disappointed In Quest at New London Home

New London—Many antique seekers from all over the state have been greatly disappointed through false rumors in their quest for articles at the home of Mrs. E. H. Ramm, 503 Dorset street, which has remained furnished and unoccupied since two years ago when Mrs. Ramm left to live at Fond du Lac at the Hotel Retlaw, relatives revealed last week.

Choice pieces of modern furniture were shipped Saturday to their home at Washington, D. C., by Colonel and Mrs. W. B. Wallace who visited the home last week. Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. D. V. Meiklejohn of Fond du Lac are daughters. Other valuable furniture was moved to Fond du Lac several weeks ago and the large home will remain closed for the present.

Mrs. George Polzin and children visited relatives at Marinette from Wednesday to Saturday last week. Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Streiff and daughter Suzanne of Chicago spent the weekend at the Polzin home.

Mrs. Albert Stern, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Burton spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives at Milwaukee.

V. F. W. Will Hold Armistice Dinner

Post and Auxiliary Will Join in Program Thursday

New London—A 6:30 turkey dinner Thursday evening at the clubrooms will feature the Armistice day observance of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Learman Schaller post, and auxiliary. A speaker and program is being arranged by a joint committee.

The usual Armistice day program will be held at 11 o'clock Friday morning at the Grand theater under the direction of the post. Mayor E. W. Wendlandt has issued a proclamation declaring the hours of 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. Friday as a legal holiday and asking all business places to close during those hours so all may attend the theater program.

In charge of the dinner program are Martin Kubisiak, Leonard Borchart, F. J. Meinhardt, Mrs. E. J. Schoenrock and Mrs. Fred Poppy. Decoration of the hall will be managed by Mrs. Leonard Cline, Mrs. H. J. Young, Mrs. George Meiklejohn and Mrs. Ralph Mortenson.

Pleads Not Guilty to Charge of Drunkenness

New London—Charles Kelly, Lebanon, pleaded not guilty to a charge of drunkenness in police court of Justice Fred J. Rogers Saturday morning. His preliminary hearing was set for Thursday, Nov. 10, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and he was released on $500 bond. He was arrested by police on North Water street Friday night.

Arthur Lord, Solon Springs, Wis., pleaded guilty of being drunk Friday night when he was arraigned in police court Saturday morning. Unable to pay a fine of $5 and costs he was taken to the Outagamie county detention camp Saturday afternoon to serve a sentence of 10 days. He was arrested in the Third ward near the end of E. Beacon avenue.

Farmer Is Injured by Corn Husking Machine

New London—Ray Bonikowski, route 1, Bear Creek, lost the first two fingers of his right hand and suffered severe lacerations of the others when his hand became caught in a corn husker on the farm of his father, Louis Bonikowski, Saturday afternoon.

The accident occurred when Ray attempted to clear a jam in the machine and a glove he was wearing became caught on a spur, drawing his hand with it. He was taken to Community hospital.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Radke, Weyauwega, at Community hospital yesterday morning.

Large Vote Expected In Kimberly Tuesday In General Election

Kimberly—A large vote is expected in the village Tuesday at the general election. The major parties have held a number of rallies and meetings during the last month.

An effort is being made to again turn out as large a vote as in 1932 when more than 900 ballots were cast, and when only five eligible citizens in the village failed to vote. Paul Locksmidt, Democratic committeeman, is busy completing a voting list and expects to have it ready by Monday. Ballots for the general election were received last week from the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk. The polls will be open from 7 o'clock in the morning until 8 o'clock in the evening, two hours longer than in the primary election.

Eighteen women of Holy Name parish were received into the Christian Mother society before benediction of the Blessed Sacrament at church Sunday afternoon. At the 6:45 mass in the morning the women received holy communion with the society.

New members are Mrs. Jake Van Nuland, Mrs. Joe Smith, Mrs. Ray Schwanke, Mrs. Arnold Swiers, Mrs. Richard Kilsdonk, Mrs. Harriet Theissen, Mrs. Frank Wiegand, Mrs. Frank Vande Vyver, Mrs. Ed Werth, Mrs. Christ Smith, Mrs. George Vander Zanden, Mrs. Dud Courchane, Mrs. Elizabeth Bouts, Mrs. John Van Kessel, Mrs. William Geenen, Mrs. Joe Dietzen, Mrs. Paul Jansen and Mrs. Gene Frassetto.

Priscilla Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fox, Second street, was hostess to 12 guests at her home Saturday in honor of her fourth birthday. Games furnished the entertainment after which refreshments were served.

Those attending were: Mary Pat Welch, Tommy Dupont, Gail Barand, Jackie Fritz, Danny Phillips, Betty Ann McCarthy, Reginald Lamers, Alice Weyenberg, Tommy Strick, David Robinson and Ronnie Treichel, Kimberly, and Ronnie Plach, Appleton.

Clarence Van Ert of Rudolph, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Weyenberg, is visiting at the Weyenberg home.

William Franzen Dies At Hilbert Residence

Hilbert—William Franzen, 83, died Saturday noon, at his home here, following an illness of two months. Mr. Franzen was born Oct. 3, 1855, in Germany.

Following his marriage, Jan. 15, 1880, to Miss Augusta Behrend of Hilbert, he lived two years in Green Bay and then moved to Hilbert, where the family has since lived. For more than 50 years he was employed by the C. M. and St. P. railroad as brakeman. He retired from service about four years ago.

Survivors are three daughters, Mrs. R. J. Menne, Kiel; Mrs. Ben Phillips and Miss Marie Franzen, Hilbert; three sons, Walter, Milwaukee; Theodore, Hilbert, and Herbert, of Sheboygan; three granddaughters; one sister, Mrs. Pat Roach, Freedom; and three brothers, Gerhard, Franzen, Random Lake; Theodore and Ferdinand, Phlox, Wis.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 o'clock, Tuesday morning at St. Mary's Catholic church. Burial will be in the parish cemetery. The Rev. Theodore Kolbe will conduct the services.

Waupaca Residents At Oshkosh Conclave

Waupaca—Several members of the Waupaca Garden club attended the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Horticultural society which was held at the Raulf Hotel, Oshkosh, Thursday Nov. 3; they were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith, Mrs. Charles Bramer, Mrs. Orville Peterson and Mrs. Theodore Peterson.

The "Use of Fruit and Flowers in Beautifying Table and Home" was the topic of a talk by Miss Marie Rasmussen of Oshkosh. Miss Rasmussen used in her illustrations all Wisconsin products, even to beeswax candles which she said were dripless. Arrangements of gift baskets using red and yellow apples, sprays of red pine and a small container filled with chrysanthemums as well as a wooden plate with apples and chrysanthemums were among her exhibits.

At noon a luncheon was served the guests at Stein's Tea room. The meeting was continued with a talk by Prof. J. D. Winter, department of horticulture, Minnesota, who gave the results of experimentation on cooking apples and other fruits. He said the Roman Beauties were considered standard pie apples. An apple like the Horation is a good baker due to the small core.

Two Minnesota pie factories the juice is pumped out of the pit to make a crisp bottom crust and pumped in again through a small hole in the crust after baking. He stated that Duchess, McIntosh and Wealthy apples would always be good apples for home use.

Miss Zella Patterson and Mrs. Amanda O. Rourke, Wisconsin Public Service corporation, gave demonstrations and talks on the use of fruits in holiday menus.

A new feature of the convention reported by the members who attended were the classes for the women's auxiliary where were set dining tables with Wisconsin apples only as means of decoration, with other Wisconsin fruits and horticultural material. Gift baskets were filled with Wisconsin fruits.

Mrs. Anna Schellin Honored On Her Birthday Anniversary

New London—Mrs. Anna Schellin was honored at a party at her home on route 2 Saturday evening on the occasion of her sixty-fourth birthday anniversary. Eight tables of schafskopf were played and women's prizes were won by Miss Edna Kloechn. Mrs. William Breitenfeldt, Mrs. Emil Kloechn, men's by Herman Gorges, Albert Magadan and Franklin Gruetzmacher. Traveling prizes went to Edna Kloechn and Rufus Gruetzmacher. Mrs. Schellin was presented with several gifts and a lunch was served.

The Methodist Men's club will follow election returns by radio in a body at a regular meeting at the church parlors Tuesday evening. Preceding the broadcast will be a demonstration of the new remote control tuning in radio receivers and a demonstration of phonograph transcriptions through the radio receiver. A lunch will be served during the course of the evening.

The Senior Sodality of the Most Precious Blood church will meet Thursday afternoon at the parish hall. On the serving committee are Mrs. R. L. Fitzgerald, chairman, Mrs. John Flanagan, Mrs. Paul Fermanick, Mrs. John Croak, Mrs. Bernard Crain, Mrs. A. F. Christ, Mrs. Charles Cooney, Mrs. Miney Barlow, Mrs. John Crain and Mrs. George Dermbach.

Mrs. Norbert Arent entertained the Verifine Schafskopf club at her home Friday evening. Prizes went to Mrs. Wilford Cump, Mrs. Floyd Webb and Mrs. Russell Berzill, the latter receiving the traveling prize.

Maybe There are Human Faces Under the Helmets After All

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—At the risk of seeming hopelessly naive I wonder if any good could come of a proposal once advanced by Mrs. Roosevelt that people try to understand one another and their problems in times of temper and touchy pride. We and the Germans have tried everything else in the clash of ideals which has been tending toward a rub of interests and national vanity. Short of actual invasion of that which we deem to be our sphere, whether by force or by political stealth, there would seem to be a chance of our learning to get along mutually.

For more than a hundred years we have got along with the British, whose arrogance toward the United States is not yet matched by anything that the Germans have said to us. The Germans have been rude, it is true, but we managed to keep peace with Great Britain at times when the British were fond of saying out loud that the only thing that saved us from a damned good hiding by their fleet and soldiers was John Bull's lofty tolerance of our impudence. We are truculent enough ourselves, and it was not by deliberate and noble searching for a basis of peace with honor that we escaped trouble.

But things are different now, and wars are so terrible that we could lose nothing by an effort to discover in the nature of this new Germany some of those human traits which people of the same racial stock have revealed as citizens, friends, neighbors and relatives in the United States.

These traits seem to be utterly suppressed in Germany as a state, but it is not past believing that they are extinct in the people? That can be observed in individuals in Germany at moments when they are off parade, and the problem suggested by Mrs. Roosevelt's proposal would be to reach them and see what makes them tick and let them understand what makes Americans tick, too. I don't mean to invite nazi propaganda, but it would be censorship of the most evil kind to withhold from the American public knowledge of the thoughts and feelings of the German people which might give us to understand them patiently, and the lack of which might wrong us both.

Nazi Leaders Have Revealed Selves Before

To distinguish between nazi propaganda and honest information would be difficult and, of course, the anti-American bands would be out, but the Steuben societies seem to be sincere and might be given a hearing. The trouble then would be to obtain a hearing for the American people with German people, and under their censorship that seems impossible, but there is nothing wrong with the idea.

Their leaders have reversed themselves more startlingly before this. Only a couple of years ago they were schooling their adults as well as the children in a belief that the Italians' swarthy complexion was imported from Africa, and look what chums the Germans and Italians are now! Maybe that is Hitler's idea of a joke. He is hard to understand sometimes.

In the excitement of these days we forget that Britain and France, too, have fought a few predatory and political wars in the life of this country and that our idealism didn't reach the boiling point. And, if it comes to that, what is the difference and French empires and Mussolini's conquest of Abyssinia? To be sure, there was the league of nations, but it was a league which we could have no part of at best.

It's One Possibility That Hasn't Been Tried

Is the German brutality the brutality of the people or of the government? Do we know? Our imported Germans of the days before 1914 and their children have not

Fish and Game Group Has Monthly Meeting

Clintonville—Officers of the Clintonville Fish and Game club and their wives held their monthly meeting Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Stevens on W. Third street. After a brief business session by the officers, the group played buncos. Those receiving prizes were Roy Peterson, Victor Seyler, Mrs. George Graff, Mrs. Jay Weatherman, and Mrs. E. E. Beckman. Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Larson were guests of the club. The evening closed with the serving of a lunch.

Walter B. Huebner, district manager of the Wisconsin Power and Light company, returned home Thursday from Rochester, Minn., where he spent several weeks following a serious operation at Mayo Brothers hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Higgins left Friday for New York, where they will spend two weeks. Mr. Higgins, advertising manager for the Four Wheel Drive Auto company, will be in charge of the FWD truck exhibit at the national truck show in New York.

Mrs. J. A. Blau of Cecil was a weekend guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Patterson and family. Sunday visitors at their home were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Samson of Black Creek.

The annual supper given by the Order of Eastern Star will begin at 5:30 Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 9, at the Masonic hall.

There will be a regular meeting of the O.E.S. chapter on Tuesday evening, Nov. 8.

been the cruel people. The British tortured the Irish almost as badly, but the British common people were not responsible, and, anyway, with Irish refugees pouring in here by the thousands our sympathy was expressed in the phrase "No Irish need apply" in the want ads. If, by the mutual understanding between peoples that Mr. Roosevelt spoke of, the Germans could be induced to soften up, that would be a gain. It may be remembered that Henry Ford once softened up overnight.

It sounds hopeless, but it is the one possibility that has not been tried, and while this country is fixing to possess a fleet of—how many is it, 7,000?—war planes the effort would be no hurt. Only a big people can do it. A little people would be suspected of fear. Possibly there are human faces under these German helmets, after all.

My foreign policy of "To hell with them! Still goes for governments. The hope of understanding is between people."

THOUSANDS OF CANDIDATES FOR THOUSANDS OF OFFICES—WHO WILL BE THE WINNERS?

Minutes after the polls close on November 8 a staff of 50,000 Associated Press election experts will begin reporting the results for this newspaper and 1,400 other AP members. From Vermont to Florida, from New Jersey to California, they will count the returns and rush the information to waiting front pages, providing readers with accurate and speedy returns on the balloting for 32 governors, 37 United States Senators, 435 Congressmen, as well as countless other state, county and municipal officials.

The complete returns will be available to all readers weeks before the official counts are completed.

HOW IS IT POSSIBLE TO PROVIDE SUCH RAPID ELECTION COVERAGE?

Six months ago The Associated Press began setting up its regular election machinery. Its far-flung staff, covering every one of the 120,000 election districts over the land, relays the returns to the nearest tabulating bureau. There, experienced editors check the totals, write their reports and feed the massive story over AP's 285,000-mile leased wire network into the offices of all member newspapers.

The returns also will speed into AP's huge Washington bureau where a staff of political experts will evaluate the returns and explain their significance.

Thus, may readers know who was elected and why.

The Associated Press is the only news organization in the United States that gathers, tabulates, and transmits the complete story of any nation-wide election.

For the complete story of the election read the November 9 editions of this newspaper.

VOTE

Practically everyone reading this owns—his farm—house—car or some valuable property.

When we vote for our representatives in Government—Let us choose men of courage—men who will not be dominated and become tools of "Machine-Politics." Men who will not support "Pork Barrel" or foolish Government spending, which must be paid for by—Our Ability to Pay Taxes.

In 1932, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, then Governor of New York, said—"If in some crisis, a nation lives beyond its income for a year or two, it can usually borrow temporarily on reasonable terms. But if, like a spendthrift, it throws discretion to the winds, is willing to make no sacrifice at all in spending, extends its taxing to the limit of the people's power to pay, and continues to pile up deficits, it is on the road to bankruptcy." ... This advice MUST be FOLLOWED—if our Government goes bankrupt, so will WE.

Between 1930 and now Federal debt has grown 2½ times or approximately a 24 billion dollar increase in about eight years. Combined Federal, State and Local debts in 1939 will probably be 60 billions of dollars or about a $2000 burden per family.

Sometimes when candidates for office are elected and become our representatives in Government—they lose track of the fact that it is OUR—The Taxpayers—money which pays THEIR salaries and that THEY are OUR representatives pledged to respect and keep the promises they made us and upon which basis we voted for them.

WE must go to the polls, with one thought foremost in our minds—regardless to what political party the candidate may belong—is HE the man we can depend on?—if he is running for re-election, has he kept his promises to us?—if he is for the first time seeking public office, will he stand upright against temptation and hew straight to the line of his promises?—will he work for honest, economical, efficient and democratic Government and legislation?... CAN WE COUNT ON HIM TO STILL REMEMBER—that he is of the common earth from which he came and of which we are—when HE is in office?

Every dollar paid in taxes comes out of OUR—The Consumers—pocket; perhaps not directly, but in lower pay—fewer jobs and a higher living cost—in PRIVATE life.

CHECK ALL CANDIDATES—National, State and Local regarding THEIR POSITION on Government Spending and Taxes. Their answer will also answer other Vital Questions in which Every Consumer is interested.

BELOIT — Lawrence college football team, which at the beginning of the season had hoped only to win a game or two, copped the Midwest conference championship here Saturday afternoon when it defeated Beloit, 13 to 7. It was the fifth Viking victory against no defeats in Midwest competition and the title was the first undisputed grid championship for Lawrence in Midwest history. The 1922 team tied for the honor.

Two quick thrusts, one in the first few minutes of the game, the other in the first few minutes of the third quarter, gave Lawrence the ball game. They were like a couple flattening punches and although Beloit gained a lot of yards and made many more first downs, the payoff comes on the final score.

Crawford Blocks Punt

The first thrust came before the folks had securely wrapped their blankets around and was the answer to any question about Lawrence being keyed for a win. Beloit had received and was held for downs. Andrews went back to punt but before the ball had traveled five feet off his foot, Jack Crawford, playing his last game for Lawrence, had two arms in front of it.

It hit with a thud and then bounded straight back toward the Beloit goal with about five Lawrence players and one Beloit madly following. On the three yard line the Beloit player made a dive but over-sid and the Vikes pounced upon it with Lubenow and Nystrom taking possession.

On the very first play Art Kaemmer smashed through center and counted as a Lawrence crowd of some 150 students and probably as many Appleton people, plus down state alumni, went wild. On the try for the point, Garvey's pass from center was too high and the ball got away from Buesing and Maertzwiler. They picked it up and tried to pass and then run with no success.

The second thrust came in the third quarter and, as the first one, saw the Vikes score on the first play after receiving the ball.

Bues. Obble in Long Run

This time, however, Beloit had marched 50 yards after receiving the kickoff and lost the ball on the Vike 5-yard line. On the first play, Novakowski went off his own left tackle, pushed out into daylight and streaked down the field with Buesing running along to take care of a couple Beloit men crossing the field.

The Vike duo out-ran the first Beloit but Buesing couldn't quite put a block on the second. At just the right moment Novakowski flipped the ball to Buesing and laid on the block himself. Buesing got untangled from the mass with hardly a missed stride and kited it the remainder of the distance to the goal without being touched. Buesing's part in the gallop was a bit more than 50-yards and the whole maneuver was the outstanding effort of the game, a perfect example of teamwork.

On the try for the point, Maertzwiler booted the ball from placement. When the game ended, the Lawrence bench and part of the grid were the scene of the wildest display in many a year. The players rushed for Coach Bernie Heselson, the reserves for the regulars and the refs for each other. Added to that, the Lawrence delegation went over the railing of Strong stadium and down onto the track to get in on the celebrating.

With the preliminaries out of the way the gridders finally struggled down into their dressing room where there were congratulations for each and every man, and where

CRAWFORD BLOCKS PUNT, STARTS VIKES TO WIN

Here's the play which started Lawrence college football team to its win over Beloit last Saturday at Beloit. Andrews, Beloit fullback, is getting off the first punt of the afternoon with Jack Crawford, Lawrence end, hovering over the ball. The ball hit Crawford and rolled to the Beloit 3-yard line where Mike Galko, right, No. 22, and Crawford, Nystrom, and Lubenow battled for possession and recovered for Lawrence. Kaemmer then scored on the first play. The final count was 13 to 7 for Lawrence. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Ripon Winner Over Carleton

Score Is 13 to 7; Coe Defeated by Knox by 13 to 7 Count

Northfield-Ripon college plowed its way to a 13 to 7 victory over Carleton college Saturday in a Midwest conference game. It snowed heavily in the second half.

Early in the second quarter, Kromar passed to Larson to reach Carleton's three and Kromar went over. Horky passed to Gerry for the extra point. On the kick-off after the Ripon touchdown, Riegel took the ball on his own 30 and returned to the Ripon 25, but the Carleton march halted on Ripon's 10.

Carleton scored on a 21 yard pass. Lockrem to Jackson, to Ripon's 22. Minkin and Hull made 10, and a pass. Lockrem to Minkin, for the touchdown. Reishus place kicked the extra point to effect a 7-7 tie at the half.

Ripon's winning touchdown came in the final quarter. Kromar and Horky lugged the oval from Ripon's 43 to Carleton's nine and Horky ran around right end for the score. Point missed.

MONMOUTH COPS

Monmouth, Ill. —(P)— Scapechi ran 98 yards for a touchdown Saturday as Monmouth defeated Cornell college of Mount Vernon, Iowa, 19 to 0. Scapechi's run came from scrimmage. Nicol and Kauzlarich made Monmouth's other touchdowns.

COE DEFEATED, 13-7

Galesburg, Ill. —(P)— Knox scored its first victory over Coe since 1924 by upsetting its Midwest conference rival, 13 to 7 Saturday. A long pass gave Coe a touchdown early in the game. Minutes later Al Christiansen returned a punt 54 yards for a touchdown. Christiansen later tossed a pass to Russ Petrick for the winning marker.

Manitowoc WallopsTwo Rivers, 26-7

Two Rivers-Manitowoc ran over Two Rivers, 26 to 7, in the annual gridiron classic here Saturday. Early in the second period Manitowoc scored when McConnell intercepted a pass and ran 55 yards. Soon after Knell scored again on a line plunge from the four. In the third quarter Manitowoc made its third touchdown with McConnell lugging the ball over from the two. Morris added the extra point with a place kick.

Two Rivers made its lone score in the third period on a pass, Prucha to Bridges, for 55 yards. Prucha converted on a line plunge. Manitowoc finished its scoring in the fourth quarter with Manthey taking the ball over from the seven. A line plunge by Tardvch added the point.

Now That Coach Bernie Heselson has gone out and won a Midwest conference championship in his first year at Lawrence, the first title for Lawrence in its history and the first time since 1922 the Vikes have even been in the running. Lawrence authorities had better get Bernie's name on a contract for next season. Starting last Saturday afternoon Heselson became something of a hunted man.

We wouldn't be a bit surprised if, before the fall and winter gets along many more weeks, there are rumblings around Milwaukee about Paddy Driscoll's lack of success at Marquette and a move for a change. And when that move is discussed you can bet your money that Heselson's name will be mentioned prominently.

And with that off our chest, may we offer our congratulations to Heselson and to the Lawrence squad for something little short of a miracle. To knock off a Midwest title with the limited squad Lawrence had this fall was really one of the books.

Heselson was beaming confidence after spring practice last year, and he was just as far down in the dumps when he reported back in September. A squad of 24, to him was no squad at all, after his big turnouts at Milwaukee East reported and you should have heard him down in the locker room as he issued uniforms to some of his early freshmen arrivals.

So Bernie went to work with terrible prospects and he soon discovered he had about 11 fellows who made a pretty fair team. Crawford was a veteran end, Jones a good tackle, the guards were showing promise. Garvey was a good center and in the backfield Novakowski might get away any time, Buesing was good for long runs. Joe was a great blocker and Kaemmer was a prospect at fullback.

Then came the first game and Lawrence went to town against a badly outclassed Northwestern college team. But the left side of the line looked bad and there really was nothing to brand the squad as a coming champion. But one day Leroy Lubenow turned up and went into a guard post where his 190 pounds made a lot of difference. A few days later, however, Jack Bodilly at left tackle, broke his arm and as he left the field hopes appeared to be going with him.

Lubenow stepped into his position, however, and when he came out of the first conference game, the Coe game, he had turned in a tackle game that branded him the equal of anything the Vikes would meet.

From then on you know the story, a story of 13 to 15 boys playing every ball game, a story of injuries against Monmouth and a bad beating at homecoming. But homecoming has been forgotten—if you don't happen to meet one of the lads who wants a post-season game with Carroll to erase that defeat.

It was a great ball team, a group which probably was inspired by the over-present (as someone remarked at Beloit) Joe Maertzwiler, which realized that Novakowski might hit pay dirt any time he carried the ball, which realized that it had a great pair of tackles in Jones and Lubenow, and which had no intention of leaving a contest until the end or until carried out.

During the next few weeks the folks will talk over every game, every player and some will get more credit than others but they shouldn't. It took a whole ball club to make that team and it took some rare spirit, the whole being moulded deftly by Coach Bernie Heselson with the help of Line Coach Ade Dillon who further helped with scouting information that made most of the opponents wide open books.

Carroll Turns Fumble Into Win Over St. Norbert

Green Knights Threaten Twice: Stopped on 2, 7-Yard Lines

WAUKESHA — A recovered fumble early in the second half gave the Carroll college Pioneers their only scoring opportunity as they turned back St. Norbert of De Pere here Saturday, 6-0.

The break came on the second play of the third period. Phil McNulty, who had played a fine offensive game for the invaders, fumbled on his own 23 and Horace Skinner, Carroll tackle, fell on the ball.

Jerry Knoebel, mainstay in Coach Breen's backfield, hit center for three and on a delayed kick, Knoebel hammered to the nine for a first down. On a fake end run, Knoebel went over the weak side of the line to the two, and on the next play he dove over into the end zone. Phil Kafka blocked the kick for the extra point.

Reach Two Yard Mark
St. Norberts made several threats. Once in the first period, the De Pere eleven raced to the seven, and in the last period were stopped on the two yard line.

Recovering a Carroll fumble on the Pioneer 38 after only a few minutes of play, St. Norberts set the stage for its first charge. McNulty, following fine interference, raced to the 15, where he lateraled, as he was being tackled, to Val Trepanier. Trepanier continued to the seven before he was brought down from behind. Here the Pioneers' defense stiffened and on three plays Carroll threw the up-staters for a three yard loss. A fourth down pass was knocked down in the end zone.

Another fumble late in the third period gave St. Norberts its second opportunity. Lee Floriano recovered Lou Beach's fumble on the Carroll 39. After a holding penalty pushed the visitors back to their 45, Floriano whipped a long pass to Trepanier on the 20.

Floriano picked up eight yards and then Fink made it a first down on the seven. Floriano went on to the four. Werner Fink could get out two yards on two tries and a pass failed, ending the threat.

Duke Is Only Team Unbeaten, Untied And Unscored Upon

New York —(P)— Saturday's football cyclone not only smashed tool ball reputations left and right but it sheared the Associated Press list of unbeaten and untied football team from 30 to 23 with Pittsburgh, smashed by Carnegie Tech, the most noted victim.

Of the teams that escaped the upheaval Duke remains the only undefeated, untied and unscored upon eleven. It was easy for them. They didn't play.

Next to Pitt, California was the ranking victim of the day's events. The Bears went down before Southern California.

RIPON FROSH COP

Delafield — St. John's Military academy lost to the heavy freshmen eleven from Ripon college Saturday, 27-0. Ripon scored twice in the first quarter and once in the second, converting both times. Their last touchdown was scored at the opening of the second half.

Wisconsin Gridders Upset Northwestern and Become Contender for Big 10 Title share in the Big Ten championship.

If you are a Wisconsin follower, you have many heroes to congratulate today, but there are two who played so brilliantly that they even stood out against the background of the Badgers' consistent brilliance.

Weiss, Murray Star
The two who stood out were Howard Weiss and Jack Murray, a pair of magnificent performers at any time but at their peak for this battle. Weiss at fullback gave the crowd an idea of what a real All-American looks like, and Murray at center was destruction on the prowl.

Before this game they said Weiss was the best fullback in the Big Ten. Today you will find plenty of people who will tell you that Weiss is the finest fullback in the nation. Before this game they were saying that Jack Haman of Northwestern was a sure fire all-conference center and a potential All-American. Today you'll find that Haman is mentioned only among the centers who are good but not in the same class with Murray.

Misfortune nagged at Wisconsin off and on throughout this game, but the hard-bitten Badgers raised it no attention. Twice Wisconsin lost touchdowns by inches, penalties hurt at other times, and a blocked punt made things look dark on another occasion. Throughout the Badgers played like the team that was the champion, Northwestern like the also ran. Well, that's as it should be, for today the Wildcat are definitely out of the Big Ten title race and Wisconsin is in a spot where it will be playing for the title in its last game.

Over the Goal Line, But...
The first half was scoreless, but the Badgers came as close to scoring without doing so as it ever allowed to happen in football. Weiss tossed a forward pass to Bill Schmitz on fourth down from Northwestern's 10-yard line, and Schmitz caught the ball and fell over the goal line. However, it was ruled that his knee had touched the ground just before he crossed the goal line. It was a miss by inches.

The Badgers came out still hungry for a score, and they proved to have quite an appetite. Five touchdowns went spilling across the goal line in the wild second half, three by Wisconsin.

Wisconsin scored on a 41-yard run by Weiss that brought 40,000 people to their feet in amazed disbelief at what they saw happening before their eyes as he cut and reversed until the Northwestern tacklers even ran into each other in their vain efforts to get a toe hold and ground the flying Dutchman from Fort Atkinson. They never did, for Weiss went hurtling over the goal line with plenty of steam left.

Wisconsin scored its other touchdowns on a pass from Tony Gradnik to Roy Bellin that covered 31 yards and on a pass from Schmitz to Bellin that covered five yards. Northwestern scored on Jack Ryan's pass to Ted Grete for seven yards and on a 95-yard return of a kickoff by Bernard Jefferson.

All the Way for a Score
That 41-yard touchdown gallop of Weiss came early in the second half. It climaxed a drive from Wisconsin's 39-yard line. Weiss started it with a two-yard smash and then Schmitz tossed to Acting Captain Vince Gavre for 18 yards and a first down on Northwestern's 41.

The first play was an attempted pass that fell incomplete, and then Weiss took matters into his own hands and went all the way for a marker.

Wisconsin's blocking sprung Weiss into the open, and he got help here and there on the run, but for the most part he traveled alone.

The Badgers were back in short order to get another score. Northwestern scored on a 41-yard run by Weiss that brought 40,000 people to their feet in amazed disbelief at what they saw happening before their eyes as he cut and reversed until the Northwestern tacklers even ran into each other in their vain efforts to get a toe hold and ground the flying Dutchman from Fort Atkinson. They never did, for Weiss went hurtling over the goal line with plenty of steam left.

Carroll's Pioneers defeated St. Norbert at Waukesha, 6 to 0. Skinner, Carroll tackle, recovered a St. Norbert fumble on the De Pere eleven's 23. Line bucks and end runs advanced the ball to the two, from where Knoebel dove into the end zone.

Ripon defeated Carleton at Northfield, 13 to 7, snow falling heavily in the second half. Going into the fourth tied, 7-7, Ripon began an offensive on its 43 with Kremer and Horky carrying the ball. Horky scored on a nine-yard run.

The University of Wisconsin extension ended its fourth season without a victory, losing to the Wisconsin School of Mines at Platteville, 13 to 0.

Sample and Filz Spark Appleton To 16-6 Victory

Terrors Down Sheboygan
North in Non-Conference Tilt

BY DICK DAVIS

SPARKED by Chuck Sample and Sonny Filz, Appleton High school gridders downed Sheboygan North in a non-conference game by a 16 to 6 count at Whiting field Saturday afternoon. Breaks synchronized with heads-up football, superior weight paired with vicious line drives were decisive factors as Appleton outplayed the visitors.

The victory was not as easy as it appears, however, for the Sheboygan squad boasted a couple of fellows by the name of Jerry Ahl and Roger Loving who forever getting into the hair of the Appleton secondary. Loving accounted for Sheboygan's six points on a brilliant 75-yard run near the close of the first half. Appleton threatened many times but the Chair City team had an irritating way of breaking up plays at crucial moments.

Filz played 60 minutes of smashing, dashing football which would warm the heart of any coach and Appleton rooters held their breath a number of times when he was laid low. He'd get up, though, and crack 'em just that much harder the next time.

Sample Scores Twice
Appleton collected two points in the first quarter when a Sheboygan punter accidentally stepped out of his own end zone.

A wave of TERRORISM spread across the field and engulfed the Sheboygan North gridders when Sample appeared in the lineup at the start of the second half. Sample scored both Appleton touchdowns and was a man to be reckoned with in every phase of the game.

The first marker, registered in the third quarter, was more or less of a fluke with the ball popping out of a Sheboygan player's arms into Chuck's who zig-zagged and raced 45 yards to the goal line. Filz plucked for the point. The second touchdown came in the fourth quarter when Sample plunged over from the 1-foot line after a concerted drive down the field. Swamp converted with a perfect field goal.

The game opened with Fraser, Appleton back who stamped himself as a constant offensive threat, returning the kickoff from his own 20 yard line to the 35. Appleton quick-kicked to put Sheboygan in a hole on its own 10 yard stripe. Ahl ran from punt formation to the 21 but Loving fumbled and Appleton recovered on the Sheboygan 35.

Filz Injured
A pass authored by Swamp seemed destined for interception but two Sheboygan lads spilled one another as they grabbed at the ball. A 5-yard penalty on Sheboygan for offside aided the Appleton cause and Swamp zoomed an aerial at Besch to the Sheboygan 14. Filz scampered around end to the 4-yard line but fumbled when hit hard and Sheboygan recovered. Filz was injured on the play but came up smiling.

Loving ran from punt formation to the 12-yard line and Ahl smashed through for a first down. Loving wiggled off tackle for another first down but Becker nailed Ahl for a KAUKAUNA — A pass which Co. Captain Leroy Frank grabbed on the rebound from a Menasha defender gave Coach Paul E. Little's Kaukauna High school eleven its fifth Northeastern conference title in ten years here Saturday. On the next to the last play of the first half Carl Giordana passed from the Bluejay 9 yard line. Frank charged forward from his tackle post, catching the rebound just short of the line and falling across for the touchdown. Giordana placekicked the Kaws into a 7 to 0 margin, the final score.

In a ceremony between halves, President Joseph C. McCarthy of the alumni association presented Little with a trophy and traveling bag in recognition of his achievements since taking over the coaching job in 1928.

Line Plays Best Ball

The Kaws line played its best ball of the year to bottle up the visitors' running attack. The farthest the Bluejays could progress in the first half was to their own 46, and in the second they managed to reach the Kaws 34. Before and after its score Kaukauna was stopped just as completely, penetrating to the Menasha 36 in the closing minutes for its best effort. Menasha held a slight edge in statistics, making four first downs to Kaukauna's three and gaining 153 yards from scrimmage to 137. Menasha completed one of eight passes for 16 yards, and Kaukauna connected with one of two. Three Menasha aeriels were intercepted. Each team fumbled three times, with Menasha recovering all of their own and one of Kaukauna's.

Individual stars were Giordana for the winners and Shelewski for Menasha. Held in check most of the time on offense, Giordana played the best defensive game seen here in years, time after time slashing through to nail the Bluejay backs. Shelewski tore off several nice gains and passed accurately, but his receivers muffed chance after chance.

Kaws Fumble Often

Bob Niesen returned Menasha's kickoff to his 32 and fumbled but Leo Wolfe recovered on the 38. Giordana fumbled on the next play and recovered on the 25. After failing to gain on an end run Giordana punted to Shelewski who returned eight yards to his 39. Grode made four in two tries. Drucks added three and Shelewski punted out on the Kaws 28. Kobussen made one and Giordana six in two plays before the latter punted to the Menasha 32. The Bluejays made seven in three line plunges and kicked. Niesen returning two yards to the Menasha 49. Kobussen and Giordana could make only 4 yards in three tries. Shelewski returning a punt to his 12 yard line as the quarter ended.

Shelewski made four, O'Brien two and then O'Brien ran to the 27 for the initial first down of the game. Shelewski made seven but O'Brien was stopped twice. The Menashans kicked to Giordana who returned eight yards to his 25. Line plays failed and the Kaws punted back to Shelewski who returned three to his 30.

Jays Penalized

A penalty for illegal use of the hands set the Bluejays back 15 yards but Shelewski ran around right end for a first down on the 49. O'Brien fell a yard short of a first down in three plunges and Shelewski kicked to Giordana on the Kaws 27. Seemingly stopped several times, Giordana twisted away down the left sideline and was only tripped from behind on the 18 which his mates provided line blocking. Giordana made five to the 13 and picked up four more to the 9. A shaky pass tickled for Phil Alger was knocked down but Frank was under it to give the Kaws six points. Giordana's kick was perfect. Drucks took the Kaws kickoff and returned 12 yards before crossing the ball to Ducharme. The latter was pulled down from behind on the Kaws 40 as the half ended.

Drucks again lateraled to Ducharme on the second half kickoff with Ducharme going 12 yards to his 30. Shelewski lost four and Ducharme two before the Bluejays punted out on the Kaukauna 45. Giordana fumbled on the first play and Menasha's Henk recovered on the 47. Shelewski then ran right end for 13 yards to the Kaws 34, the high water mark of the game for the visitors. Ducharme lost three and Giordana intercepted Shelewski's pass on his 23.

Kaws Quick Kick

Giordana was stopped and then surprised the enemy with a quick kick, the ball rolling to the Menasha 34. Ducharme made 12 to the 46, Frank intercepted a short pass over the line but Kaukauna was offside and it was Menasha's ball on the Kaws 49. Line plays were stopped and the Kaws took

Kaukauna High school defeated Menasha Saturday in its final Northeastern conference football game and won the league title with five wins and one tie against no defeats. Little Chute Dutchmen Again Bow to Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — For the second successive week the passing combination of Bill Peterson to John Niesz was too much for the Flying Dutchmen of Little Chute, the Kaukauna pair collaborating to hand them a 6 to 0 defeat here yesterday afternoon. It was one of only two passes the K-Tws completed, but it gave them a touchdown on the first they attempted, with Niesz taking Peterson's 25-yard heave on the 5-yard marker and eluding two defenders for the score. Peterson's dropkick for the point was wide.

Not until the waning minutes did the Merchants threaten again, and in between had their hands full attempting to handle the Chutes' running attack paced by Al Eoots and his brother George. The visitors made 15 first downs and 280 yards from scrimmage. Kaukauna made 5 first downs and 120 yards from scrimmage.

Chutes Fumble

Little Chute returned the kickoff to its 20 and moved to its 43 in four plays before a fourth down pass from center was fumbled and the Kaws took over. On the first play Peterson received a lateral, faked to his left and tossed 25 yards to Niesz, who grabbed the ball from two defenders and went over.

Five times the Dutchmen penetrated into Merchant territory, advancing to the 15 in the first, the 10 in the second, the 29 and 10 in the third and the 18 in the last, but each time the Kaukauna line rallied the ball on their 27 after a poor Menasha punt. Carl Kobussen spun off tackle and raced down the sideline for 35 yards to the Bluejay 38 for Kaukauna's first down. Giordana made one, a pass was incomplete, Kobussen made one, and Giordana punted out on the 27.

Shelewski and Drucks totaled only seven yards in three attempts before the former punted to the Kaws 38. Giordana was stopped at the line of scrimmage as the third period ended.

Kobussen and Watson were brought up short as the final quarter began. Shelewski then returning 13 yards to his 38, where a teammate salvaged his fumble. Drucks was stopped and lost a yard and Shelewski's toss was dropped, with Kaukauna taking his punt on their 47. The Kaws had no better luck and punted to the Menashans 24. Drucks lost one and the Kaws were penalized for offside to the 28. Menasha fumbled and recovered to lose two yards, then kicking out of bounds on the Kaukauna 31. Giordana ran off tackle for 18 yards to the 49. Giordana made five, Kobussen four and Giordana four more for a first down on the Menasha 41. Giordana made seven to the 34 but then was thrown for a loss of five yards by Landskron. The Kaws lost five more for taking too much time. Giordana made eight and then punted into the end zone. Shaw caught Shelewski's pass for 16 yards to the 36. Giordana intercepted the next pass and ran it back 20 yards as the game ended.

SHAWANO VICTOR

Shawano—A deadly first half attack that netted three touchdowns speckled victory for the Shawano Indians in their final home game against West De Pere here Saturday afternoon. The score was 19-0. With Clintonville yet to face, a win for the Indians will give them second place honors for the year.

Wisconsin and Minnesota Tied For Big 10 Lead

CHICAGO — (AP) — Wisconsin, the pre-season "dark horse" for which Big Ten experts have been waiting, finally has made its move.

And as the Western conference football season hit the stretch, it was Wisconsin and Minnesota, nose and nose, with Michigan closing in. Bunched back of the three but without a chance for the title unless Wisconsin and Minnesota battle to a tie in their finale Nov. 19 were Northwestern, Ohio State and Purdue.

That was the situation after a big Saturday in which the B's had their day. The Badgers of Wisconsin smeared Northwestern 20 to 13 and Brock and Brown of Purdue flattened Ohio State 12 to 0.

No Undeclared Team

The results left the Big Ten without an undeclared team, returned Minnesota, a pre-season favorite, to the front running and permitted Michigan a chance at a complete football renaissance.

Michigan will meet Northwestern at Ann Arbor in this week's headline. The Wildcats are certain to be a bit more menacing after their Wisconsin setback. However, the Wolverines in their first year under Fritz Crisler and led by sophomores Tom Harmon and Paul Kromer, can share the title by disposing of the Cats and then Ohio State. Only a 7 to 6 setback by Minnesota, coming after they had outplayed the Gophers most of the way, mars their season's record.

Iowa will take on Indiana's victory starved Hoosiers at Bloomington. In the only other conference game, Illinois, with a week's rest, will attempt to add further to Ohio State's title woes.

Purdue Idle

Preparatory to their all important clash two weeks hence, Minnesota will go to Notre Dame, while Wisconsin travels west to face the University of California at Los Angeles. Chicago is host to Amos Alonzo Stagg's College of the Pacific eleven. Purdue will be idle.

Wisconsin's greater speed and the work of Roy Bellin and Howie Weiss, who raced 41 yards for the Badgers' first score, helped bring victory over Northwestern. Lou Brock's 50 yard run that led to a touchdown and his kicking efforts along with those of Jack Brown's featured Purdue's sweep over Ohio State.

Minnesota had little trouble running over Iowa, 28 to 0, but Michigan had to ward off a late Pennsylvania drive to win 19 to 13. Paul Kromer ran back a punt 50 yards and caught a pass for two Michigan scores. Chicago broke away to a 13 to 0 lead over Harvard, then lost 47 to 13. Indiana fell before undefeated Boston College 14 to 0.

Milwaukee — Addition of an eighteenth game to Marquette university's 1933-34 basketball schedule was made known here with the announcement of a contest to be played with Carleton college at Elgin, Ill., on Friday night, Dec. 23. The game will be a feature of the program dedicating Elgin's new high school gymnasium. Marquette will open its intercollegiate season against Wisconsin at Madison on Monday night, Dec. 5.

Michigan Has Chance to Share in Title as Race Tightens

Lawrence Whips Beloit College By 13 to 7 Score

hardly a chap had to take off his own jersey or harness. It was great scene and not unlike that of 1934 when Percy Clapp's team won state honors with the Beloit victory.

And thus ended a football season for Lawrence that started just about as poorly as any in the history of the school. A big squad during spring practice returned to the campus reduced almost one-half and Coach Bernie Hesolton was as gloomy as the skies here Saturday afternoon.

Saturday's victory wasn't as sensational as others this season for Lawrence was out in front almost from the start and while every one waited for Beloit to start throwing passes such as Ripon did the week before, the aerial bombardment didn't come until the fourth stanza was within 5 minutes of its end and by that time the game was all tucked away.

The statistics may show that Beloit made a lot of first downs, 14 to 4, but they fail to reveal that Lawrence galloped far when it galloped, and that while it gave way to Beloit in midfield and sometimes in Lawrence territory, the Vikes held splendidly on the only occasion their goal was threatened until the fourth quarter. Then a forward pass gave Beloit a chance on which it failed to capitalize until fourth down.

Beloit put the ball in play on the 30-yard line after the opening kickoff and on three plays picked up about seven yards. On fourth down the Gold was a bit slow in its punting, Lawrence highly primed. As a result Crawford was into the Gold backfield as the ball left the center's hands and he blocked Andrews' kick perfectly. Then followed the race for the ball on the 3-yard line. Lawrence's recovery and Kaemmer's touchdown.

Gold Gains on Punt

The game then resolved itself into a punting duel with Beloit having the edge because Griffith invariably brought the ball back for long distances on some nice open field running.

The second quarter was about half over when Lawrence's running attack, which had been stuttering, broke into open flame. Starting on the 34 after Novakofski had returned a punt 14 yards, the Vikes gained a first down on the Lawrence 48. Here the Vikes clicked on a play and Buesing got around his own left end and started for the goal to be run out of bounds on the Beloit 3-yard line. His run was good for 49 yards.

Here Lawrence ran into a 5-yard penalty. Three plays failed to gain nearly a yard and on fourth down a pass was attempted to Crawford but it was knocked down just about the time Jack was ready to take it in. The remainder of the period was played in Vike territory because Beloit was gaining on exchanges of punts.

When the third period opened Beloit started like a prairie fire. Taking the ball on the Beloit 45 after a 20-yard return of the kickoff, the Gold started smashing at the center of the Lawrence line with Freeman, 235 pound center, pushing over Lawrence's comparatively small guards as Andrews pounded through for substantial gains.

Beloit Stopped

Reaching the 6-yard stripe with four downs to make goal, the Beloiters found a determined group of Vikes who were through backing up. The first play lost a couple yards and on fourth down a pass was incomplete and the ball went to Lawrence.

Maybe the Gold was thinking of its futile drive, or maybe it was wondering why Lawrence wasn't punting on first down when the Vikes lined up in regular formation. At any rate, the ball went to Novakofski and in three strides he was off the left tackle and streaking it into the oen.

He cut for the sidelines with Buesing right behind him and two Beloit backs crossing the field to head him off. Along about the 40 they cut out one of the backs but Buesing couldn't block the other. In a flash Obbie tossed the ball to Buesing, put a block on the last Beloit man and Buesing high-balled it the remainder of the distance to the goal. Joe Maertzwiler's kick helped add to the Vike total.

Beloit wasn't as dead as it might have been, however, for it returned the kickoff 20 yards to the 35 and then made a first down and moved to the 30 when it punted. On the first play Novakofski sprinted around the right end from the 23 to the middle of the field. Here the attack stumbled and Lawrence punted.

Penalties Hurt

After two plays Beloit punted to Novakofski on his own 40 and he returned to the Beloit 40 but Lawrence drew a 15-yard penalty for clipping which put the ball back on the Vike 36, 15 yards from where the offense occurred. On second down Lawrence drew another penalty, failed to gain and punted. The

Eight Major Grid Teams Won Their Games on Field Goals

BY SID FEDER

NEW YORK — (AP) — Around and about you hear that the smart money cleaned up on Carnegie—and at juicy odds, too. Well all you can say is Doc Sutherland certainly taught Bill Kern not wisely but too well when he was giving the Skibo boss his grid lessons years ago. . . . Looks like the Giants are going to bid heavy to keep the Yanks from landing Freddy Hutchinson, the Pacific coast pitching ace, from Seattle. . . . Can anyone whisper in this corner's good ear just what college will get Bobby Clifers, the Kingsport (Tenn.) high flash? . . . Reports are beginning to fly already. . . . (Just imagine he and Bill DeCortis revont in the same backfield! ! !)

Well, did the boys really get the foot back in football, Saturday—or did they? . . . Fordham, Manhattan, Bama, Rice, Southern Methodist, Utah State, Washington and New Hampshire all won on field goals. . . . To say nothing of more than a dozen others decided on the extra point. . . . And while they were about it, the lads mowed down old man jinx for real. Rutgers over Princeton, first time in 69 years; Wisconsin walloped Northwestern for the first time in 17 years; Syracuse socked Colgate, first time since '24, and Carnegie hadn't knocked off Pitt since 1928. . . . While Sutherland's sons hadn't dropped a decision in 22 straight starts. . . . Sorto looks like Notre Dame, Texas Christian, Tennessee, Santa Clara and Dartmouth for the "Mr. Big" spot now, doesn't it? . . . But we'd still take Pitt, even if they played Carnegie again tomorrow. . . . And don't forget those Southern Californians, who may have saved Howie Jones' job by betting California.

Note to American association hockey: Don't let that bald head of Ching Johnson's fool you. . . . When he body checks, he plays for keeps. . . . Babe Ruth is positively daffy over jai alai. . . . He'll have to be if he lands that Browns' job. . . . Latest eastern pitching sensation is Nick Basca, Villanova soph, who only tossed nine out of 20 complete for 249 yards against Auburn, three of 'em for touchdowns and a fourth to set up another score. . . . And it was his first passing assignment, too!

western received, but was forced to punt. Wisconsin then started on its own 38. Tony Gradinski, a streamlined little article who did plenty of damage in this game, ripped off eight yards on the first play, and Beloit came back to pick up three and make it first down on Wisconsin's 49.

It was Beloit again, and this

Appleton Reds Mar Undeclared Record Of Two Rivers Team

Appleton Reds defeated the strong Two Rivers squad, 8 to 0, in a battle at Spencer street athletic field. Appleton scored when Mark Callin blocked a punt with Marvin Green scooping it up and scampering for a touchdown. Coopman tried to pass for the extra point but was smothered.

Two points were awarded Appleton when Oisewalski punted and a Two Rivers back was caught in the end zone. With two minutes remaining in the game, the Two Rivers coach ordered his squad off the field in protest of an umpire's decision. The Two Rivers squad tested an undeclared record until yesterday.

The Reds will tangle with West DePere next Sunday and are primed to repeat their 7 to 0 triumph of a week ago. The DePere eleven will be seeking revenge and a real battle is predicted.

Beloit moved from the Vike 48 to the 30 as the last stanza opened with Jones, Novakofski and Siebold of the Vikes resting on the sidelines. Beloit punted to the 15 and Everett returned 10 yards. After being held, Lawrence punted to the Beloit 35.

An exchange of punts followed with Beloit getting the ball on the Beloit 38. On the first play Andrews went through center to the Vike 40. A pass gained 5 yards and was followed by another pass, a rather long one from Virgil to Bill Day who was shoved out of bounds on the Lawrence 5-yard line. Lawrence stopped the first two plays but on the third Andrews carried the ball to the 1-foot line and then over. A forward pass for the point was good. There then was 14 minutes left to play.

Beloit kicked off to the 10 and Lawrence returned to the 30 and three plays later the ball game was all over, and the Vikes were Midwest champions.

Substitutes—Beloit: Coutte, Day, Fagan, Johnson, Monroe, Plinske, Luebke, Lawrence; Everett, Hatten, Weldman, Hastings; Officials—Referee, Morrow; Line judge, Midland (Madison); Head linesman, Johnson (Freeport, Ill.).

CHICAGO — (P) — Green Bay stopped a last minute Chicago Bears threat on its own seven yard line yesterday to win 24 to 17 and maintain its position atop the Western division of the National Professional Football league.

The Bears marched 73 yards in a desperate last minute effort to score and retain their slim title chance, but a fourth down pass slipped from the fingers of Les McDonald as he was hit at the goal line and championship hopes were blasted.

The Packers, outgained in first downs 16 to 7 and in total yardage 274 to 178, took advantage of three Bear fumbles and employed an effective passing attack to gain their seventh triumph in nine starts.

Monnett Passes
Twice in the first three minutes of play the Packers recovered fumbled kickoffs. After the first, Bobby Monnett passed 16 yards to Clarke Hinkle for a score and a minute later passed 19 yards to Don Hutson for another. A third period miscue led to a field goal booted from the 35-yard line by Hinkle and Eddie Jankowski plunged over for the other Packer touchdown.

Jack Manders scored 11 of the Bear points on one touchdown, two points after touchdowns and a field goal. Bill Karr made the other touchdown, taking a pass over the goal line.

He was not wearing a head gear.

ENTER FINAL MONTH
Chicago — (P) — Eastern and Western division championship drives in the National Professional Football league shaped up today as virtually two-team affairs—between Washington and New York in the east and Green Bay and Detroit in the west.

Only outside chances remained for Brooklyn and Chicago's Bears as the season entered its final month. Brooklyn was handicapped by two ties while the Bears were slapped down yesterday for the fourth time in their last five games.

Green Bay, which accounted for the Bears' setback in maintaining its western section lead, could clinch a first-place share by disposing of Detroit at the Motor City next Sunday. Undeclared since a month ago when Detroit turned the trick, 17 to 7, the Packers have won seven games in nine starts. After the Lion encounter they will end the western campaign in New York, where they also may have a part in deciding the eastern issue.

Redskins Face Bears
Washington's defending champions have three more games in the eastern race. Next Sunday they face the Bears, who despite the 24 to 17 title jolt handed them yesterday by Green Bay, might shake off their slump and spank the Redskins something they failed to do in the 1937 title playoff.

The Bears outgained the Packers, 16 to 7, in first downs and 274 to 178 in total yardage as a crowd of 40,206 looked on, but three fumbles paved the way to 17 Green Bay points and ultimate victory for the leaders.

New York, which has four more games to play, including a tie with Washington, takes on Cleveland next. The Giants came through in the last minute yesterday to defeat Chicago's Cardinals, 6 to 0.

"Two other games ended with single touchdowns, while Brooklyn defeated Philadelphia, 10 to 7. At Pittsburgh, Washington sailed until the final quarter to conquer the Pirates 7 to 0. Detroit marched 55 yards in several plays for the touchdown that defeated Cleveland 6 to 0.

5-yard loss on the next play. Buesing, Appleton end, recovered a Sheboygan fumble on the Sheboygan 30 and things looked bad for the invaders. Frasier rambled around end to the 26 and Swamp aerialized to Besch on the 5-yard marker. Koehnke failed to gain through the line but reached the 1-foot line on an end run. Wolf recovered Frasier's fumble within inches of the goal and another scoring chance was nipped. Loving stepped beyond his own end zone as he punted and Appleton was awarded two points.

Filz punted after Appleton failed to make headway at the opening of the second quarter and Loving sprinted from his 20 to the Sheboygan 43. Loving gained 8 yards around end and Ahl made it first down on the Appleton 43 as the Sheboygan team began to get into the game. Ahl smacked center to the 38 but the attack folded and Appleton took possession of the ball after two incomplete passes.

75-Yard Touchdown Run
Shaking up their bag of tricks Appleton gridgers started to go places when Koehnke gained five yards through the line and Frasier made a sensational catch of a pass from Swamp on the 50-yard stripe. Filz slashed through tackle for 10 yards but Appleton was penalized for backfield being in motion on the next play. Newerth blocked a punt which Appleton recovered and Filz kicked again with the ball going out of bounds on the Sheboygan 16.

Loving was set back five yards but hammered through for eight yards on the next play. Loving followed this up by cracking through the line and showing his heels to the Appleton squad for 75 yards. Hasenstein's attempted goal kick was wide.

Appleton received on its 32 and Filz quick kicked to the Sheboygan 26. Wolf fumbled on the first play and Kampus stocky Terror tried to recover as things again looked bad for the invaders. Frasier cut and ran for five yards and Filz picked up four more. Filz was smeared on an attempted pass and another aerial was grounded as Sheboygan gained possession of the ball. Ahl gained eight yards off tackle as the first half ended with Sheboygan on the long end of a 3 to 2 score.

Sample In Lineup
A rejuvenated Appleton team appeared on the field with Sample foreshadowing what was to come as he booted the kickoff to the 5-yard line and set Loving down hard on the 27. Ahl picked up five yards behind good blocking but Becker stopped Loving cold. Eesch broke through to block a punt and a bunch of Blue and Orange clad players swarmed on the ball on the 25-yard line. Filz netted two yards and a pass was incomplete. Filz skirted end to the Sheboygan 19 but an incomplete pass ended the threat.

Sample threw Loving for a 6-yard loss and Filz took a punt on his own 40 and snaked to the Sheboygan 20. Swamp tried the line and then threw incomplete passes with the last one going over the goal line.

Frasier intercepted Ahl's pass and returned to the Sheboygan 16. Filz smacked the line for five yards and Sample powerhoused to the 2-yard line but both sides were offside and the play was recalled. Sample smashed to the 1-yard stripe and things looked rosy for Appleton until the entire backfield started to run on the next play and one of the boys neglected to catch the ball from center. Frasier recovered on the 16-yard line and Sheboygan broke up a pass play to end the threat.

Freak Play
Loving steamed around end for nine yards and Ahl made it a first down on the Sheboygan 32. Ahl continued to shake off tacklers and reached the Sheboygan 45 on his next thrust. A break came on the next play when Loving reached the line scrimmage and was hit so hard that the ball popped out of his arms and into Sample's five yards away.

Sample looked down at the ball, suddenly realized he should do something about it and lit out through a maze of players for the goal line and six needed points. Sheboygan was offside as Swamp missed the conversion kick and Filz plunged for the ninth point on the next play.

Burrows received Sample's kick-off on his own 10 and returned to the Sheboygan 35. Sample intercepted a pass and was downed on the Sheboygan 40 yard stripe. Appleton proceeded down the field with Frasier collecting five yards. Filz chalking up a first down on the 29. Sample going around end for four yards and Filz picking up eight yards on two plays for another first down. Frasier fumbled on the next play and Sample recovered as the third quarter ended.

Sample Pounded Over
Passes failed to click and Swamp kicked over the goal line as the fourth quarter got underway. Sheboygan failed to gain via the air route and Reider threw Loving for a loss to the 9-yard line. Filz caught a punt on his own 45 and streaked to the Sheboygan 38.

Filz blasted his way to the 34 and Sample dynamited to the 29 and a first down. Filz carried the ball to the 17-yard line and a first down on two tries and Pegal added four more. Sample made it first down on the 8-yard line and Filz bounded around end to the 7. Filz plunged to the 1-yard line and Sample hit the line for a touchdown. Swamp's goal kick was perfect though he was rushed, as Sheboygan linemen jumped the gun. Loving returned the kickoff from his own 15 to the 33 and the Sheboygan eleven was held for downs as the game ended.

ST. LOUIS — (P) — The job of putting the gas back into the gas-house gang rested today on the shoulders of one of baseball's gamiest work horses—41-year-old Francis Raymond Blades, a fighting star in his prime, remarkable manager as playing days waned.

Appointment of the former outfielder as the 1939 pilot of the St. Louis Cardinals was announced yesterday by President Sam Breadon.

Blades succeeds Frankie Frisch, the Fordham flash, under whom the gas-house gang became famous and then sprung serious leaks before his five-year tenure came to a sudden end last September.

"I believe I have picked the most capable man I could find," Breadon declared in pointing to Ray Blades' long service as a player and his record as a manager in the Cardinal system.

First "Pure Product"
A member of the famous Cardinal teams of 1926, 1928, 1930 and 1931, Blades is the first "pure product" of the far-flung Redbird farm "chain" to take charge of the parent club.

For the last six years he has been one of the most successful pilots in the Class AA minor leagues. Twice he led Columbus of the American association to "Little World Series" championships, highest honor in minor league baseball.

After playing his final year with the Cardinals, 1932, Blades was named Columbus manager. The year his team won its first American association pennant in 26 years. His 1934 club finished second in the pennant race but won the playoff from Minneapolis and went on to repeat its predecessor's "Little World Series" triumph.

In 1936, Blades took over Rochester of the International league. His three teams there finished second, sixth and third respectively. This year he lost the playoff with Newark by dropping the last of a seven-game series.

Blades, a driving, courageous, devil-may-care chap on the diamond, came up with the Cardinals in 1922 from Houston of the Texas league. Three years later he was recognized as the hardest hitting lead-off man in baseball. He hit .342 in 122 games that season.

Ray reached his playing peak in the 1926 campaign. He suffered a serious knee injury late in the season and missed the World series which brought the Cardinals their first world championship. He never fully recovered from the torn ligaments.

Pittsburgh, at least for the time being, bowed out of the picture in losing to Carnegie Tech Saturday. The problem out here is simply that the season isn't over yet. Southern California is undefeated in conference play, but lost a non-conference opener to Alabama. California sits in the rumble seat, its sole loss to the Trojans.

County Deprived Of Chance to Bring Phillips to Trial

Delay in Signing Extradition Papers Loses Man Held in Ohio

Menasha—Delay in the signing of extradition papers needed to claim Edward Phillips deprived Winnebago county of the opportunity of obtaining custody of Phillips and prosecuting him on a charge of grand larceny, according to Sheriff Paul Neubauer. Phillips was being detained in Toledo, Ohio, after nearly two years of effort to locate him.

The necessary extradition papers were in Madison since Oct. 25 but were not signed by Governor Philip F. LaFollette until Friday. They had not been received by the sheriff Saturday.

Phillips was discharged on the fugitive warrant on which he was being held at Toledo on Friday for lack of prosecution, according to a telegram received by Sheriff Neubauer from Ray E. Allen, chief of police at Toledo. Phillips, who used the alias of Edwin Ray Wade at the time of his arrest in Ohio and who had been known as Burns in Winnebago county, was turned over to Jackson penitentiary where he is wanted for violation of parole, according to the Toledo chief.

Phillips was wanted on a charge of grand larceny which grew out of a hijacking case in Menasha nearly two years ago when a number of slot machines disappeared from a warehouse on Lush street where they were being stored. He was arrested by Police Chief Alex Slomski in Green Bay on Dec. 25, 1936. He furnished a $1,000 bond but forfeited the money and disappeared before the trial which was set for Jan. 5, 1937.

13 Scouts Spend Weekend at Camp

Four Troops are Represented on Informal Expedition

Menasha—Thirteen scouts from four troops spent an informal weekend at the valley council camp at Gardner farm, leaving for the camp Saturday afternoon and returning Sunday afternoon. Saturday afternoon was spent in a game of tag football and various trips through the camp.

Hugh Strange, Jr., president at the general session Saturday night and Don Quinn led the songs. Much rain over the weekend did not dampen the spirits and when the rain turned to snow the group had hopes of being snowed in.

Cars were driven on the trip by Hugh Strange, Jr., J. Wesley Olsen, James Flynn and Gerald Otto. Scouts who went on the trip included Don Quinn, Jack Draheim, Robert McMahon, Don Grode and Bill Thompson of Troop 3, sponsored by St. Thomas Episcopal church; Kenneth Dahms, Thomas Loesch, Robert Loehning, William Hofmeister and James Eckrich of Troop 9, sponsored by the Menasha Wooden Ware; Paul Friedland and Karl Loesch of Troop 14, sponsored by the First Congregational church, and Don Smith of Troop 13, Appleton.

Twin City Pin Teams Win Special Matches

Menasha—Calvert Specials in a match game Sunday at the Neenah alleys won three straight games from the Bing's Taverns, Berlin. The Neenah five rolled games of 947, 946 and 1,051 for a triple of 2,944, while the Berlin team drilled games of 914, 915 and 953 for a series of 2,782.

F. Wege and J. Muench paced the Neenah team to its victory, the former hitting the mark for a 632 triple on games of 206, 191 and 235, and the latter hitting a 622 total on counts of 202, 204 and 216.

Bert and Bens, Menasha, scored three straight wins over the Gilbert-Nash five, Neenah, in a match game Sunday at the Neenah alleys. The Menasha quintet rolled games of 886, 841 and 842 for a total of 2,569, and the Neenah team rolled games of 719, 759 and 812 for a total of 2,290.

J. Oberweiser paced the Menasha team with games of 192, 190 and 195 for a triple of 577.

Driver Fails to Heed Policeman: Pays Fine

Menasha—Jacob Schmidt, 46, route 1, Menasha, paid a fine of $1 and costs in justice court this morning when he pleaded guilty of disregarding a police officer's signal. The fine was imposed by Justice of the Peace Ray J. Fink. Schmidt was arrested by Menasha police Sunday afternoon after he failed to heed the signal of the police officer who was directing traffic at the Bon theater corner.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau Oshkosh—The following couples today applied for marriage licenses at the office of A. E. Hedke, Winnebago county clerk: Joseph Porto, 372 Pine street, Menasha, and Ada Schommer, 469 Lush street, Menasha; Harold Schwartz, route 1, Menasha, and Dorothy C. Emmett, 113 High street, Neenah.

The Twin Cities office of the Appleton Post-Crescent for its editorial, circulation and advertising departments is located at 510 N. Commercial street and the telephone number is 4100. News items, copy or orders for advertising and orders for subscriptions may be left at the office or may be telephoned. This number will be called before 7 o'clock in the evening.

Park Commission to Ask County Board to Buy Leslie Point Lot

Neenah—If the petition from the county park commission of which J. D. Young, Neenah, and Armin Webber, Menasha, are members, to the county board at its Nov. 15 session is accepted, the Leslie Point area, rich in Indian lore, will become a county park.

The Leslie Point area which includes the Adams farm is on Lake Winnebago. The land is desirable for a county park not only because of its abundance of Indian lore but because of its lake frontage. The area could be purchased for between $24,000 and $25,000. The 180-acre track is located on the east shore.

Polls at Menasha Will be Open for 12 Hours Tuesday

Citizens Will Vote on $125,000 Refinancing Bond Issue

Menasha—Menasha voters will go to polls Tuesday to register their choices for county, state and national officers. In addition, Menasha voters will vote on a special refunding bond issue of $125,000. The bond issue is not to float a new loan but is intended to refinance corporate purpose notes previously issued.

The polls will be open from 7:30 in the morning to 7:30 in the evening. First ward voters will vote at the city hall; voters in the Second ward will vote at Butte des Morts school; Third ward voters at the Nicolet school; Fourth ward voters at St. John school and in the Fifth ward voters will cast their ballots at the Jefferson school.

The Menasha Jaces have conducted a "Get-out-the-vote" drive for the election, urging people to vote as they please but at least to vote. Slides at the theater have reminded the citizens of the election and small printed reminders have been placed on door knobs through the cooperation of a group of boys scouts.

Vote By Affidavit

Persons who failed to register for the election still may vote by affidavit, according to City Clerk Walter J. Dougherty. The intended voter must be accompanied by two freeholders.

Ballot clerks and inspectors in the First ward will be Ray Keefe, Fred Peterson, Harry Kurovski and V. M. Landgraf. In the Second ward the officials will be Louis Bublitz, James Mackin, Joseph Muntner, Roman Tuchscherer and John Hoehsel.

Voting in the Third ward will be supervised by Theodore Rosnow, A. Schmalz, Richard Schlegel, Ed Jourdan and James Austin. In the Fourth ward the officials will be Stanley Gracyalny, R. Pakalski, Ed Jape, John Rommek and Alvin Danowski. The Fifth ward clerks and supervisors will be Ben Braun, Otto Klepfel, Joseph Ottman, Bert Finch and Gordon Corry.

Menasha Students Prepare for Pep Meeting, Bonfire

Frank Poplinsky, George Goesser Named Rally Committee Heads

Menasha—Enthusiasm for the annual Neenah-Menasha high school football game will be whipped up with a pep rally which will be held Thursday night. Following the parade on the main streets, a bonfire and a pep rally will be held at the old high school site.

Frank Poplinsky and George Goesser have been named co-chairmen of the pep rally night by the senior class. Five members have been named to the bonfire committee. They are Jack Crockett, Bruce Griffith, Pat Junea, Harold Olsor and Gerald Jensen. The bonfire committee members will name their own assistants.

Prizes will be offered for the best floats in the parade. Any Menasha high school organization such as the Printers' club, Nicolet, band or a home room may enter a float in the parade. In addition any group of students or individuals may enter as contestants. Plans for all floats must be outlined and submitted in writing to Principal A. J. Armstrong before Wednesday.

Name Float Judges

The judges for the best floats will be Miss Isabel Biddle, Miss Gladys Mahar, Miss Helen Corry, L. A. Wienbergen, Harold Roessler and M. J. Gegan. They will be stationed at various points along the route of march with score cards so they can rate the various floats. The awards will be $5 for first prize, $3 for second and $2 for third prize. Many groups already have started working on their floats.

The parade will start forming at 6 o'clock facing east on First street between Racine and Milwaukee street. The parade itself will start at 8 o'clock. The parade will go south on Racine street to Main street, south on Main street to the Brin theater corner after which it will turn and go back to the city triangle. From there it will march north on Milwaukee street as far as First street to the former high school site where the bonfire and rally will be held.

The Menasha high school band will lead the parade under the direction of L. E. Kraft. Franklyn LeFevre, vocal music supervisor, will lead the group singing at the rally. Cheers will be led by the four cheer leaders.

Council to Award Paving Contracts

Special Meeting Called at Neenah to Study Bids

Neenah—Contracts will be awarded for paving of E. Wisconsin avenue, E. Canal and Walnut streets at a special meeting of the city council at 7:30 Thursday evening at the city hall. The type of pavement will be selected for the three streets and assessments, benefits and damages will be determined.

Labor Board Economist Is Named as Author of Book Used in Communist School

"It is common knowledge that the Communists have taken strong exception to my interpretations and evaluations of their actions."

Chairman Dies (D-Texas) asked Matthews if he knew any Communists in the state department. The witness replied that a Noel Field, no longer connected with the department, had freely discussed his Communist party membership with him.

Earlier, Matthews told the committee that he and Heywood Brown, newspaper columnist and president of the American Newspaper Guild, formerly were "closely associated in at least five Communist united fronts."

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER Wild Mice and House Mice

Besides the common house mouse there are several kinds of "wild mice." Wild mice, of one kind or another, are found on every continent, almost in every section of every continent.

Field mice are noted for the nests they build. They are little nests made of woven grass and leaves, and sometimes are fastened to stems of growing wheat.

If they are present in large numbers, field mice do heavy damage to grain crops. Their number is kept down by snakes, owls and hawks.

Most kinds of mice have gray fur, but the jumping deer mouse is fawn-colored. This little animal is about four inches long, not counting the tail. It is noted for its long leaps, which often cover a distance of from eight to 12 feet.

Deer mice spend most of their time in woodlands. They rest during the day, and go about at night looking for berries and nuts. At the beginning of winter they go to their nests, which usually are under logs or in holes in the ground, and spend a few months there.

House mice seem to have had their first home in central Asia, but they have spread all over the earth. In a general way, we may say that these gnawing animals are to be found in every region where people live.

Although they may not be so dangerous as rats, mice play a part in spreading disease germs. They also destroy food. The best way to keep a house free of them is to take away their food supply. If all food is kept in the refrigerator under tight, strong metal or wooden covers, mice will look for another boarding house.

Some mice can "sing." It is not the common "squeaking," but music of a sort. With thin, high notes, they give a song fairly pleasing to the ears of a human being. Their singing has been compared to that of a "weak-voiced canary bird."

Japanese "waltzing mice" have won a bit of fame. They whirl around and around, and act as if they were chasing their tails. This is not due to training, but to something wrong with inside of the ears. Because of that trouble with the ears, the waltzing mouse does not have a good sense of balance, and this causes it to spin around.

Mice are pests, but they have done some good in the world. Scientists have raised mice for the special purpose of using them in tests. One kind of test has been to find what happens to them when they eat, or do not eat, certain foods. The facts gained have helped to add to our knowledge of vitamins. Since vitamins are important to the health of human beings, we may say mice have played a part in man's war against disease. The mouse around the house, however, is a danger, not a help.

County of Outagamie } SS

Office of County Clerk
October 20, 1938

To the Electors of Outagamie County:

Notice is hereby given that a General election is to be held in the several towns, wards, villages and election precincts of the county of Outagamie, on the 8th day of November, 1938, at which the officers named below are to be chosen. The names of the candidates for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to or filed in this office, are given under the title of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column.

INFORMATION TO VOTERS

6.22 (a) A voter upon entering the polling place and giving his name and residence, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk which must have indorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for.

(b) If a voter wishes to vote for all the candidates nominated by any party he shall make a cross or other mark under the party designation printed at the top of the ballot in the circle made for that purpose. A ballot so marked and having no other mark will be counted for all the candidates of that party in the column underneath, unless the names of some of the candidates of the party have been erased or a name shall be written in or a cross mark be placed in the square at the right of the name or names of candidates in another column. If the voter does not wish to vote for all the candidates nominated by one party, he shall mark his ballot by making a cross or mark in the square at the right of the name of the candidate for whom he intends to vote, or by inserting or writing in the name of the candidate.

(c) The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the ballot be spoiled, it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another in its stead, but not more than three in all shall be issued to any one voter. Five minutes time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memorandum to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter.

(d) After it is marked it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed indorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place.

(e) A voter, who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have the assistance of two election officers in marking same, to be chosen by the voter; and if he declares that he is totally blind, he may be assisted by any person chosen by him from among the legal voters of the county. The presiding officer may administer an oath in his discretion, as to such person's disability.

(f) The following is a facsimile of the official ballot:

JOHN E. HANTSCHER

SAMPLE OFFICIAL BALLOT

If you desire to vote for an entire party ticket for state, congressional, legislative and county offices, make a cross (X) or other mark in the circle (O) under the party designation at the head of the ballot. If you desire to vote for particular persons without regard to party, mark in the square at the right of the name of the candidate for whom you desire to vote, if it be there, or write any name that you wish to vote for in the proper place.

Sales Forces to Hear Brayton at Rally Wednesday

Sales Promotion Expert Will Talk at Morgan School

Salesmen and saleswomen of Appleton, the most important group of partisans in the "Sales Mean Jobs" campaign, will be both the guests of honor and the students at the second meeting of the drive Wednesday evening in the auditorium of Morgan school.

They'll be guests of honor, because the meeting is limited to people who work in the sales field and personal contact with the consumer and therefore, in the best position to boost sales, thus helping business and improving social economic conditions.

They will be students, too, because Arthur Brayton, at present convention secretary of the city of Des Moines, Ia., and an authority in the field of sales promotion, will lecture to them on ways, both psychological and practical, of increasing sales, of interesting the customer in more products.

Brayton is regarded as one of the most stimulating speakers on sales promotion in the United States. Experienced in the work, he was sales promotion manager for one of the largest retail houses in the midwest—and proficient at telling others "how it's done," he is expected to match De Loss Walker in the success of his reception here.

Walker, associate editor of Liberty magazine, editor of 5,000 people on the edge of their seats when he talked at Pierce park at the big public rally in September, the first of the "Sales Mean Jobs" meetings.

Alex O. Benz, general chairman for the campaign, has thrown the full strength of his committee's organization behind Wednesday night's meeting, which is being sponsored by the retail division of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce.

101 Youths Appear at Bicycle Safety School

Six bicyclists had their registrations suspended during October for failing to observe bicycle regulations according to Sergeant Carl Radtke, head of the police bicycle traffic school. A total of 101 bicyclists appeared at the school during the month. Offenses were: Riding more than one on a bicycle 15, clinging to moving vehicles 1, having trailer attached to bicycle 1, parking on sidewalk 16, failure to stop for traffic signals 28, riding without lights 22, riding on sidewalk 18, failure to have bicycle registered 6.

Boy Scout Training Session Is Scheduled

Shawano—The second in a series of district scout training courses will be held at the village hall in Bowler Thursday evening. Eloy Pinkowsky, scoutmaster of Troop 23, Clintonville, will speak on "The Scoutmaster as an Executive."

The Rev. Ralph W. Hawkins, scoutmaster of Troop 47, Wittenberg, is general chairman for the training course, with Jacob Klein, scoutmaster of Troop 33, Shawano.

Mixon Will Speak at Jaces Banquet Tonight

Major A. M. Mixon, district national guard instructor, will relate his experience in the United States army at the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce annual Bosses' banquet tonight at Hotel Appleton.

Employers of jace members will be guests at tonight's dinner and program. A motion picture will be shown.

8 Pedestrians Hurt in October Accidents

Six of the eight persons injured in traffic accidents in the city last month were pedestrians, according to a report of Sergeant Carl Radtke, head of the police traffic division. A total of 15 accidents, a decrease of 8 from October 1937, were reported. Seven accidents involved property damage. Police gave 46 persons driving tests during October.

Unseasonable Mild Weather Causing Freaks of Wildlife

BY CLARA HUSSONG

Nearly every day we hear or read of some unusual phenomenon caused by the unseasonably mild weather: apple trees in blossom, or the second flowering of spring or summer plants in a cultivated garden. The observant nature student can report just as many strange doings in the realm of wildlife, untimely blossoms in the field and wood, late flight of those birds who travel with the weather and uninterrupted activity of insect and animal life.

Violets in September are not uncommon. Many of us have found the Canada violet during that month but this year we can still see them in November. This species of violet is a tall, leafy variety having several stems arising from a common creeping rootstock. The petals are pale, almost white, striped with purple. The "eye" of each flower is bright yellow.

Find Wild Blossoms

In northern hardwoods, especially in rocky areas, the violet is common but in the rest of the state it is much rarer than the various dog violets and the marsh, woolly, and others of the long-stemmed varieties. The violet is our state flower, a good choice because of the more than 20 species recognized in the state at least one is found in every community. My own favorite is the dog violet, that common little pale blue one which you find in pastures and mossy knolls in open woods.

Recently a group of us made a list of wild flowers which we found still in blossom. Without any effort we had counted 35 species and almost as many more could be added if we had made a thorough search. This was in late October and all of the flowers will remain in bloom as long as the mild weather lasts. Many of them were weeds but some of the more conspicuous ones you can look for are chicory, goldenrod, at least three wild asters, the New England, purple-stemmed and showy varieties, buttercup, Queen Anne's lace, purple milkwort, bluebell, oxeye, daisy, black-eyed Susan and swamp thistle.

"Indian Tobacco"

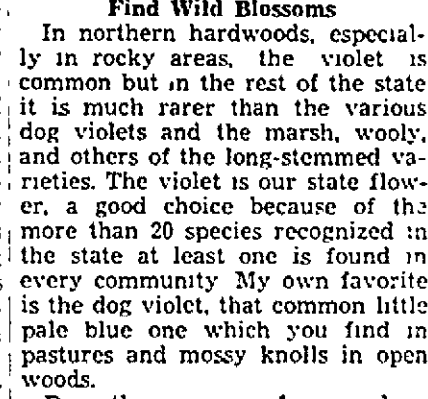

Because at least one of the thistles, the Canada, is listed as a noxious weed, some of us overlook the beauty of these plants. The swamp thistle is one of our showiest blossoms. Its smooth erect stem topped with purple flowers sometimes attains a height of eight feet. Its name suggests its habitat and it can be told from the equally large bull thistle by its spineless stem and the absence of prickles on the flower head. The enormous deep green leaves are beautiful to look at but are formidable to the touch because of the long spines tipping each lobe. In a wild flower garden the swamp thistle would be an imposing addition, desirable also because the plant has few of the weedy qualities which make the smaller Canada thistle so detested.

One of the flowers found in our late autumn survey was Indian tobacco. The name, "Indian tobacco," has been given to a number of native plants but it rightly belongs to a member of the lobelia family. If you know any of the lobelias, the bright red cardinal flower, the great blue, or the little brook lobelia, you will recognize the Indian tobacco as one of the tribe immediately. Its blue blossoms are parted in the familiar two-lipped above and three-lipped below arrangement.

The Latin name of the plant, "Lobelia inflata," refers to the inflated capsule or seed pod. The seeds, and to a degree the leaves also, are very poisonous, but it is reported that Indians smoked and chewed them. The effects were headache and dizziness, followed by nausea and vomiting. This typical August blossom has felt the spring-life effect of the mild weather and can be found in blossom now in pastures and along roadsides.

Insects Are Active

Insects which should long ago have been asleep for the winter or killed off by the frost are still chirping or flying about. If you are a butterfly student this is a good year to become acquainted with the tribe of anglewings, mourning cloaks, question marks and painted lady butterflies, a hardy group which hibernates through the winter. When cold weather comes they hide in a hollow tree, crevice of a stump or rock and remain dormant until spring. They are the last of the butterflies to be about in fall and the first to reappear in spring. Occasionally a mild spell in winter awakens them for a time and we see them at that unusual time.

Among the song birds those which can still be seen are robins, killdeer, cowbirds, blackbirds and some of the harder sparrows. Our winter residents are beginning to arrive. Weedy thickets are filled with juncos and the tree sparrows. Water fowl, who unlike song birds, travel with the weather instead of at a specified time, are slow in coming. Each cold spell brings down a few more and if the recurring spells of warm weather continue, the fall flight will be an unusually long-drawn-out affair.

Geese In Flight

The V-shaped formations of wild geese and swans in flight are among the sights most of us look forward to each fall. After a cold day or night keep your eyes open for dark wedges against the sky. According to reports I've had quite a number have passed over at night, their presence made known by the honking calls, but few are seen during the day. Cold weather will bring them in a hurry, however, and if the cold comes to stay they won't stop for a visit, but will fly right on.

UNDER-STUFFED STUFFING

Remember that stuffing needs room for expansion during cooking inside a fowl. So do not press it too much; it will become soggy. If a highly seasoned stuffing is desired use bacon or sausage fat or meat drippings for the fat called for. Butter gives a delicate flavor, preferred by many.

Men's Cooking Class Learning Lessons at Sessions in School

The men's cooking class at the Appleton Vocational school has reason to do its best during class sessions on Thursday nights, because the students sit down and eat the food after it is prepared.

Fan fried steaks and an appetizing stew with three vegetables have been features of the three class meetings held thus far this year under the direction of Mrs. J. M. Macauley.

Most of the men enrolled in the class are butchers and meat cutters, others are short order cooks, one a service station attendant. They're all proud of what they can do in the kitchen and are looking forward to even greater achievements.
